Final Drive for Liberty Loan to be Greatest

TO MAKE SATURDAY CLIMAX OF MIGHTY QUEST OF BILLIONS

Every Federal Reserve District Prepares to Close Campaign With Resounding Smash.

FIVE BILLIONS NOW SEEM A CERTAINTY

Washington, Oct. 26.—With the $3,000,000,000 minimum of the Liberty Loan exceeded by subscriptions treasury officials announced today that the tremendous drive would be continued throughout the country today and tomorrow in an effort to bring the total up to $5,000,000,000.

"From every federal reserve district," it was announced, "come reports showing that plans contemplate making Saturday the final day of the drive the biggest one of all."

"Its returns may even outstrip Liberty Day when all records for a single day's sales were smashed. Some of the largest subscribers have been holding off until the last day and they and an army of wage earners who will draw their pay tomorrow are expected to come forward and take bonds."

"Every possible agency for facilitating the taking of last minute subscriptions will be available. Banks in most cities will remain open not only during Saturday afternoon but also at night."

ITALIAN DEVICE FOR BAFFLING THE HILLS

Wire Cable Carriers Have Been Developed in a Marvelous Way.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Development of the telephone or wire cable system of transportation of heavy weights over otherwise impassable mountain chasms has been carried to an amazing degree of perfection by the Italian engineers under the pressure of the war and the demands of the army for quick transportation of munitions, supplies and even large pieces of artillery as an incident to the campaign in the Julian Alps.

Reports from the battlefields received here today describe one such system spanning a valley two-thirds of a mile deep, the cable swinging in one stretch from peak to peak, a length of four kilometers, or considerably over two miles, and capable of carrying twelve ton loads, while another cable, five kilometers long, or about two and two-thirds miles, and suspended over a gulf nine hundred yards deep, is able to transport loads as large as fourteen tons which would easily include heavy siege guns with the barrel separated from the carriage. The Italian engineers have become so expert that they constructed some of these aerial systems in twenty-four hours and they have already built more than two thousand kilometers of them.

VICTORY OF FRENCH VAST

Petain's Big Drive Pushes Crown Prince's Army Far Back.

FRENCH GUNS DO AWFUL EXECUTION

Evidences of the German Demoralization Found on Prisoners.

With French Armies, Thursday, Oct. 26.—(By The Associated Press.) The French have reached the Aisne canal and Laon, eight miles away, is in sight. Following up the victory of Tuesday, the French today took Montkey mountain, east of Vauxaillon, the village of Pinon and the forest of the same name as well as the village of Pargny-Filain.

Certain demoralization in the German command is shown by contradictory orders found on prisoners. The question is asked whether another retreat is intended. Crossing the battlefield in the vicinity of Vauxaillon and Saint Guillaime, the correspondent obtained ample evidence of the extent of the splendid French victory.

Hundreds of prisoners in large groups were making their way to the rear, marching without escort. Damaged machine guns lay everywhere, while scattered around were heaps of munition, cannons and immense quantities of military material.

French Fire Terrible. Many Germans were captured in the enormous cavern of Fruty. The approaches were battered severely and large holes had been torn in the roof, demonstrating the power and accuracy of the French artillery. Not an inch of ground hereabouts had been left unchanged. The caverns were about one kilometer in length with many exits, most of which had been damaged greatly by the French guns. When the French infantry dashed forward in the darkness they approached the entrances and found them full of Germans, waiting for the moment of attack. Hand grenades and smoke-bombs soon brought them out with their hands raised in token of surrender.

Tanks Do Great Work. Meanwhile the tanks advanced with the infantrymen until the second German position was reached, destroying on the way any nest of machine guns staying the progress of the French troops. The tanks advanced several kilometers during which they met and demolished many machine gun nests. One tank was opposed by a determined German officer with a large body of men, who poured bullets upon the armored sides of the machine without effect. Finally the French officer in command descended from the tank and with his revolver forced the whole group to surrender.

Another tank found a battery of field guns facing it. As soon as the tank opened fire half of the artillerymen threw up their hands, while the remainder bolted only to fall beneath a hail of machine gun bullets from the monster.

French Are Businesslike. Today the French advance proceeded rapidly and the units reached the various objects with regularity. After taking the village of Pignon the patrols went forward and entered the forest of the same name. They found many German cannon abandoned but with the breach blocks gone. Dead horses killed by the German guns lay beside the cannon.

The Germans had found it impossible to get the weapons over the marshes adjoining the Aisne canal, over which the bridges had been de-

BALDWIN WORKS BREAKS RECORD IN LOCOMOTIVES

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 26.—Under the pressure of government business in turning out locomotives for use in France, the Baldwin Locomotive works has established a record in output which far exceeds anything ever attempted in the history of the company. Last week the Baldwin works turned out seventy-two locomotives. This is the rate of more than 3,600 a year compared with 1,983 for last year and 2,666 in 1906, which was the previous record year. The company is employing an army of 20,000 men.

URGENT WOMEN TO DO PART

President of General Federation of Clubs in an Appeal.

SPEAKS IN BEHALF OF CAMP RECREATION

Mrs. Cowles Anxious That Clubs Do Not Default in This Duty.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Johia Evans Cowles, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, today made public a letter which she has sent to all federated women's clubs throughout the country, urging support for the war camp community recreation fund.

"I am particularly anxious," writes Mrs. Cowles, "that the federated clubs play an important and effective part in this important service."

Experience at camps already established has shown the necessity of wholesome environment. The novelty of camp life quickly wears off, the routine drill and instruction soon pall, if the nearby community does not afford adequate means of relaxation. The cities, big and little, near the camps will do their best to improve existing conditions in that respect, but without the aid of a national fund it will be impossible to supply the equipment and the trained personal service necessary to make a recreation system a success.

"The task with which I would charge you is that of urging prompt action upon and giving active aid to the national campaign for the fund which has been asked to assume responsibility for the quota of the national fund. If no public effort is inaugurated within the next few days to raise the quota for your city will you not, as a club, assume responsibility for the campaign?"

The campaign for funds for the war camp community recreation service will reach its height in the week of November 4 to 10.

GOVERNMENT OF ITALY LOSES ON THE TEST VOTE

Rome, Thursday, Oct. 25.—The government was defeated in the chamber of deputies today when a vote of confidence failed by 314 to 96.

The Italian parliament reopened its sessions less than two weeks ago. A dispatch from Turin on October 17, said that the position of the government was endangered because of the serious riots in Turin during the latter part of August and because of the general food crisis throughout Italy. The food controller, Giuseppe Carone, resigned, owing to the food situation. The dispatch said that the government would be called upon by parliament to justify its action.

The Rome correspondent of the Petit Parisien reported political circles in Italy were convinced that Minister of the Interior Orlando shortly would be called upon to form a national ministry.

When the Salandra ministry resigned in July, 1916, it was succeeded by the present Bozelli cabinet, which was reconstituted June 7, 1917.

AMERICANS ARE IN A GLOW OVER FRENCH SUCCESS

American Training Camp in France, Oct. 25.—(Thursday.)—(By The Associated Press.)—Major General Silbert, returning from around Soissons, where he witnessed the French offensive of the Aisne front, said that the French losses had been extremely small, because of the effectiveness of the artillery preparations. He and the other American officers were enthusiastic over the importance of the French victory, especially as to the amount of material and number of prisoners taken. The American officers were impressed greatly with the preponderance of the French artillery over the German.

CONVENTION COMES TO END

Mrs. John Edward Moore, of Kokomo, to Head State Federation.

PRAYERS URGED FOR SOLDIERS AT FRONT

Mrs. Fred McCulloch is Elected General Federation Secretary.

The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Indiana Federation of Clubs closed a three days' session at noon Friday. Mrs. E. C. Rumpel, of Indianapolis, first vice president and re-elected to the office again, presided over the final session. As soon as the report of the election board was made by the chairman, Mrs. C. S. Ridenour, of Fort Wayne, Mrs. Rumpel introduced the newly elected officers, who are:

President—Mrs. John Edward Moore, of Kokomo.

First Vice President—Mrs. E. C. Rumpel, of Indianapolis.

Second Vice President—Mrs. William W. Reed, of Warsaw.

Auditor—Mrs. A. W. Roach, of Richmond.

General Federation Secretary—Mrs. Frederick H. McCulloch, Fort Wayne. Trustee for Three Years' Term—Mrs. A. T. Cox, of East Chicago.

The morning was taken up in listening to reports from each of the thirteen districts of the state regarding work done by the clubs. These reports were limited to three minutes and were read by the chairman of their representatives. The South Bond Woman's club led in accomplishment for the short period of its organization, five months. Crown Point and the Tenth district received the gavel, a reward of merit for bringing in the most new clubs into the federation. An introduction in the program was allowed by the convention permitting a ten minutes' report from the Liberty bond movement among the clubs and was enthusiastically received. Mrs. McCulloch was one of the speakers.

Memorials were read for Mrs. Charles M. Walker, Mrs. Julia Fried Walker, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Hawley, of Huntington. When the newly elected officers were introduced they were warmly received individually and gave expression to brief thanks to their supporters and voiced their loyalty to the federation. Mrs. Moore received beautiful floral tributes from her district.

The Indiana slogan was sung and the federation adjourned with a general expression of having attended sessions of remarkable interest and entertainment.

Text of Resolutions. The text of the resolutions which were read to the convention by Mrs. Charles P. Drummond, of South Bend, chairman of the resolutions committee, on Thursday, were adopted Friday morning without discussion:

SINN FEINERS IN IRELAND TAKING NEW BOLD STEPS

Dublin, Oct. 26.—The Sinn Fein conference at its session last night decided that the members of the organization should be trained in the use of arms, although this will not be compulsory. The conference promised that the provisional government in Ireland should be established without delay. It adopted a provisional amendment aimed at securing the international recognition of Ireland as an independent republic, and providing for the convocation of a constitutional assembly.

The conference was orderly. The speeches were delivered partly in the Irish language.

SUPREME COURT OF STATE KILLS SUFFRAGE LAW

A PAINFUL BLOW TO WOMEN OF STATE

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 26.—The Indiana woman suffrage law was held to be unconstitutional by the Indiana supreme court today. As a result of this thousands of women who expected to vote at the municipal elections to be held next month will not be permitted to do so.

Justice Harvey dissented from the decision of the other three justices of the court. Justice Spencer wrote the decision, it being concurred in by Justices Meyers and Lairy.

The supreme court held that under the present Indiana constitution which defines voters as "male citizens," the legislature did not have the authority to confer the right of franchise on women as it attempted to do when in session in 1917. The court held the question before it to be constitutional only and did not take up the contentions of the interests attacking the law that to permit women to vote would cause great additional expense and much confusion.

Suffrage Not Inherent Right. In its decision the court said the right of suffrage was not a natural or inherent right but purely a political privilege and was a matter for the people to decide in their capacity as creators of the constitution or organic law. Discussing the argument of the lawyers for the women that the legislature could give women the privilege of voting regardless of the provision of the constitution that electors must be

HONORABLE OLD CUSTOM PASSES INTO DESUETUDE

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The time honored custom of giving free beer and whisky to policemen has been abandoned by breweries and saloons of Chicago, it was announced today by the liquor dealers' association.

Beginning Nov. 1, the policemen on the beat must pay for his drinks the same as other customers. The dealers say the high cost of beer and whisky and increased taxes have caused them to take the action.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

VETERAN ENGINEER
HOLDS WORLD'S RECORDJohn Francis Mitchell Has Traveled Total of $3,000,- 000 Miles.

JOHN FRANCIS MITCHELL.

Newark railroad, now the Lake Erie division of the B. & O. For six years he doubled this division every day except Sunday, giving him his first start of 300,000 miles on rail.

Becomes Fireman.
At the age of eighteen young Mitchell, owing to his sterling qualities and extreme modesty and politeness had become a great favorite with the trainmen, was given a position as fireman with the B. & O., which had acquired the old S. M. & N. railroad, calling it the Lake Erie division. Mitchell only fired a short time on freight until he was given a place as a passenger fireman. Soon after the B. & O. drove the line into Chicago, in 1873, Mr. Mitchell was promoted to engineer and transferred to the Chicago division, where he has remained ever since.

Forty Years on Passenger.
In 1877, the year of the first great railroad strike, Mitchell was given a passenger engine, which place he holds today, pulling fast express trains Nos. 13 and 14 between Garrett and Chicago Junction. Coupled with his long years of service at the throttle this veteran engineer has to his credit a long list of very exceptionally fast runs, and all the officers of the road, from the president down, are pleased when they are informed that Mitchell is to pull their special.

Accidents Also.
Mr. Mitchell has by no means been free from accidents (the accounts of which he is loath to speak of), having had three firemen killed while on duty with him. Mr. Mitchell told The Sentinel man that the strict accountability that is placed on flagmen both by the various states and railroad companies, and the excellent braking power now in use, has reduced accidents in a very large measure.

Free From Censure.
While he has a long list of accidents to his credit, he is justly proud of the fact that he has not been counted as the guilty party, but owing to his eagerness to bring his trains in on time and the lack of that protection which he should have had can be accounted for all, or nearly so, the accidents which he is compelled to suffer.

Right here let it be said that John Mitchell always made his fast runs and pulled off his wrecks out on the road, and not on the streets, cigar stores, boarding houses. In Garrett, his home town, he is seldom seen away from home except going out or coming in from his runs. He was among the first railroad men at Garrett to purchase an automobile, and takes great pleasure in running the same. His home was for years adjacent to the city where he owned a small farm, but the city has now surrounded him, and the rise in value of land has induced him to dispose of nearly all his land. Mr. Mitchell has always been very temperate in his habits and very rarely misses making his regular runs, and in years gone by made many extras which has helped to put him past the three million mark. During the world's fair held at Chicago in 1893 Mr. Mitchell doubled the division between Garrett and Chicago a great portion of the time on account of the heavy travel and a lack of engineers.

Has Five Years Ahead.
Owing to the rules of his road Mr. Mitchell has five years yet to serve, and if no accident befalls him in that time will be permitted to add about 300,000 to his credit. This sketch would not be complete were we to omit the fact that the man for whom he fired a long time on passenger and who helped to school him is still living at Garrett, Reuben Lautz, now past the seventy mark and on the retired list, but who looks on "Johnnie" as of his production of which he is justly proud.

HUNTERS GOING TO MAINE.

The exodus of Hoosier hunters on account of the opening of the hunting season in Maine has commenced and is going to be greater than ever. Agent W. N. Burger, of the Wabash, has just arranged for carrying twenty-five hunters from this territory to Greenville Junction, Me., leaving Fort Wayne tomorrow. The greater portion of the party will come from Portland, Decatur and Geneva, but there will be five or six from this city.

INJURES HIS FOOT.

E. J. Jackson, blacksmith at the Pennsylvania plant, injured his foot by dropping a heavy piece of iron on the member. Mr. Jackson's injuries will lay him up for some time.

HOW TO AVOID OVER
$2,000,000 LOSSPennsylvania Shows How Shippers Should Pack
Their Freight.

How shippers of the Pennsylvania railroad can aid in avoiding the waste and destruction of more than $2,000,000 worth of freight every year is shown in loss and damage bulletin No. 7 which has just been issued by the company. The purpose of the bulletin is to urge shippers to pack their goods properly and to use containers that are strong enough to stand transportation.

The value of freight injured in transit on the Pennsylvania railroad has doubled since the war. This is due, in a very considerable extent, to efforts on the part of shippers to economize in the use of packing materials, and to the use of weak or second hand containers.

The bulletin is illustrated with a series of photographs showing actual examples of improper packing and the collapse of weak containers. One picture shows a shipment of axes, which have broken through paper boxes never intended to carry such hardware. Another illustrates a damaged shipment of macaroni which had been packed in light paper boxes. Other pictures illustrate similar conditions encountered in shipment of denim, cotton yarn, cotton piece goods and sheeting.

The bulletin says in part: "You are not responsible for all of this. We do some of it. That is the reason we want to co-operate with you in stopping it. We are doing our best to handle your goods properly, but it is hard to do when containers are so light they won't hold together."

"You can help by using stronger containers. Boxes should be strong enough to carry the commodity safely. By packing your goods properly, by marking your goods plainly and removing all old marks. "We appreciate your desire for economy in packing your goods in these days of high prices for wood, nails, paper, etc., but we said before, we believe if packages are prepared better it will save money for both of us."

G. E. COMPANY MEN
LEAD IN SUBSCRIPTIONSAre Closely Followed by Pennsylvania Western Division in Contest.

Ever since the inauguration of the liberty bond campaign, there has been a friendly, but intense rivalry between the General Electric employees and the employees of the Pennsylvania Western division. In the effort to make the greatest showing in the way of amount of subscriptions. At noon today the General Electric was in the lead $6,000, but as the campaign is practically over at that big plant and still in progress on the railroad, the advantage may be turned before the end of the week. At noon today the subscriptions at the General Electric works had reached $192,000 and on the Western division of the Pennsylvania they had reached $186,100, there being 2,882 subscribers represented in the latter figures. Enough territory remains to be heard from to carry this total ahead several thousand dollars and strenuous efforts are being made to accomplish it, the committees assert. The Pennsylvania shops raised $38,100 of the $186,000 credited to the entire division, leaving $348,000 to the credit of the other divisions of the division. All of the other industries of the city made very creditable showings, but none came anywhere near the amount of the contributions of the G. E. and the Pennsylvania, though the percentage in proportion to the number of employees was equal in some cases to that of the two companies mentioned. Last June the General Electric employees subscribed $151,751 dollars for bonds, and with the sum just subscribed, the total sales among the employees of the company is $342,751. The exact amount of the subscriptions by the Pennsylvania employees last June was not available to the reporter this morning, but the proportion of the present and the past sales last June are about the same as the General Electric works.

G. R. & I. MEN DOING WELL.

Bond Sales to Date Exceed Those of Last June.

The sale of liberty bonds on the entire G. R. & I. system last June reached $85,000. This week the sales will pass the $100,000 mark. "We are proud of the reputation for patriotism the employees of the Southern division of the system are making," said one of the men engaged in canvassing work. "The work is not complete and we cannot give accurate figures concerning the result," he continued, "but we are assured that the amount will be much greater than was the sales last June. We have no shops or terminals on this division to help out, and must confine ourselves to the maintenance of way and transportation departments. These are doing nobly," he said. Engaged in the sale of bonds on the G. R. & I. are Division Engineer R. G. Jones, Trainmaster T. S. Fox, Division operator J. F. Betts, Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lophshire, Assistant Division Engineer W. S. Renz, Master Carpenter H. M. Lange and Chief Clerk C. H. Tonsing. There are in the neighborhood of 900 employees on the division, but a number are working in terminals and the greater portion of these get in the lists of bond subscribers of the lines which handle the terminal work of the G. R. & I.

RESIGNATIONS DECREASING.

Bad Weather Has a Salutory Effect
Upon Shopmen.

Employment Agent W. F. Melching, of the General Electric works, says that the bad weather of the past week is having its good effects on the pay rolls of that big factory. There are fewer resignations than there were some weeks ago, when the weather was warm and pleasant, and consequently not so many vacancies occur to be filled by new men and women. "We are still hiring men and women, however," Mr. Melching said, "but applicants are not as numerous as they were."

STORY WAS EXAGGERATED.

The story that a coal famine actually existed at the Wabash coal docks and shops which was so widely circulated this morning seems to have been exaggerated. "We have plenty of coal at the docks for locomotive purposes and the five car loads are in the tracks available for shop purposes whenever needed," said one of the local officials. "There have been times when the supply of fuel at the docks and the shops was exceedingly low, but the conditions have improved," he continued.

ONLY FOUR DAYS TO WORK.

Three of the employees of the Pennsylvania shops have only four more days to work for the company. They are seventy years old and must retire at the end of the month. P. J. Scheid, foreman of the car machine shop, began work in 1883; William Conrad, a passenger truck repairman, began work at the shops in 1889, and William Schoepka, a shop hand, began work in 1883.

EYES FILLED WITH DUST.

Yesterday, while at work in the Pennsylvania storehouse, A. Axien had the misfortune to get his eyes filled with dust. He washed the foreign substance from the optics as well as possible and continued at work. This morning, however, he had to knock off work and seek the aid of Dr. S. H. Havice, the company's oculist.

GO TO CAMP TAYLOR.

P. J. Plumanns, foreman of the Pennsylvania cabinet maker gang, and R. H. Lauman, of the same shop, have left for Camp Taylor. The former visits his brother-in-law and the latter his son.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

C. C. Hake, Pennsylvania machinist, was called home this morning. A. O. Black is a new laborer at the Pennsylvania machine shop. C. G. Basely is a new boilermaker helper in the Pennsylvania boiler shop. F. Lenz, tool dresser at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, failed to appear for work this morning. L. D. Haslup has been added to the Pennsylvania machine shop force as a machine operator.

The Dudlo and the Wayne Knitting Mills bowling teams will have a game at the Metropolitan alleys next Monday night.

Chief Material Inspector C. P. Cherry, of the Pennsylvania northwest system, is out on the line on business for the department.

J. H. Swinehart, stock clerk in the induction motor department of the General Electric works, has resigned to take employment elsewhere.

Harry Cashdollar, timekeeper in the dynamo assembling department of the General Electric works, is sick and failed to show up for work this morning.

Leo Glenden Hines has resumed his duties in the small motor department of the General Electric works, after a week's absence. He had been in Chicago and points west of that city.

D. E. Guy, division storekeeper of the Wabash, is in his office again after being out on the road several days looking after the affairs of the department.

A. R. Phillips, traveling passenger agent for the New York Central, was a business caller in the city yesterday. Mr. Phillips was formerly ticket agent in Fort Wayne of the company.

D. J. Trail, of the Union Pacific; A. W. Bower, of the Northwestern; J. C. Peck, of the Seaboard; and J. H. Montgomery, of the Interstate Dispatch, traveling agents, were in the city yesterday.

W. H. Kinney has moved from Ligonier and has taken employment in the transformer department of the General Electric works. Vern Johnson is also a new employee in that department.

Walter Fulton has been transferred from the maintenance department of the General Electric works, Foreman Henry Stahlhut at the assembling department of the induction motor room, to act as a crane operator.

A steam derrick from Elkhart was here yesterday unloading structural steel for the Osage street subway under the N. Y. C. lines. The installation of the bridge will be made at once.

Albert Blume, of the transportation department of the General Electric works, had a finger crushed Wednesday when a heavy casting he was handling, fell upon the digit. He will be off duty several days as a result of the accident.

WEATHER PROVES A FACTOR IN CORN

Moisture and High Temperature Sends Price to Higher Level.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 26.—Sharp new advances in the value of corn resulted today from widespread moisture and warmth which if continued might result in serious damage to millions of bushels. Opening quotations which ranged from the south to the north, with a high of 1 1/2c higher with December $1.20 to $1.20 1/2 and May $1.14 to $1.14 1/2, were followed by slight setbacks and then a material upturn all around. The close was heavy 3/4c to 1 1/4c net lower with December $1.19 and May $1.13 1/2 to $1.13 3/4.

Liberal selling in which one of the largest elevator concerns was conspicuous virtually offset in the oats market the influence of the corn bulge.

HARMAR SCHOOL HOLDS IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Impressive memorial services were held at the Harmar school Friday morning in honor of Justin N. Friday, late superintendent. The session was opened by a prayer by Rev. Arthur J. Folson. The memorial address was made by E. W. Cook, for many years Mr. Friday's closest friend and fellow school official. The school children gave several musical selections, which were followed by the hanging of a beautiful photograph of Mr. Friday. The ceremony was closed by a duet by Principal Leverton and Miss Dochterman.

The goal has been fixed at $100,000 by some of the most optimistic workers in the movement.

CHALMER KLEINKNIGHT

NOW AT FT. THOMAS

Bluffton Boy, Who Enlisted Here, Writes Interesting Letter.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kleinknight, of Bluffton, in receipt of the following letter from their son, Chalmer, who enlisted last week at the Fort Wayne recruiting station, and is now at Fort Thomas, Ky.:

"Dear Mother and all: "As I finally reached my destination I will write you a few lines. I got in Indianapolis about 7:30 Saturday evening. There was a man at the station to meet us. He took us down to the office and examined us and all passed. There were four of us. Then he took us down to the restaurant and not our supper. We had bread and butter, coffee, fried potatoes, fish baked beans and I could have had more if I wanted it. We had to report again at the office at ten the evening. He then took us down to the depot and got us tickets to Cincinnati. The train was due at 10:30 but it was several hours late so they sent us to Richmond. We got there at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. We had to stay there until about four and then we got on a train and got at Cincinnati at seven this morning. We then took a street car across the Ohio river, over into Kentucky and got here about eight o'clock. They took our measure for our uniforms and this is as far as we have gotten. They have not examined us yet. This is a fine place but it is so hilly everywhere and the sun seems to come in the south to me. This morning I am sitting in the Y. M. C. A. building. There is a preacher talking and they are playing the piano and singing. "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," just like they sang at the church at Ossian. They are now singing "The Church in the Wildwood." They have good singing. It makes me think of Emmaus. I couldn't eat all of my lunch so I gave it to my fellow men. Am feeling fine and am anxious to go to work and do what I can. I have seen some fine sights but I did not see the traveling after night. Well I must close. Love to all, from your son Chalmer."

GOOD OPENINGS FOR YOUNG MEN IN ARMY

Officers Training in Balloon Observation Corps Offers Opportunities.

The government has prepared to train a certain number of young men between the ages of 19 and 35 as officers in the balloon observation corps. The training camp will be at the University of Texas and the course will be six weeks in length. After the six weeks' training here the applicant will be sent to Fort Sill for practice training in the signal corps of the United States army as balloon observation officers, aerial observers or balloon pilots.

This is a splendid opportunity for the young man who wants to take part in the present world war and they may get further information from the examining board, M. T. C. A., Fort Wayne, Ind. This branch of service pays $100 while in training and if the candidate is successful he will receive a commission as first lieutenant with a salary of not less than $2,000 a year.

Buy Sherman's Clothes And Make Your Dollars Ring

Over The 100% Mark In Value

IN real clothes value—buying your clothes at Sherman's is no speculation, is not taking a chance, for every garment in the store must measure up to our one set standard of quality—a value that goes far above the 100 per cent mark, a more than dollar-for-dollar clothes proposition for you to consider before you do your buying.

Our Quality is Your Protection

We are not dreamers, if it was possible to retain price and give our same quality as always, we certainly, as operators of a large chain of stores throughout the country, would be more in a better position than the one-man merchant.

We know the buying public are not having nightmares as to the conditions of the country today. You read in the magazines and newspapers every day about every article that enters into the making of clothes has advanced from 50% to 100%, making it impossible for any merchant to sell today the same quality at the same price, as a year ago, and we want to assure you this, that if you buy at old prices you buy a cheapened quality.

Here Are Facts

Take for instance your white collars, they have raised in price twice in the last year—why—to maintain quality, because like Sherman's Clothes they are sold the nation over, and alike would not consider jeopardizing reputation by lowering quality—no clothing merchant, if he wants to tell the truth, and be honest with the public about the clothes he is selling, he cannot make any other statement than we have made.

Our patrons we consider our greatest assets—we want to feel that the men that buy Sherman's Clothes are receiving the greatest value there is in the world for their money.

JUST ONE PRICE

NOMORE NO LESS

We Guarantee You a Saving of $5 to $8

There is not a garment in our store that is not a real $18 to $20 suit or overcoat—our factory direct to you plan eliminates for you the ordinary retailer's profit of $5 to $8. Clothes even selling for $25 and $30 are not superior in style or appearance.

EVERY KNOWN PATTERN AND STYLE—you will find in this great assortment of the newest, most up-to-date suits—topcoats and overcoats at our factory price $12.50. Much larger assortment than the regular clothing stores have with their entire various prices and you won't be asked "to pay just a little more" at Sherman's to find the kind of garment you want.

For you have your unrestricted choice of any suit, topcoat or overcoat in the store at our one and only factory price $12.50, guaranteed to give you absolute satisfaction in every detail or your money back.

PRESIDENT EXEMPTS SOUTH WHITLEY MAN

First Case in Which the District Board Has Been Reversed.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 24.—Ellis Miller, son of Mrs. Mary Miller, residing south of South Whitley, whose claim for exemption on agricultural grounds was denied by the district board at Fort Wayne recently, was exempted on appeal to the president.

who reversed the decision of the district board. Miller is the first man to have applied to the president receiving exemption. Other cases have been brought up from Whitley county, but have either been turned down or not yet heard from.

Columbia City Brief Items.
Floyd Estlick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Estlick, of Troy township, and Miss Alice Adair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Adair, of Noble county, were motored to Centerville, Mich., Tuesday and married there. They will reside at the home of the groom's parents.

The Boy Scouts continued to hustle with the sale of Liberty bonds Thursday, their last day of the campaign. Up to Thursday evening they had sold $55.30 worth, including a $1,000 subscription by the Eagles order and $150 by the Marquette club, of this city. The Boy Scouts in Columbia City have proven very effective in their work, and the fact that they have raised over one-eighth of the county's quota of $427,000, attests to their activities. They were directed in their work by Scoutmaster John T. Clapham.

Mrs. Arthur Stouff and babe, of Mt. Kisco, N. Y., arrived here Friday to visit the former's mother, Mrs. Edward Sell. Mrs. Stouff is making her first visit here since she was married four years ago, her husband now being engaged in the auto business at Mt. Kisco.

The sale of Big Type Poland hogs Wednesday afternoon on the George Klester farm, northwest of Etna, was one of the biggest and most successfully conducted this year. The total amount was $2,420. A male hog, Buster Prince, sold for $170; a brood sow, with six pigs, brought $140; and another with seven pigs, $127. The Glits and bear pigs brought from $25 to $75.

Leo Guy, a relative of Jacob Pletcher, deputy postmaster of this city, who was terribly mangled in the gears of machinery in the Cincinnati and Northern coal docks, at Hudson, Mich., several months ago, and who obtained a $35,000 verdict against the railroad company, which appealed to the supreme court, has again won out, the higher court sustaining the decision of the lower court. As a result of his injuries Guy had to have amputated his left arm and right arm at the wrist. His face was badly mutilated and part of the jaw-bone was removed. Despite his almost helpless condition, Guy is able to feed himself and gets about quite actively.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carter left Wednesday for Springfield, Ill., to attend the wedding of their son, Arthur B. Carter, of Chicago, to Miss Ruth Wright, the ceremony occurring Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents in Springfield. Following their marriage the young couple will reside in Chicago.

Pennies are becoming scarce in Columbia City and it is hard to obtain them from clearing houses in Chicago. The new war taxes have created a sudden demand for the coppers and pennies now figure in almost every cash transaction.

Walter, four year old son of Charles Pontzius, northwest of the city, fell from a carpenter's trestle Thursday and broke both bones of the left forearm. Dr. D. S. Linyill was called to set the injury.

Mrs. Will Oberkiser, accompanied by her father, Samuel Raber, left Thursday for Louisville, Ky., to remain until Friday with her husband, who was transferred Friday from Camp Taylor to Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss.

which Mrs. Hugo Logan, of this city, is local representative, will put on a movie play, "The Man Without a Country," next Tuesday evening at the Yceum theater.

Undertaker Joseph F. Huff, formerly of this city, is spending a few days here and next Wednesday moves his family from here to Logansport, where he is now engaged in business.

Mrs. Fred Yontz went to Warsaw Friday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Weick.
W. F. Rossman, well known hardware dealer of this city, has been recommended as county coal administrator to State Coal Dictator Evans Woolen, at Indianapolis. Mr. Rossman will name several assistants on a committee and Mr. Rossman will gladly give him time to the arduous task before him. The situation as regards coal in Columbia City has been looked after as a result of the coal famine was nesday and subsequent report to the state coal dictator. There is also a shortage of coal in the rural districts and rural customers are being treated the same as city customers. No hoarding is being permitted and all are being curtailed in amount received.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1917.

GIVING ITS MAN REVERSE BOOST.

If the wanton and reckless mendacity of his organ afford any true criterion of the status of Mr. Cutshall's mayoralty campaign his candidacy has proceeded into rather desperate straits.

Last evening's contribution to the general mass of falsehood has among other details this:

We note in the Niezer organs a decided tendency to back water. It is now stated that Fort Wayne's district element is "small." Yet only two days ago and Fort Wayne was a hot-bed of treason simply overrun with disloyalists. Apparently Cousin Niezer has begun to hear things that are not pleasant.

No line or word, no expression whatsoever, that has appeared in this newspaper has either stated or implied what is charged in that brief paragraph. Persistently this newspaper has said that Mr. Cutshall and his managers have been playing to catch the "handful" of disloyalists in Fort Wayne. That much we repeat, taking occasion now to add to what long has been patent in the design and effort of Mr. Cutshall, his steering committee and his newspaper to secure his election by an insidious appeal to the German-American element in this city upon a suppositious likelihood that its sentiments could be incited against the democratic party and candidates upon the ground of the war. That has been the steadfast and palpable course of Mr. Cutshall's organ since last April.

There is neither great merit nor essential profit in proving that a liar does lie, but it may interest some to have a singular exhibition of it. On Thursday, the 18th inst., The Sentinel printed an editorial of which this is the opening paragraph:

In an affidavit Anselm Fuebler denies that at the Harnar school Cutshall meeting Monday night he used the language imputed to him in respect of the war. IN AFFIDAVITS FOUR OF THE MEN PRESENT ON THAT OCCASION—TWO OF THEM CANDIDATES ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET AND ANOTHER A REPUBLICAN OFFICEHOLDER—AFFIRM THAT MR. FUEBLER DID NOT EMPLOY THE WORDS ASCRIBED TO HIM. Last Saturday's issue of the Cutshall organ addressed itself to this newspaper after this manner:

"The paper with a conscience" displays the quality of this conscience when it states that "Anselm Fuebler" denies the statement accredited to him by Gert Shober, of the Niezer campaign coterie. Instead of there being the single affidavit of Mr. Fuebler, there were several more by citizens of unimpeachable integrity. Yet the "paper with a conscience" makes no reference to this fact. It merely states that Mr. Fuebler's and then proceeds to cast all the odium of suspicion upon this that it is able to do. It knows, of course, that the malodorous Shober lied, and it knows it not only by Shober's bad character but by the affidavits of the respectable citizens who refute him. Yet it accepts the Shober declaration and proceeds to argue from this vicious premise that it is plastered with "conscience" of this kind.

Now that isn't merely untruth. It is senility—palpable, hoar, pernicious and, unhappily in this instance, premature. The thing we are abused as having omitted is there plain, unmistakable and inescapable. What the Cutshall organ says transcends conscious falsehood. It betrays infirmity—a diseased and perhaps no longer controllable mind responding to the reflexes of that impulse which was its normal dominant.

We began with a purpose to pillory a liar and are brought up at the end pitying a fool. And so, brethren, dismiss all that hereto precedes and bear in mind and cherish tenderly that—

"The greatest of these is Charity."

CANNOT BE TOO MUCH.

There still is danger that the subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan may not be enough. There is no possibility that the subscriptions can be too much. The heavier the total the better it will be with all of us. Don't halt, don't slacken, don't abate an effort so long as the subscriptions are open. Make the aggregate enough and more than enough to realize the highest hopes of the government and the strongest expectations of all militant patriots.

The great smash of the last two or three days has carried the total of subscriptions substantially beyond the minimum figures fixed, but the farther and greater goal is still a good way off. Confidence is expressed in the final attainment of the five billion-dollar subscription, but this confidence will turn out to have been misplaced unless the people throughout the country who are able to subscribe and ought to subscribe shall do so before tomorrow night. Those who have not made application for bonds should lose no more time. Those who have subscribed and are able to make additional subscription ought to do so. It is not unreasonable to ask well-to-do subscribers to subscribe again. They sacrifice nothing. They add to a gilt-edge investment. They put their money where it will work steadily and where it is perfectly safe.

We now are at a stage of the war where the tremendous success of this second Liberty Loan will count for a good deal more than the mere potentialities of money. The psychological and moral effects of a vast oversubscription are inestimable. Germany is in the throes of another political crisis. Her armies are being steadily hammered, beaten and driven back on the west front. The German demonstration in the Gulf of Riga appears to have been checked by the strength of the Russian resistance. General Cadorna is fairly holding his own against the mighty smash of the Austro-German combined attack on the Isonzo front, where the Teutons had made prodigious preparation for hurling back the Italians and inflicting a crushing defeat that would blast the way for putting Italy out of the war. Austria's spirit for the war is at a low ebb and she is ready to make any sort of a peace that Germany will permit. America can emphasize the value of the whole situation of the war by coming to the front right now with an overwhelming pledge of her purpose to continue on in the righteous course she has chosen without setting limits to the use of her illimitable resources. No one thing that the country is able at this time to do can so thoroughly demoralize the German spirit for strife as making this second Liberty Loan a five billion dollar tender from the people to the government. The German morale at the front no less than in the mass of the people is far down and still diminishing. Let us keep it going down.

And all we are asked to do is to lend the government our money—not to surrender our bodies as the heroic young men have done and are doing; not to endure hardship or face death, as they must do; not to sacrifice our money or other substance, but merely to let the government have our cash in exchange for perfect security and at good interest. That is not difficult. It is not even unpleasant. It should be the pleasure and solace of every patriotic American to let go of the last dollar he can for a time do without in order that his government may make its strongest fight that his country may be safe, and that its dignity may be upheld, that its rights may be respected, that its flag may be kept steadfast.

We shall be defaulters to our most sacred trust if we permit the second Liberty Loan to halt a dollar short of the goal set.

TAKE CARE OF IT.

The people of Fort Wayne, who are the owners as well as the beneficiaries of the million-dollar city lighting plant should be admonished that their property is always in danger.

The enemies and the enemy agents that from the beginning have sought its harm are no less determined, persistent and malignant in their designs against that great public utility than they were in the beginning. They are sustained by the hope that some day in an unguarded moment the city will place this splendid institution under the care and guardianship of the faithless and that then the long-awaited hour will be struck to start it to the scrap-heap.

The men and the interests that harbor hostile designs against the city lighting plant are the foes of Maurice C. Niezer. They are supporting W. S. Cutshall.

There is no need to ask why this is. The reasons are clear enough and they ought to be impressive enough. The people of Fort Wayne, who want their great lighting enterprise to continue, to expand, to render better service and to grant lower rates will not be wanting in the common sense to understand on which side their interest lies in this campaign. Nor will they be wanting in vigilance to look out for their own.

The lighting plant is always menaced by its enemies. It never has immunity from danger. Make sure of its safety.

The election of Maurice C. Niezer means an honest fight and a persistent fight for 6-cent electricity. The city can grant this rate the moment the state utilities board will sanction the reduction. Do you want it? We thought so. Vote for it.

The Liberty Loan is coming right at the precise and perfect moment singled out of time to impress the enemy that he is up against it—good and strong and good and plenty. Make for five billions or more.

Little Willie lives in that section of Fort Wayne that still requires the soothing juice of hops to help it through the evening meal.

Being an observing child Willie noticed how red papa's nose was becoming, and ventured an inquiry.

"What makes your nose so red, daddy?" asked the youth.

"The wind, son, the wind," replied papa. "Don't ask such foolish questions. And pass me the beer." It was then that mamma spoke up gently.

DeQuincey is reported to have said: "None but a man of extraordinary talent can write first-rate nonsense," and he might have added, "none but a man of extraordinary taste can appreciate first-rate nonsense." Edward Lear, who has been styled the parent of modern nonsense writers, was a talented author and artist. Tennyson was his warm friend and admirer; and John Ruskin placed his name at the head of his list of the hundred best authors. William Pitt once remarked: "Don't tell me of a man's being able to talk sense; every one can talk sense. Can he talk nonsense?" Lewis Carroll's "Jabberwocky" appeals to the nonsense lover as a work of pure genius. The coined words are absolutely without meaning, but the rhythm is perfect, and the poetic quality decidedly rare. Bayard Taylor was charmed with the poem. "Shakespeare's 'With a hie and a ho, and a hey nonino,' is a favorite diversion of many otherwise serious poets. W. S. Gilbert's 'Bab Ballads' have given him undying fame. Even still old Dr. Johnson had a propensity for writing nonsense verses. Kipling, with one or two exceptions, is innocent of perpetrating nonsense stories in rhyme—but his humor is spontaneous and everywhere apparent. I believe it to be true that we take ourselves too seriously much of the time. We need to cultivate the lighter vein in our reading, writing, and conversation. I am reading 'The Transfer Corner' in the Fort Wayne Sentinel regularly every day. It is a stimulant for the intellect, and a tonic for the entire system."—V. M. H.

Sketches from Life :::: By Temple

"Right Up t' Town, Boy"

BY NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS, D. D.

This war began in 1892, in a meeting in the palace at Potsdam. The Kaiser at that time placed in the hands of his advisers a document marked, "secret and confidential." The first line held these words: "The Pan-German empire." The second line read: "From Hamburg and the North sea to the Persian gulf." The third line was: "Our immediate goal by 1915 is the conquest of 250,000,000 of people." The fourth line read: "Our ultimate goal is the Germanization of all the nations."

On the second page there was an extract from the Kaiser's speech: "From my childhood I have been under the influence of five men—Alexander, Julius Caesar, Theodor the Second, Frederick the Great, and Napoleon. These five men dreamed their dreams of a world empire—they failed. I, too, have a dream of a world empire—I shall succeed."

Two maps prepared by the Kaiser for his associates, set forth clearly the ultimate goal to be won by his military machine. The first map was called "The Roman Empire—Caesar Augustus, emperor." Then are spread out the countries conquered: Carthage, subdued and her capital a county-seat town reporting to Rome; Egypt and Palestine conquered, while Alexandria and Jerusalem report to the emperor. Ephesus and Athens are conquered and the county-seat towns under the emperor's heel.

Having used the Roman empire as his standard, the Kaiser publishes the world map for 1920. At the top of the map were these words: "The Pan-German empire." Beneath you read: "Kaiser Wilhelm II, Emperor." Across the state of France are the words, "Germania," for Paris is a county-seat town. Upon Great Britain is written, "Germania" for London is a county-seat town.

Seven years after this was published, the German admiral told the hero of Manila Bay just what was to happen concerning the world map. He said: "I remember the Kaiser was preparing to conquer France, with the real purpose of destroying England, and then proposed to seize Canada and the United States. 'Germany will after that dispose of South America and the Monroe doctrine as she thinks best.' These facts throw a flood of light upon the Kaiser's statement to Ambassador Gerard, 'When this war is finished I will not stand any nonsense from the United States.'"

Now that three years of war have been completed, we see the Kaiser missed his goal by only a hair's breadth. 1917 is here and lo, the Kaiser controls 200,000,000 instead of 250,000,000 he hoped to have conquered. By three years' war he has increased the German population from 70,000,000 to 220,000,000. He controls directly or indirectly, Belgium, North France, Poland, Roumania, Hungary, Austria, Bulgaria, Serbia, Turkey and a part of Armenia. Having prepared for the war by a vast web of cunning, intrigue and treachery, through hired agents distributing bribes in every capital of the globe, he is now preparing for peace and proposes a trade and compromise, that will give up Belgium and North France and count the incident closed. This means—he will give back about one-fifth of the conquered territory and people, thus retaining 140,000,000 which, with his 70,000,000 Germans leaves the Pan-German empire with over 200,000,000 of people and extending from the North Sea to within four hundred miles of the Persian Gulf. Today, the Kaiser is spending millions through his agents, influencing and bribing members of the press, of the judiciary, of legislatures, and Germany has been invaded.

peace without victory means that while the rest of the world recovers from its billions of losses, Germany will strengthen her military machine and then complete the Germanization of the whole world.

The roots of this war go back to 1860. At that time, Bismarck was the outstanding figure in Berlin. Germany was then an agricultural nation, having little manufacturing life. She had 40,000,000 of people, $30,000,000 of property, and a second-rate position in Europe. In 1860 England led Germany in the production of pig-iron, steel, cotton goods, woolen goods, the building of ships. Germany lacked good cooking coal and hematite iron ore that are necessary to good steel, and without steel there was no industrial future for Germany.

Two courses were open to Bismarck, one was to accept an inferior sphere of influence for the little German States, and the other was to foment two wars and wrest away, by military force, coal treasures from Austria and later the iron mines of France found in Alsace and Lorraine. Spreading out his plan before the Prussian king, Bismarck organized Germany into a standing army, told the officers that for the time being "Germany's chief national industry must be war."

No one ever accused Bismarck, the statesman and diplomat, of having a muddy mind. He made the advantage of war to be seen, lying out in the sunshine. His argument ran thus: Farming pays six per cent, manufacturing eight per cent, banking ten per cent, but, viewed as an investment, war should pay a thousand per cent! The war with Bismarck made possible the Kiel canal and access to the North sea, and it paid far more than Bismarck's thousand per cent. The war in 1866 with Austria paid five thousand per cent, through conquered coal resources.

Then Bismarck planned his great move—to steal the iron mines of France. He tells us in his memoirs that he forged one sentence in the French emperor's telegram, and thus threw the burden of the declaration of war upon France; and, returning from his victorious campaign, he brought back to Berlin a billion dollars in gold, and also, what was far richer, the title-deeds to Alsace and Lorraine. In that hour, it became possible for Germany to produce the high-grade steel out of the newly-conquered coal and iron. Great steel plants were established, plates were rolled for the North German Lloyd and Hamburg American lines and for the 42-centimeter guns. Within 30 years, Germany passed England, first in the production of pig-iron, second, in steel, third, in chemical industries, fourth, in toys and fifth, in industrial efficiency. Plainly, the Franco-Prussian war paid Germany ten thousand per cent, on her investment!

Germany's military success went, like wood alcohol, to the head of her people. The German officer became the hero of men and women. In the social world, the officer was the leader. At a banquet, who took precedence? Not the banker, but the officer, the university professor, not the artist or author, not the banker or manufacturer, but the soldier. I have, myself, in Cologne, seen a banquet held up for an hour because the colonel had not arrived. Finally a private was found to represent the army and walk in with the chairman, to the guests' table.

Obsessed with the notion of military superiority, Germany became one vast military camp. The motto became: "Let Belgium produce wealth."

we will grab it." "Let France paint pictures, carve marbles, weave silks, and produce jewels, Germany can steal them." "Let England pile up treasures, we will hoist a black flag on the submarine and spoil her of her goods." "Anything that Germany does is right." At last, all the weapons were ready and Germany's soldiers stood like a burglar, with his pistol, his bomb-shell and his fire-brand, before the treasure-house of Europe, ready to prove the war is Germany's chief national industry."

NEW FRENCH BALLOON.

(Tid-Bits.)

Among the latest triumphs of the French aerial service is a new observation balloon, known as Le Caquet. In shape it resembles a great tadpole. Whereas other types are inconvenienced by a wind of from fifty to fifty-five feet a second, Le Caquet can remain in the air unless the wind exceeds sixty-five to seventy-five feet per second.

It takes fifty experienced men to manœuvre it, for as soon as it leaves the shed great attention must be paid to the wind currents, so as to save the envelope from being torn. Attached to the balloon is a wicker car, in which the observer is installed with his maps, charts, arms, barometers, and telephone, the latter fixed over his ears so as to leave his hands free. He is also provided with glasses and a white silk parachute for an emergency.

When the balloon attains an altitude of from 2,000 feet to 3,000 feet, the windlass to which the cable is fixed is drawn by horses or motor car at a moderate pace to a point near the enemy lines, where a refuge excavated in the soil has been prepared. This accomplished, the observer transmits his instructions by telephone.

Two anti-aircraft posts are established near by to keep off enemy aeroplanes. If the balloon is menaced the crew bring it down from 5,000 feet in seven to ten minutes.

Observers frequently pass from fifteen to eighteen hours in the restricted space of the balloon cars, communicating with the batteries by telephone, but even strong men are unable to pass more than three days at a time at this exhausting occupation, constantly exposed to the enemy's fire.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

October is giving us grand weather. Mrs. R. T. McDonald returned today from New York.

Hon. Robert T. Lincoln will be here on November 2 and address the republicans.

The monkey at Geary's World Museum, got on a spree, Saturday afternoon. Perry, of Oak street, was severely bitten on the arm.

The little daughter of August Kutsch, a brakeman, residing at No. 42 Brandt street, fell from a high fence and broke her arm. She was attended by Dr. Enslin.

A brush fire over in Nebraska caused the fire department to make a run last evening. The fire was on Mechanic street, at the foot of Elm. Some barns were in danger and the fire was quickly extinguished.

A few minutes after 8 o'clock last evening a gas explosion occurred in the Press building. The stereotyper, Harry Todd, was severely burned about the head and arms. He was attended by Dr. Briggs. The gas was turned on accidentally in the morning.

Innocent Blystone, of No. 18 Holman street, came near being badly hurt yesterday. While working on a scaffold, folding out by the Standard Oil works, the scaffolding broke and Mr. Blystone was thrown to the ground, a distance of eighteen feet. He was badly shaken up, but is out today.

Actress Who Wins a Wealthy Broker

Miss Belle Ashlyn, once the wife of Billy Gould, who admits that she is to be married to Alanson Follansbee, head of one of Chicago's leading brokerage firms. It will be Mr. Follansbee's second marriage, his first wife having divorced him.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, flatulence, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.—Advertisement.

SUTTON WRANGLE IS GIVEN AIRING

Wife Decides She Needs More Money—Judge Thinks Not.

The police court had one of the busiest sessions of the year Friday morning. The main attraction proved to be the Sutton-Roth case. Sutton is the man arrested while in the company of Nina Roth, on a warrant made by his wife. The case was easily disposed of, Sutton pleading guilty. The Roth woman failed to appear. Both were fined $15 and costs. Mrs. Sutton was puffed by the nature of the sentence and immediately entered a charge of wife desertion and non-support.

It was a rather difficult matter to obtain the facts of the case owing to Mrs. Sutton's fluent tongue. After a perfect volley of conversation was discharged the court learned that the S. F. Bowser company had been sending Mrs. Sutton $10 a week for some time past and that in addition she had considerable real estate, whose rent should prove sufficient to support her. He therefore found the defendant not guilty.

Continued Indefinitely.
The assault and battery case between George Stoff and William Schlatter was continued indefinitely. Both men are employees of the Perfection Biscuit company. Stoff claims that Schlatter struck him for telling him to leave his department at closing time, while Schlatter states that he merely pushed him aside in order to enter the room. Stoff has paralysis of the legs and he was thrown to the floor. He was unable to show the marks of a blow, but claimed that he had a stiff neck.

The case of Helen Kelly, charged with disorderly conduct, was also continued indefinitely.

Schellenburger Back.
Glen Schellenburger, the would-be children custodian of Lawton park, was in police court Friday morning, charged with loitering. He was arrested last summer on complaint that he was annoying little children playing in the park. He was arrested Thursday, a short time after he had left Clara Ankenbruck, who has been confined to the Indiana school for a number of years. Schellenburger stated that he was endeavoring to place Clara in the Salvation Army in order to reform her, and that he then intended to marry her. Judge Kerr couldn't see it that way and gave him $5 bond and costs.

Charles Gerber, an ordinary drunk, was discharged. Ed Degan, another drunk, was given $1 and costs. Howard Davis, a former soldier, was given $5 and costs. The man was found in a demonstrative condition in the Hope hospital. John Tihlin had a tin ear Friday morning and his case was continued until Oct. 27 in hopes that he will be able to understand the meaning of a jail sentence by that time.

Sells Rented Gun.
A master of finance was presented to the court in the form of C. Lyons Friday morning. The man rented a shot gun from the Dygert pawn shop, and then sold the weapon for $3. The Dygert concern objected to the transaction and Lyons accordingly graced prisoners' row.

MILK PRODUCERS
Demand an Advance in Price After November 1.
The members of the Fort Wayne

Milk Producers association, at a meeting held Wednesday night at the Adams Center school, decided to demand six cents a quart or twenty-four cents a gallon for milk after November 1. They have been receiving a scale of prices for their milk varying from fourteen to twenty cents a gallon, with the average about sixteen cents. The reason for the shortage of milk as stated by the farmers is because of the number of cattle being sold for beef, as expenses, it is claimed, can hardly be made at the present selling price of milk.

Dr. Barnard Berates Slackers Who Waste

At the risk of war in the home some cooks should be told they are wasteful and should be compelled to adopt more economical methods, Dr. H. E. Barnard, Indiana representative of the National Food Administration says, in a statement on the subject he delivered.

"Who is the greatest slacker, the cook in the kitchen who wastes food because she never has learned the value of thrift or the mistress who will not take the trouble to teach her better methods of work? It is easy to shift responsibility and blame the cook for the ever-increasing grocery bills. It would be more patriotic to go

A TRANSPARENT BIT OF HEADGEAR PRETTY AND FOR RESTAURANT WEAR

A Pretty Hat for Restaurant Wear—The most naive little woman in the world is never so deliciously transparent as cynical man believes her, but this lovely bit of headgear is quite as transparent as it looks, and for evening wear is particularly charming. The trimming may be either gold or vividly colored cherries.

Into the kitchen and see that every waste is stopped. I am quite aware of the fact that trouble sometimes comes to women who, with the best of intent, try to change the working methods of their helpers. But the possibility of a conflict over the proper way to pare potatoes or utilize drippings should no longer deter any woman from taking action when action is necessary. It may be bringing war into the home to tell some cooks that they are wasteful, but the boys in the trenches over there are aided or injured by what we do here to save or waste food and if kitchen warfare is necessary to put a quick stop to extravagance, why let us have war.

"I do not make the assertion that all cooks are wasteful and all heads of homes thrifty. Often the contrary is the case. But I do want to emphasize the fixed belief of many men that of their wives did the cooking as they did in the early days of their home making, the family table would cost less than it does now when club work, and socks for soldiers and all the other activities of the life of modern women leave little time even for the supervision of the buying and preparation of food.

"It is hard to purchase personal interest with servants' wages. And that is why the best service many women may give their country is a renewed attention to the kitchen end of the home. There is no stirring appeal that makes the blood rush the quicker, in the making of cornmeal muffins, instead of biscuits. It may be more inspiring to roll Red Cross bandages than to follow the precepts of 'Hoover Thrift' cards; it surely is not more necessary and when the records are written the women who have helped in the war in their kitchens will share equal honors with those who have served closer to the battle line."

MEMORY CARD DISPELS GAS WORRY FOR WOMAN

Being a business woman who keeps house I have often been alarmed upon arrival at the office or some time during the day by the fear that I had left my gas stove burning. I either had to telephone the janitress or make a trip back to my apartment. After much thought and trouble about the matter I have solved it in this way. Upon a card 3x4 inches I printed in large plain letters, "Have you turned the gas off?" I attached a cord to the two upper corners and hung this over the outside doorknob. Now upon going to the door each morning this confronts me before I leave and I have had no further trouble.—New York Sun.

The Invitations Put Hallowe'en Guests in Tune

By BIDDY BYE.

The invitations to a Hallowe'en frolic are very important for they should put the guests in tune for the occasion.

A rhyme written on a pumpkin or a cat cut from colored paper and enclosed in a small envelope is good, or, if the invitations can be delivered by messenger, it is a clever idea to write them on clean white corn husk leaves, and to roll and tie them with a bit of orange ribbon. Original verses are best. Here are two suggestions that may be used—with the hostess' name and address written below:

If you wish to read your fate
Appear on Wednesday night at eight.
As ghost or witch you should be seen
To be in style on Hallowe'en.
ALICE HARPER,
40 Chestnut Street.

Hallowe'en is goblin night
Bring your Jack-o'-Lantern bright
And by the charms and tests of fate
Each maid or man may find a mate.
MARGARET ARNOLD,
737 Grove Park.

If you wish to give a flip of originality to your Hallowe'en party call it by a new name and use the following verse:

Come and celebrate with me
Jack-o'-Lantern Jubilee.
Bring a pumpkin, large or small
That cheerful fate may you befall.

When you find a cute little Jack-o'-Lantern invitation for the night of October 31 in your mail some morning, you experience a little thrill of pleasure when you meet that well-known second thought, "What shall I wear to the party?"

Costumes for Hallowe'en parties are so much more fun than even a brand-new party gown, for mostly they are disguises, and what is more fun than to be mysterious?

Under the disguise, whatever it may turban of the gypsy fortune teller are always alluring.

WHEN GIRLS WEAR BLACK VELVET

TO VENTILATE SICK ROOM.

When a sick room is being ventilated a screen should be placed in front of the window to prevent danger of a draught.

BEDLAM ENTHRONED IN CITY BUILDING

Every Hall Resounds With Scamper of Children's Feet.

Bedlam reigned in the city building, Friday. Every hall echoed with the shouts and laughter of children and on every stairway there was the clatter of scampering feet.

Five hundred boys and girls visited the city hall, Friday morning, in order to be vaccinated. More than 300 of the children had been inoculated against smallpox before noon. The others were sent home with orders to return later in the day. The three physicians, who are working feverishly at scratching slender arms, expect to vaccinate more than 500 school children, Friday.

During the hours from 8 o'clock, Friday morning, until 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, the third floor hallway was completely blocked by the crowd of children. A few mothers were present to see their boys and girls through the ordeal of vaccination. Two small children fainted after their arms had been scratched.

Few school pupils are going to their family physicians for the vaccination. The health men inoculated 250 children on Thursday afternoon.

Classes were resumed in a part of the grade schools, Friday. In every grade there are a number of pupils who have already been vaccinated and in no case will it be necessary to keep a room closed after Monday morning.

New cases of smallpox reported Friday are: Marie Schenkel, 1745 Franklin, and Helen Lieberman, 1019 Maunee avenue.

Lemon Juice a Beautifier

How to prepare a beauty cream at little cost. Says lemon juice alone is too highly acid. Try this on face, neck, arms and hands!

Many women use just the juice of lemons to bleach or whiten the skin and to bring out the hidden beauty and the roses, but pure lemon juice is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy or toilet counter and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to bring back to any skin the whiteness, the sweet freshness and flexibility of which it has been robbed by carelessness or trying atmospheric conditions.—Advertisement.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY TO BE MADE STANDARD

President Wilson Said to Be Ready to Order It as War Measure.

BY BASIL M. MANLY,
Of the Daily Sentinel's Washington Bureau.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—President Wilson, it is stated by a very reliable source, has under consideration an executive order making the eight-hour day obligatory in all basic industries, regardless of whether they are directly employed on government contracts.

The motive for this revolutionary step will not be concession to the demands of organized or unorganized labor, but the speeding up of the great American war machine to the highest productive efficiency. The government will simply take advantage of the results of experience both here and abroad, which demonstrates conclusively that over long periods of time men can do more work on eight-hour shifts than if employed 9, 10, 11 or 12 hours.

Ample provision, it is explained, will be made in the order for overtime on rush work and all kinds of war emergencies; but proper means will be provided for discouraging overtime except in cases of real necessity.

The initiative in the eight-hour-day movement was taken by Samuel Gompers, but he was soon joined by a number of influential business men who saw the practical necessity of standardizing the American working day so that the industrial energy of the country would not be sapped by overwork during the very beginning of what may prove to be a long and arduous struggle.

The movement was also endorsed by the experienced students of industrial questions sent to America by England, who testified to the great mistake England made in permitting her workers' energy to be drained by unlimited overtime work during the first year of the war.

A practical war condition makes it imperative for America to exercise exceptional care to conserve her industrial energy. Before the war the supply of fresh unskilled labor by immigration was so great it was possible to work men 12 hours a day until they were ready for the human scrap-heap. A sturdy immigrant was always waiting to take the place of every worn-out man.

But today the laborer enfeebled or overstrained by excessive hours simply cannot be replaced. Not only is there no new supply coming in, but through

"DEAR,-Stop Your Dandruff by using Pompeian HAIR Massage."

"Dandruff has made your hair straggly, thin looking and lifeless. Your coat collar is always covered with ugly scales. Stop your Dandruff now. You can. Just look at my hair. The Dandruff is entirely gone and almost overnight Pompeian HAIR Massage made my hair attractive."

The success of Pompeian HAIR Massage is in its name—"Massage." It is a treatment, not merely a tonic. The massaging (rubbing) of the scalp wakes up the roots of the hair to new life. This massaging also opens the pores of the scalp to the wonderfully stimulating liquids in Pompeian HAIR Massage. Dandruff goes. Your hair will become and stay healthy, vigorous, attractive.

All that is needed is a little massaging once or twice a week. One application shows results. Your scalp will immediately feel clean and invigorated. In one month your Dandruff will be gone. Pompeian HAIR Massage is a clear amber liquid. Not sticky. Very pleasant to use.

"Greatest treatment for Dandruff in the world," says J. A. Y. Chicago, Ill., "and I speak from experience. My hair before I started using it had gone beyond the ordinary stages of Dandruff and was covered with scales which embarrassed me greatly. I have introduced Pompeian HAIR Massage to my friends."

Practically every user says—one bottle shows actual results. Get a 25c, 50c or $1 bottle at the stores and say the same.

Have your barber every now and then apply a careful Pompeian HAIR Massage. Used in over 30,000 of the best barber shops from Maine to California.

ITALIANS ARE PUSHED BACK

Tremendous Weight of Men Hurlled Against Them on Isonzo Front.

THIRTY THOUSAND MADE PRISONERS

Berlin Says Fighting Has Been Pressed Upon Italian Soil.

Italy's armies have met with a serious reverse in the Isonzo battle losing thirty thousand men in prisoners and three hundred guns to the Austrians and Germans in their concentrated attack according to the German claim. Admittedly the Italians have been forced back to the border along one sector of the Isonzo front, from Montemaggiore to the west of Auzza, compelling the evacuation of the Bainsizza plateau.

Thus General Cadorna has through a single hostile stroke lost much of the fruits of his long months of campaigning against the Austrians.

Apparently the Italian forces which so brilliantly defeated the Germans across the Isonzo below Tolmino last summer and pushed far to the east had to make a hurried retreat from the Bainsizza plateau and back across the river because of the break in the lines to the north, suffered heavily in the loss of men and guns, as they fell back.

THIRTY THOUSAND TAKEN.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—The Austro-Germans in their offensive on the Isonzo front have captured more than 30,000 Italians, the German war office announced today. More than 300 guns also were taken.

At many places the Germans are now fighting on Italian territory, the announcement says.

The statement says the northern wing of the second Italian army has been defeated and is retreating. German divisions are advancing beyond Kurfret and Reonzo.

HAIG STRIKES TWO BLOWS.

British Front in Belgium, Oct. 26.—(By The Associated Press.)—Field Marshal Haig's forces this morning made two separate attacks on the German positions north and east of Ypres. The first was from a point near Saint Janshoek, westward from the southern fringe of the Southolt ridge to the region of Nieuwenkerke. The other assault was on both sides of the Ypres-Menin highway along the Gheluvelt ridge in the direction of the town of that name.

HARD SMASH AT GERMANS.

London, Oct. 26.—The French and British troops are attacking today in the Ypres region, the war office announced.

The French and British are making satisfactory progress in their new attack.

GOOD GAINS MADE.

Paris, Oct. 26.—The village of Draiebank, Papegoed wood and a number of fortified farms were captured by the French in an attack launched this morning on the Flanders front, war office reports. Hundreds of prisoners were taken.

ITALIANS PUSHED BACK.

Rome, Oct. 26.—Under the Austro-German pressure on the Isonzo front the Italians have withdrawn their lines to the border in one sector and the preparing for the evacuation of the Bainsizza plateau, the war office announced today.

SOCIETY

Lipscomb-Hostetler.

A quiet and pretty wedding took place at 6:30 o'clock last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hostetler, 918 Schick street, when their daughter, Alice Cecil, was united in marriage to W. Frank Lipscomb, recently of the United States navy. The bridal party marched down the stairs to the Mendelssohn wedding march, which was played by Miss Edith Lee, Miss Mary Craig, an intimate girlhood friend, and Mr. George Kappel were the attendants. The bride was gowned in white tulle. She wore a veil and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride roses. Miss Craig wore a turquoise blue crepe de metier with a trimming of black velvet and silver lace. Her flowers were sunburst roses. Mr. Lipscomb wore his uniform. On Sunday the young couple will leave for LaGrange for a few days' visit with the bride's grandparents and on their return from that visit will make their home for the present with the bride's parents. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lipscomb have a host of friends who extend congratulations. Guests from away were Miss Mary Russell and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Allen, of Peru; Mr. and Mrs. Jones Hostetler, of Lagrange; and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wolf, of Elkhart.

WAR SCRIBES NEAR DEATH

Were Watching Stupendous Drama on Isonzo Front With Italians.

Then a Big Bertha Tossed a Two-Ton Shell Into Their Midst.

Army Headquarters in Northern Italy, Wednesday, Oct. 24.—(By The Associated Press.)—Under the escort of an officer from headquarters, the correspondent was given an opportunity today to see Gorizia under a rain of shells from nearby Austrian batteries and to look out from a castle dominating the city on the vast scene of military operations of which Gorizia is the strategic center. The visit was made at an opportune moment just as the Austrians and Germans were inaugurating their heavy offensive from the north in the effort to redeem their recent heavy losses. A heavy artillery bombardment had initiated the movement with the Italian batteries responding along a front of twenty miles running across the Bainsizza plateau towards Tolmino. As the correspondent passed along the road from headquarters shells were falling freely three miles outside Gorizia and there was a steady roar of guns of all calibers from the big fifteen to the rattling quick-firers. Such an offensive had been anticipated for several days as information reaching headquarters showed that the enemy was preparing for the supreme movement of the year. Austrian forces in the north, where they were no longer required against the inactive Russian armies had been sent to this front. At the same time the German general staff had awakened to the possibilities of the Italian front and for the first time Brandenburg troops were identified along this nearby front and shells from large caliber German guns were falling for the first time from the enemy position on Monte San Gabriele and around Monte Rosso.

After Big Plateau.

This, with the fury of the German fire, made it evident that the enemy would seek to regain the vast Bainsizza plateau, which the Italians recently took with 30,000 prisoners, as the Italian strip on the plateau opened the way for them to sweep over the Carso range back of Trieste and thus threaten the Austrian defense of Trieste.

It was therefore to protect Trieste and force back the Italians to the old trench on the Isonzo river that the enemy forces were tripled, picked Brandenburgers, Saxons, Bavarians and others were added to the Austrian forces and the opening stages of the offensive were developed today.

The city of Gorizia was entered over a bridge which Italian engineers had thrown across the Isonzo. The massive old stone bridge was out of service with one of its stately arches blown to pieces. The iron railroad bridge further along had been entirely destroyed by artillery fire. The big paper mills along the river rose what a mass of ruins and lines of jagged walls, with gaping windows extended for miles along the river.

Scene of Desolation.

Entering Gorizia the city presented an aspect of ruin and desolation with the crash of falling walls every now and then adding to the area of destruction. Within five minutes the correspondent counted five large churches, including the imposing Cathedral, which had been reduced to a mass of ruins. The roof of the Cathedral had fallen in from a succession of shell holes and the high altar could be seen above the tumbling sidewalks. The chief hotel of the city had been blotted out of existence by two large calibre shells which leveled the entire structure. What is left of one of the principal buildings is now used for an emergency fire department to prevent further destruction.

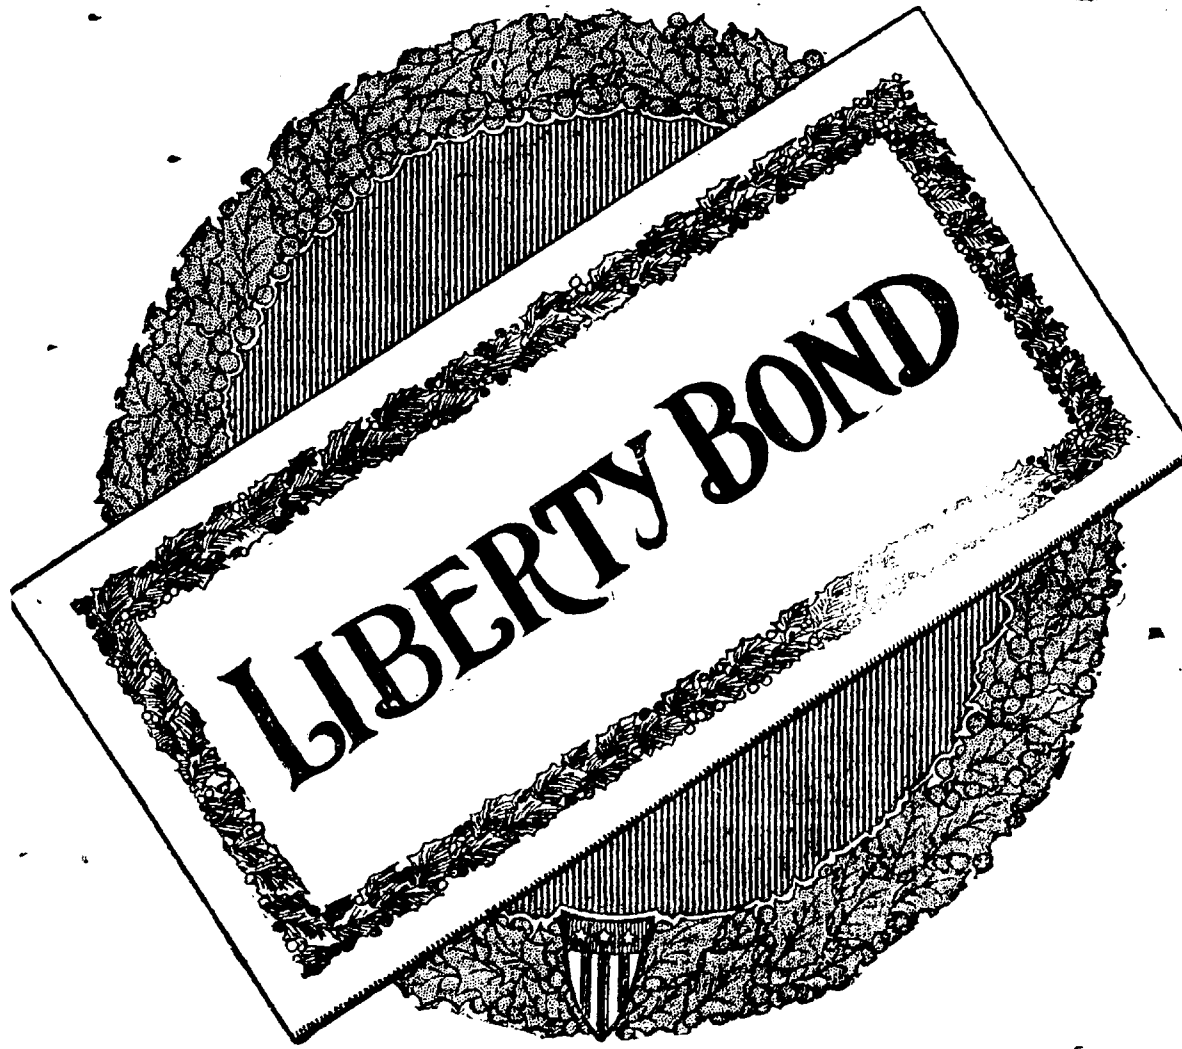

View of the Field.

Going to the top of the castle dominating the city, the correspondent had a splendid view of the vast field of the present operations. Immediately in front was Monte San Michel, held by the Italians, and to the left was Monte San Gabriele where the Italians are on one side, with the Austrians still clinging to the top of the other side. The dividing lines between the two forces were clearly discernible from the terrific crashing of guns on both fronts. The artillery action could be seen dimly, extending over the coveted plateau of Bainsizza, and northward to Monte Rosso where it was later learned heavy infantry actions followed the artillery preparations. Observations from the top of the castle were brought to a sudden halt in the midst of the explanations of the officer conducting the party. He had just led his companions past an observation post to a stone rampart fronting the castle wall. As he spoke there was a deafening roar of a heavy gun, followed by the whirr of a big missile headed straight for the rampart.

Fine Spray.

Instantly every one recoiled, but it was too late. The big projectile struck not fifteen feet away, tearing through the stone walls and wrecking the observation post which the party had just left. All went over like a row of bricks and lay stunned under mountains of mortar, dirt and stone. "The projectile had hurled a mass of small stones like bullets and one of these made a slight gash in the face of a member of the party. After the members of the party had clambered over tons of debris thrown up by the shot, army surgeons dressed the face wound of the injured man and pronounced it merely

"We take occasion to again send fraternal greetings to the people and the republic of Russia and our earnest wishes for the success and permanency of Russia's democracy; that we all make energetic efforts in our common cause for freedom, justice and democracy in all of the nations of the world."

THOO MUCH LIQUOR.

The sheriff's office was called Thursday afternoon to go about six miles out on the Sandpoint road and get a drunken man who was creating considerable excitement. The man was making a fluent political speech to the trees and cornstalks in that vicinity. He was brought to the city and placed in the jail. It is evident that he is suffering from a severe case of delirium tremens. He gave his name as Edward McKelvey, but was unable to state where he hailed from.

$839,700

The Teddy Roosevelt team leaders announced that they have solicited $84 persons in their loan campaign.

The great drive for mustering Allen county dollars will go on over Saturday. The reports from outlying townships will not be in until Saturday afternoon.

County Commissioner William Schiewer at the head of the rural effort, announces that from his early reports he believes there will be at least $30,000 subscribed in each township of the county. This would make a total of $600,000 from the twenty townships.

Individual subscriptions which were given special mention at the Friday noon banquet, and the report of amounts from industries follows:

Barney O'Connor, $15,000; Mrs. Mary Ewing, $2,000; P. S. Macbeth, $1,950; Rothschild Bros., $5,000; Clyde Quimbley, $30,850; R. L. Loney, $2,000; Irene Dunkelberg, $1,500; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Summers, $4,300; Frank Morsches, $2,000; General Electric Co., $205,000; Pennsylvania employees, $151,000; Wayne Knitting Mills, $120,000; S. Co., $18,000; Perfection Biscuit Co., $15,000.

Much Excitement.

Enthusiasm marked every period of the Friday noon luncheon. Each announcement brought a round of cheering. The grand opening was in the form of the entrance of a jazz band, an organization of creoles appearing at the Palace this week.

The balcony of the auditorium was filled with men and women visitors on the closing day of the banquet series. They joined in each outburst of applause.

It was voted that a booklet in the form of a roll of honor, giving the names of principal loan subscribers and loan workers the county be made up. C. H. Worden will send the pamphlet to President Woodrow Wilson.

A special vote of thanks was tendered the young women of the Red Cross organization who have aided in the serving work under the direction of Mrs. Robert W. Fowler.

Trump! Trump! Trump!

With force that shook the auditorium the men and women joined in singing "Send Old Kaiser Bill to Hell," which was rendered to the tune of that well known marching song. "Trump, Trump, Trump! The Boys Are Marching." The words of the song follow:

WOMEN ARE DISAPPOINTED

But Determined to Keep Up Suffrage Fight Until Victory is Won.

NOTHING TO DO NOW BUT SMILE

Dr. Carrie Banning Says Supreme Judges Should Be Appointed.

While Fort Wayne suffrage leaders were keenly disappointed in the decision of the Indiana supreme court in declaring women's suffrage unconstitutional, they do not believe that their efforts have been in vain and are more determined than ever before to keep up the fight until victory has been won.

Statements relative to the decision were secured from a number of local suffrage leaders as follows:

Dr. Carrie Banning: The decision is a great disappointment to me. I have been a suffrage worker for a great many years. However, I feel that our work is not lost for never again can it be said that the women take no interest in politics and affairs of government. That was proven by the last registration here when there were as many women registered as men. It seems to me there is a tremendous waste of time and money in sending representatives to the legislature to pass measures only to have those measures declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. It is a pity that our supreme court judges are not appointed for a long term of years and not elected, so that they would be entirely free from political influence.

Mrs. Carolyn Fairbank, ex-president of the Indiana Political Club: The decision is a great disappointment to the women of Indiana, but they never will stop until victory has been won.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sihler: The women of the country are giving up their sons, are working in every department of the government and are doing everything they can to help win the war. It seems to me to be no more than fair that the men should gladly give women suffrage. I think the men would feel honor bound to give women the right to vote.

Mrs. A. J. Detzer: I have nothing to say under the circumstances. There is plenty of work, but nothing to say just now.

Mrs. C. C. Warrington: We will not let the fight drop by any means.

FUEL BOSS ORDERS COAL UP THIS WAY

Coal on War Ration Basis Said to Be Not Unlikely in the State.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—Coal on a war ration basis is a possibility in this state it was said here today by persons familiar with the number and nature of the appeals for fuel being received hourly by the office of the state fuel administrator. No official statement indicating that such a step is contemplated has as yet been published, but some such plan has been suggested as a future possibility, it is said. The step can be taken, if it becomes necessary to make a complete survey of fuel within the state and also the organization of county coal administrators.

Daily reports indicate the conditions to be grave. It is reported that less than one-fourth the number of persons who have had their fuel in by this time of year are now supplied. Dealers in many places are out of coal.

One suggestion is that appeal to wealthy persons in communities where coal is stored to buy it as a patriotic duty and permit the lower price Indiana coal to be purchased by persons with less money and in more need.

The administrator's office continues to order shipments to coal to various cities. Among places were shipments were considered are Anderson and Fort Wayne.

The girls are marching With Old Glory leading on; We will bring the nation's gold, Till the Kaiser's stiff and cold And the Hohen-Zollerns all are dead and gone.

Trump! Trump! Trump! The boys are marching Uncle Sam's purse to fill; You can bet we'll do it well, Send old Kaiser Bill to hell; It will be a dose that cannot help but kill.

In answer to repeated calls, Mrs. R. W. Fowler mounted the platform and led in singing "Over There," the song which has become the most popular of the numbers sung at the banquet. Every man and woman helped swell the chorus.

Aged Man Buys Bond.

One of the fine examples of loyalty to democracy was the purchase of a $50 bond on Thursday by John Springer, 92, who served seven years in the German army and who came to this country when a middle aged man. He called his nephew, George Springer, to the bedside where the aged man has been confined for several weeks.

To the young man, who is a Liberty bond salesman, he said: "I want to show the folks that I am a citizen of the United States and especially a citizen of Pleasant township."

It was with difficulty that the aged man was able to sign the bond.

Makes Wrinkles Go "As If By Magic"

Want to banish every wrinkle—from face, neck, hands—quickly, easily, safely? Try the famous saxolite formula. Nothing else so nearly meets every requirement. Why? Because it is correct in principle and really, truly assists Nature. Possessing remarkable astringent and tonic properties, it both tightens the skin—thus naturally smoothing out the lines—and improves capillary circulation and nerve tone—tending to strengthen loose tissue and bring about a healthy condition. Yet, powerful as the saxolite lotion is, it won't harm your skin in the least. And it's so easy to get the inexpensive ingredients at your druggist's, and so easy to mix them.

Just dissolve one ounce powdered saxolite in one-half pint witch hazel—that's all. Bathe your face in this—immediately every wrinkle and crease are affected, even the deepest. You are perfectly astonished and delighted, with the result. You look like you've lost years from your age—Advertisement.

CAUSE OF CANCER IS STILL DARK MYSTERY

Clinical Congress Held in Chicago Hears Subject Discussed.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The cause of cancer is yet unknown to medical science, according to a statement made before the 3,000 surgeons who for the last week have been in Chicago attending the eighth annual convention of the clinical congress of surgeons which yesterday merged with the American College of Surgeons, and is now known as the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons. Dr. William T. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., president-elect of the new body, in discussing the advances made in the treatment of cancer, asserted that while physicians cannot ascribe exactly the cause of that disease, it is known that hot foods taken into the stomach often result in cancerous growths in that organ. Clean food coupled with food at normal temperatures might go a long way in removing one of the first causes of cancer, Dr. Mayo said, and subsequent speakers agreed in this.

Sir Berkeley Moynihan, of Leeds, England, member of the British army staff, who has made daily addresses to the physicians, declared that in no one line of surgery had such strides been made as in lung and pleura surgery. He advised surgeons contemplating war service to be prepared to go about the lung surgery resolutely and without misgivings as to severity. He said that the lung could be cleansed of slivers of shells just as one would cleanse a new sponge.

The visiting surgeons will conclude their clinics today, the general program of addresses having been concluded last night.

FOSTER BALL.

Laughable Character Study by Super Artist at Palace.

The sheer artistry of his make-up, his gestures and the inflections of his voice everyone stamp Foster Ball at the Palace as a super artist in a character study of a veteran G. A. R. with several scraps still left in him. Speaking of his make-up as the grizzled and gray old veteran, the physical labor of transferring himself into a squeaky-voiced warrior of seventy-five, requires never less than an hour and a half of effort, for Mr. Ball insists that every line shall be drawn with the painstaking care of an artist before he will consider his make-up complete.

"The Schoolmaster," a revival of the old school of buff-bang comedy, is a refreshing bit of hilarity done by a company of seven people whose comedy antics are no less amusing than their songs are enjoyable.

June Mills, the high priestess of hilarious song with a partner who possesses a splendid bass voice and furnishes a foil for some of Miss Mills' gags; Fred and Daisy Rial, the flying ring artists; and the Original Creole band, a jazz organization with a world of syncope and acrobatic instrumental music, complete this bill.

A Drop On a Touchy Corn

Instant relief! Then corn on callus lifts off with fingers.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without one twinge of pain. A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it Frezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of Frezone for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off. Frezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the skin. Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. No soreness or smarting. Women should keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.

For two years Wisconsin has been fighting forest fires by airplane instead of from watchtower. It is said that at a height of 1,500 feet an aviator can detect a forest fire sixty miles distant.

An Englishman has invented a safety suit for aviators which is covered with parachute-like pockets, by means of which the entire suit can be inflated so that the force of the aviator's fall may be broken.

Nice Comfy Swing If Enemy Don't See Him

This isn't so bad as it might have been, for the tree might have been higher and the balloonist's parachute seat farther from the branches. As it was the British observer just swung over to the nearby branches and then climbed down, as easily as any small American boy could have done it. The parachute was caught in the tree top preventing a landing on terra firma.

IT OFTEN HAPPENS IN HIGH ART REALMS

Success of High School Work Depends Upon a Touch of Type.

What was the delicate touch which gave the soulful expression to the "Mona Lisa," that matchless work of art?

Masters of the brush have pondered long over this question. Through all the years they have never found its answer. Finished artists know that a last faint tracery may make or unmake a painting. It may be only a touch of color or a short lived line which brings success or failure to the work.

In every branch of art it is the meaning of the little touches, intangible tricks of the highest trade, which fascinates and holds those who understand. Often times the craftsmen themselves differ upon the probable effect of a flick of pigment in bringing out the soul of an artistic production.

Something of this sort of professional differing seems to hold the leaders of the staff of The Caldron, the Fort Wayne high school publication.

Should the numbering of the pages be inclosed in parentheses or brackets? While the page numerals appear, in true modest and artistic fashion, at the bottom of the printed leaf, yet there is the understanding that every part of the publication must aid in expressing the exacting impressions portrayed in the body of the book.

Howard Shambaugh, editor-in-chief of The Caldron, holds for brackets as lending the finest shade of meaning to the numerals. Willard Moeller, business manager of the publication, feels certain that parentheses would best bring out the dainty suggestion desired.

When the heads of the two departments did not agree, after hours of discussion, a meeting of the senior class was called to decide the matter, Thursday. The vital question of the parentheses and brackets was placed squarely before the class.

The drawn out debate, in which every angle and curve of the figure lines was carefully considered, finally resolved itself into a misunderstanding as to whether the editor-in-chief, who governs the literary success of the magazine, or the business manager, who holds the financial prosperity of the work, should have the supreme power.

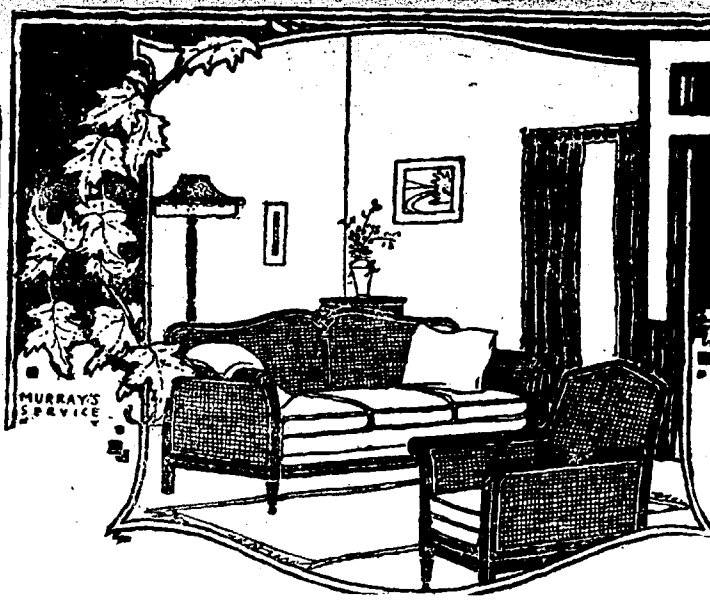

There was a touch of bitterness in a few of the remarks which followed. A committee of five seniors was finally appointed to fathom this question. A report of the findings is expected in a few days. Meantime the senior class leaders are not giving all their attention to prosaic and unalleged assignments in dry history and language books.

PREPARING FOR FOOD CONSERVATION DRIVE

Frank Hilgeman Urges Action in Matter of Seining Fish.

"Fort Wayne has just begun to know that America must conserve the food which will win the war," states Frank Hilgeman, head of the Allen county food relief organization. "We expect the folks of this county to hear little else in the next few weeks."

Final arrangements are being made Friday for the distribution of thousands of "waste not" pledge cards. Plans for large "save food" signs in the market archway, on the court house and the postoffice building are to be carried out.

Hilgeman is making an effort to induce Fish Commissioner George Lindemuth and Prosecutor Frank Emrick to start the effort of taking fish from the St. Mary's river for food use. Fact that the sugar beet factory, at Decatur, has started operations makes the work seem a necessity at once, Hilgeman states.

Preliminary arrangements for the purchase of nets for seining the fish have been made by Hilgeman. Several men have volunteered to aid in taking the fish from the river. When Commissioner Lindemuth returns to Fort Wayne it is thought that the work will be started.

GREEK SHINER SHOT BY TAXICAB DRIVER

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 26.—Peter Matasas, 36, proprietor of a Greek shoe shining parlor, is dying in a local hospital from the effects of four bullet wounds, the shots fired by Clyde Horne, a taxi driver. The near tragedy occurred on a bridge that spans the Wildcat creek, four miles north-east of this city, at 2 o'clock this morning. Horne had been engaged to drive Matasas, Helen Pagan and Florence Bryant to Frankfort and they were returning to this city. The two men got out of the car and had some words. Horne alleges Matasas stabbed him twice with a dirk when he pulled a revolver and shot five times, four of the bullets hitting the mark. The dying man says Horne demanded $10 taxi fare and this was the cause of the trouble. Horne is being held without bail and the two women were put under bond as material witnesses.

LOCAL MARKETS

RAIN KEEPS FARMERS HOME FROM MARKET

Prices Remain Staple and Unchanged—Many Expected Saturday.

Train again greatly interfered with the local markets Friday. No loose hay was received at the city scales, which was the same as Tuesday, when King Weather handed out a flurry of snow. Two loads of baled hay brought $18. No corn, old or new, was brought in, and only one load of oats, this bringing 53c a bushel. A large market will probably be in evidence Saturday, rain or shine, as the weather is now getting to be so unsettled that as much produce as possible must be sold. The farmers of this community are showing a willingness to add the country by not holding crops for higher prices. In some parts of the state this holding of crops is freely in evidence, and in cases where it is found drastic means to stop it will be used.

Censored and Passed by Committee on Public Information

The yarn about this picture is that it is a picture about yarn and its uses in modern warfare. Evidently these wayfarers of warfare are faring so well with the yarn they have to say farewell. The boys of Governor's Island have with them today the girls of the "Oh, Boy!" company, and oh, boy! how these girls did like to learn to knit! As the title shows, the picture was "censored and passed by the committee on public information," despite its frank revelation of the latest barbed yarn entanglements which General Cupid has set to snare those unaware.

Irregularity Rules in the Street, Leading Rails Losing Some

New York, Oct. 26.—Changes at the outset of today's stock market session were of the same irregular character as those recently noted.

Shippings were among the most active features at gains of 1 to 3 points and rails continued to sag. Liberty bonds were in process of further accumulation at 99.90.

Selling of rails broadened in the first hour on extensive offerings of investment issues, notably Pennsylvania and Reading. Shippings and industrials also reacted, United States steel falling under 104. The reversal was brief, however, supporting orders soon effecting general readjustment. Trading became listless on the rally and gains were partially reduced at noon. Liberty bonds were less active at 99.90 to 99.94.

FREE SAFETY DEPOSIT FOR LIBERTY'S BONDS

Federal Treasury Hopes to Provide This in Every Town With Bank.

BY MILTON BRONNER, Of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, Oct. 26.—If the United States treasury liberty loan department can bring it about, there will be a bank in every town in the country where liberty bond purchasers can deposit them free and thus keep them burglar-proof, loss-proof and fire-proof.

One of the drawbacks in the campaign to sell millions of bonds to people of small means has been this very thing of safety for the precious papers. Most people keep no box in a safety vault and can't afford to. They keep no bank account and know little about banking business.

The thrifty do know they can put their money in a savings bank and withdraw their savings as needed. They also know all about building and loan associations.

The treasury department realizes it would be a big talking point if it could be shown that in very town where committees were actively at work, the purchasers of bonds could deposit them free of charge in bank safety vaults.

France is one of the greatest bond purchasing countries in the world in ordinary times. Many American industrial state and municipal securities are held by the French people. And one of the reasons why is said to be that many of the banks which offer these stocks for sale also give the purchaser free storage of papers in vaults.

An elaborate index system is carried on, and in case a man or woman loses the receipt, identity can easily be established and access obtained to one's belongings.

Men, we specialize in suits and overcoats for the man who thinks he is hard to fit. We have models and styles for every figure. PATTERSON-FLETCHER CO.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, Calomel, Pills Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bilious, Sick, Headachy and Constipated.

Get a 10-cent box now. Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.—Advertisement.

The Danish government has ordered another reduction in the size of the standing army. The step is taken, it is stated, "mainly for financial reasons, but also because discipline in the army has been weakened and its quality deteriorated under protracted service." At the beginning of the European war, Denmark called up 45,000 men in addition to the 12,500 who are always under training. This force was gradually reduced to 25,000, and a further reduction of about 25 per cent has now been decided upon.

GOVERNMENT CONTROLS NEW MERCHANT MARINE

Uncle Sam Himself is Now Running All Ships That Fly His Flag.

BY GILSON GARDNER,
Of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—All ships flying the American flag are now operated by the United States government. They were commandeered Oct. 15. The private owner no longer has anything to say about what his vessel—where it goes, what it carries and what it charges.

The ships taken over aggregate two million tons and number 45. Colby dropped into the shipping board to see the effect of this operation. I found Bainbridge Colby, one of the newly appointed members, with an office full of people waiting and a string of telegraph messengers going and coming.

"It has been an almost continuous flow of telegrams for four days," Colby explained. "I have had an expert at my elbow and have worked every night until after midnight so that every telegraphic question might be immediately answered. We were very anxious to have no interruption in the traffic. Things are going very nicely."

"The government is paying from $5.75 to $7 a dead weight ton for vessels it takes over. This insures the owners a comfortable profit, though less than the previous war ocean rates. The owners get paid for his vessel used or not, and it is up to the government to use it to the best advantage of war and industry."

The army and navy have first call. After that industries important to the war. In some cases the ships are turned back to the private owners to be operated for government account.

"All this," Colby explained, will steady freight rates and expedite war supplies. The element of competition being removed, the vessels will be assigned where they are most needed and can do the best service. We have adopted the method England came to after experimenting with other plans."

Colby says the shipping board will succeed soon in taking over the Dutch ships now tied up in American ports. "There are," said he, "complicated questions involved, but these vessels cannot be permitted to lie idle when the world needs them."

Commissioner Raymond Stevens, of the shipping board, is at work to speed up the construction of vessels. It has been decided to pay over-time rates for extra work, and if the labor can be had, to work two or three shifts of eight hours each a day. By this means it will be possible to add to the estimate of one million tons to be turned out in American shipyards by March 1, 1918.

Suffered Terribly From a Burning Sensation in His Stomach.
"Last summer I had a bad spell of indigestion that lasted about ten days. There was a terrible burning sensation and a good deal of gas in my stomach. I suffered terribly at times, being unable to get relief until I took a friend's advice and began using Chamberlain's Tablets. The relief from the first was very apparent, and by taking only half a bottle of them I was cured," writes G. F. Parkhurst, Cicero, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Medicines That Aid Nature Most Effectual.
As a general rule the medicines that aid Nature are most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids Nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. When you have need of such a medicine give it a trial. You will never regret it.—Advertisement.

Furniture You May Be Justly Proud Of

In buying furniture more care should be used in your selection than in purchasing anything else. You buy furniture only once in many years and frequently only once in a lifetime. It is different from purchasing wearing apparel that you will cast off with the next season. You make your selection today and if you err in your choice it spoils your home for years and years. Here at Hadley's we take this into consideration whenever we sell a customer. Perhaps you have noticed how frequently we advertise "Every sale must advertise this store." That's our policy. We know that if you are a satisfied customer you will do more to increase our business than almost any amount of newspaper space. We know to make you satisfied you must not only be sold furniture of the highest quality, but you must be sold furniture of the proper style and character. Only when you are really proud of your furniture are you really satisfied. Consequently, we can assure you that at Hadley's we shall do our utmost to provide you with furniture that you will always welcome exhibiting in your home.

All the Latest Columbia Records

Tone

There's nothing like Columbia Tone when you hear Columbia records played on the Columbia Grafonola. Come to Hadley's where you will find all the popular pieces of the day ready for your selection. Hear them the next time you come down to shop.

Grafonolas
$18.00 to $350

Columbia Grafonolas may be had at any price you feel like paying, from $18.00 to $350.00. At Hadley's you may make your selection and have it delivered to your home for a small cash payment, while the balance can be paid as your purse permits.

Thermometer Clocks
$1.98

These clocks come in two different designs. The first is like the one illustrated. The second is fashioned like a cross. You also have your choice of mahogany, walnut or oak finish in either style. Both clocks are equipped with a standard thermometer. They are not only useful but ornamental. Get yours early before the supply is exhausted. Regular price $3.50.

Golden Oak Library Table $12.75

Design

Here's a Library Table that will always be in good taste and good style. It is a design that is different from so many of the common tables one sees nowadays and still it is in no way a freakish pattern. It is handsomely finished in Golden Oak and represents a value that cannot be duplicated elsewhere at anywhere near this price.

Big, Strong and Massive

The construction of this Library Table is every bit as good as its appearance. It is not one of the cheap flimsy styles that you frequently see advertised. It is built entirely of solid oak and is so strong and substantial that it should last for a lifetime. Come and see it and you'll marvel at the price we ask for it.

Massive Bed $34.50 Davenport

Golden or Fumed Oak or Mahogany

This davenport will match your furniture, no matter what its finish. The frames are massive and as a consequence, extraordinarily durable. The upholstering is just as long wearing, for it is a leather substitute that cannot peel or crack as leather frequently does.

The First Law Hospitality

—is to be always prepared with just such an "emergency bed." It is by day, a very desirable, useful and ornamental addition to the living room. In fact, a living room is not complete without such a piece of furniture. And by night, it gives the visitor good rest and sound sleep.

Howard Heater
$15.85

Considering the amount of coal it consumes, this Howard Heater, beyond a doubt, gives more heat than any other base burner manufactured. There are hundreds of these Howard Base Burners in use in Fort Wayne and every one who has ever used one, feels that he cannot be too strong in their praise. It is economical in fuel, holds fire as long as you would want it to, and throws its heat in every direction.

A Bargain In Brass Beds $27.50

2-Inch Posts and 2-Inch Fillers

Several Designs to Select from

In addition to the brass bed shown in the above illustration we are offering several other styles at this price for this week. Each design is a beauty. They are all among the most popular styles of the day, and any one of them will prove attractive in the bedroom in which it is used.

They Appear Worth Double

These beds are strong and massive construction are of the best and the sive. The material and con-lacquering is warranted not to tarnish or wear off. You could not duplicate these beds anywhere else at $10.00 more than the price we are asking, for it is only an unusual purchase that permits us to sell them in this way.

Backache

In spite of the best care one takes of oneself, any part of the human machine is liable to become out of order. The most important organs are the stomach, heart and kidneys.

The kidneys are the scavengers and they work day and night in separating the poisons from the blood. It is only reasonable to believe that they are liable to derangement. Their signals of distress, however, are easily recognized and include such symptoms as backache, depression, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic twinges, dry, gritty, gout.

The very best way to restore the kidneys to their normal state of health," says Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "is to drink plenty of pure water and obtain from your favorite pharmacy a small amount of Anuric (double strength), which is dispensed by most every druggist." Anuric is inexpensive and should be taken before meals. You will find Anuric more potent than lithia, dissolving uric acid almost as water does sugar.

NEWS OF SOUTH BEND.

South Bend, Ind.—"When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription I was suffering from stomach trouble, constipation, and woman's weakness. The 'Golden Medical Discovery' had been a favorite remedy for coughs with my mother. I used the two remedies off and on for nearly a year. I was relieved of the womanly trouble, and the stomach trouble improved under this treatment. The 'Pleasant Pellets' have also been used with the greatest benefit."—Mrs. JOHN CHAPLEY, 613 S. MAKING THE OCEAN SAFE FOR SOLDIERS

What Uncle Sam is Doing to Protect Troops Crossing Sea.

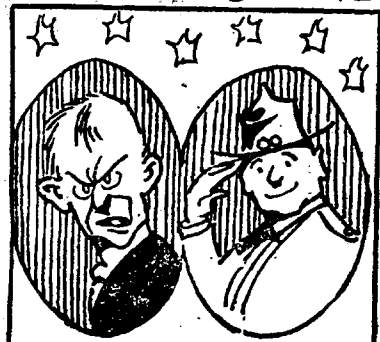

BY BASIL M. MANLY
Of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—Despite the Kaiser's lurking U-boats, American troops are crossing the Atlantic in unprecedented numbers with remarkably few casualties.

The fact that only one troop-ship has been sunk, although there have been transports on the ocean every day since mid-June, serves to bring the government's precautions into bold relief.

For four months German U-boats never ceased their efforts to sink an American transport, although the July 4 announcement of the attack on a convoyed fleet was the only one made public. This is by no means the only attack that has taken place. There is every reason to believe U-boats have been taken from the British sealanes to patrol the French lanes over which American transports steam. This may account for the falling off in sinkings of British merchant ships.

Although the U. S. transport Antilles sank in five minutes, 167 of the 237 on board were saved, and there is reason to believe a large number of those who died were killed by the explosion and not by drowning. If in peace times a liner had sunk in five minutes, hardly a person would have been saved.

What these precautions are cannot be told in too great detail, but the main reliance is life-saving jackets, life-boats and life-saving rafts.

The life-saving jacket, which has supplanted the old life-preserver, is a part of the regular equipment of the troops and sailors while on board. As soon as the submarine zone is entered every man aboard puts on his life jacket and keeps it on until he is safe ashore. The life-saving rafts are the last great reliance if a ship is torpedoed. They do not have to be lowered alongside, but lie on the decks and can be cut loose even when the ship is sinking.

To avoid every possibility of disorder in case the ship is struck, there are constant boat drills—before breakfast, in the morning, afternoon and at night.

And best of all, over the whole submarine area there is always an allied destroyer or patrol within a few minutes' steaming distance, ready to answer the first signal of an attacked ship. In times of peace, shipwrecked passengers might be afloat for hours or even days without sighting a rescue boat, but now the patrol of the danger zone is so thorough that speedy rescue is assured.

MANY IMPROVEMENT RESOLUTIONS PASS

Large Number of Cement
on Hugh Street.

Not a dissenting vote was cast against the many improvement resolutions passed by the board of works Thursday night. Building resolutions were confirmed for the construction of the following cement sidewalks: On the south side of Hugh street, from Francis to Harnar; east side of Arlington avenue, from Barrett avenue to Rudisill boulevard; south side of Pierce avenue, from South Wayne avenue to 150 feet east; west side of St. Mary's avenue, from Hugh to Third; east side of St. Mary's avenue, from Burgess to High.

Assessment rolls were confirmed for the paving of Wayne street, from Grand to Glasgow; for building sidewalks on both sides of Zollars avenue, from Nelson to Thompson avenue, and on both sides of Woodview avenue, from Hanna to the alley east of Gay street.

The board also confirmed a resolution asking for the condemning of a right of way for a sewer along the west side of Spy Run avenue, from the St. Mary's river to Lawton park, and for vacating one foot of ground between lots 69 and 70 in the Driving Park addition.

A petition submitted by residents of the neighborhood asking for the construction of a sewer in the alley west of Beaver avenue, from Nuttman avenue to the first alley north was referred to the city engineer with instructions to prepare plans and specifications.

Typhoon of Fire Is Driving the Wedge

Slowly but surely the British are driving the wedge home through the German line beyond Ypres. They have called to their aid what is now described as a "typhoon of fire." Other plunges followed "drums of fire," and "hurricanes of fire." That's making it "hotter" for the German trenches right along. This wedge will permit attacks upon the German flanks if driven deep enough, and may cut the German lines. Flank attacks are less costly in men than are frontal attacks, and usually are better ground gainers.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 28

EZRA RETURNING FROM BABYLON.

LESSON TEXT—Ezra 1:15-35.
GOLDEN TEXT—The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek him.—
Ezra 8:22.

An interval of some fifty years intervenes between the dedication of the temple and the journey of Ezra to Palestine. Some stirring events in the world occurred in this time which greatly helped the Jews. It was during this time that the episode of Esther's being made queen and the elevation of Mordecai occurred, which favorably disposed the Persian government toward the Jews. The time was auspicious for Ezra to make his request unto Artaxerxes. The supreme aim of Ezra was the restoration of the true worship of Jehovah, for it is evident that the work done by Zerubbabel had largely failed of its aim. In order that Ezra might be an efficient instrument in the hands of God for the accomplishment of this purpose, he "prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord and to do it, and to teach in Israel the statutes and judgments" (7:10). There are three stages in the experience of every true teacher. First: to seek the law of the Lord. Second: to do it. Third: to teach it to others. The last is impossible without the first two.

The royal commission granted to Ezra embraced—

(1) The return of all whose free will prompted them to do so (7:13).

(2) Ezra's being given magisterial authority over the district "beyond the river" (7:25, 26).

(3) Exemption from taxation to the Levites (7:24).

(4) Conveyance of offerings from the king and his officers (7:15, 19).

II. Ezra Sends to Iddo for Ministers for the Temple Service (vv. 15-20). Before the journey to Palestine was actually begun, Ezra gathered about him his companions who were to accompany him, to see whether they were representative. In this review he discovered that one of the sons of Levi was not among them. So he sent chief men to the house of the Levites, for he knew that the Levites, for their part, were not in the house. In response to his call, 33 Levites and 230 men joined him.

III. Ezra Craves the Guidance of the Lord (vv. 21-23). The journey was full of danger perils. It lay through a hostile land, with Bedouin marauders. Ezra fully conscious of these, and desiring to seek help of the king, procured a fast, in which in deep meditation they sought the guidance and protection of God. This is a fine illustration of the independence, and yet dependence, of the men who fully trust God. His chief concern was for the honor of God's name. He had so reverently and repeatedly spoken to the king of the divine sufficiency that he had to have asked for a guard of soldiers would cause him to blush with shame. In this critical hour they committed themselves to the care of Him who keeps Israel. We should begin our journey, every undertaking, with a new piece of work, every new by seeking the direction of God. Friendship or business interest ever is the best unless God's hand be upon it. We should not go anywhere, engage in any business or have any friendship upon which we may not ask God's blessing and aid. They sought this for themselves, for their children, and all their substance. They knew that as soon as they made God first his blessing would be upon them, and as soon as they forsook him his power would be withdrawn and his wrath would be upon them.

IV. The Treasure Committed to Twelve Priests (vv. 24-30). Combined with their faith in God, we find practical business sense. Honest, trustworthy, good men were selected (v. 28). To such only should be intrusted the Lord's money—gifts offered freely to the Lord by his people. Again, the money was carefully counted and weighed, and the amount set down. The men were held accountable at the end of the journey for everything intrusted to them. Men ought to be held to strict account for everything intrusted to them, to the very last cent. The men to whom this was intrusted were holy; the gifts were God's; they did not belong to any man; they were charged with the obligation to deliver these gifts before the chief priests.

V. The Safe Arrival at Jerusalem (vv. 31-38). The journey lasted four months. They carried with them millions of dollars' worth of treasure, through a region infested with marauding Bedouins, yet God delivered them from their hands. At the end of the journey they testified to the faithfulness of God in bringing them safely on (v. 31). The safe arrival at the end of each day's journey is due to the good hand of our God upon us. After resting three days, the treasure was brought into the temple and burnt offerings were made before the Lord Jehovah.

EXPECT RECORD CROWD OF THE SEASON SUNDAY

With Pitts Cairn Quakers—
Visitors to Arrive Early

The Pitts Cairn Quakers, claimants of two states championships, are looming up stronger each day and one of the best games of the season may be expected. The Pitts Cairn team is composed mostly of college stars who are employed by the Pennsylvania company, and it has the backing of most of the capitalists of the Smoky city. A number of the fans usually accompany the team on its trips. So strong is the team that at one of the games in Virginia a fan placed a wager of $5,000 that the Pitts Cairn outfit would win the game. By their defeat of Youngstown a few weeks ago the team proved the game they are capable of playing.

The work of the officials in last Sunday's game was so satisfactory that they have been engaged for this game so the fans may be sure of absolutely fair decisions on all plays. A preliminary game, starting at 1:30, will be arranged and the big battle will begin at 2:30. The seat sale has been very large, a number of delegations coming from neighboring towns, but there still are a number of good seats which may be reserved. Advance seat sale at Shuman & Dennis cigar store.

College Star In Pitts Cairn Line-up

Bradley, who plays either end or half-back, is a product of the Wesleyan team, West Virginia, and last season with Pete Calvo was the backbone of the scoring machine that made their team famous. He will be seen in uniform Sunday and will play in the backfield on account of his ability at line plunging.

WAR TURNS BASEBALL DOPE TOPSY-TURVEY, BUT BARELY TOUCHES WORLD CHAMPIONS

Drafts and Volunteering Level Most 1918 Pennant Races While It Makes American League a Cinch for White Sox.

The war may change the map of next year's pennant races, not only in the major league but in all minor leagues. Big holes torn in teams by the draft and voluntary enlistments in some leagues will turn things topsy turvy, bringing down 1917 strong teams into the cellar class and elevating the weaker teams.

The minor league teams which last summer stocked up with veterans suffered least by baseball and army drafts, and ought to be contenders in the 1918 pennant scrambles.

Tighter races will result in many leagues because of the evening up of strength by drafts—war and baseball—upon the faster outfits. This will not be true, though, in the American league.

The world series winner practically will face the barrier next spring as it passed under the wire this fall. War has laid a light hand upon Comiskey's aggregation of flag grabbers.

The White Sox make only one sacrifice to the war. That is Joe Jenkins, second string catcher. With Ray Schalk behind the plate the Sox could give away a dozen Jenkinses and not miss them.

But that isn't the only way the war has helped the White Sox. While passing over Comiskey's crew, their strongest opponents, the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians, have been raked fore and aft for diamond artists for camp and trench duty.

Take the Red Sox for example. Of all teams on 1917 form Manager Barry's bunch bid fair to stand in the way of the White Sox next summer. But now it looks like the second division for them. Manager Barry and five of his players will be wearing Uncle Sam's uniforms next summer instead of Harry Frazee's.

PURDUE IS OUT TO MAKE GOOD SHOWING

linois Team at Urbana
Saturday.

Football interest in Indiana for Saturday will be centered on Purdue's effort against Zuppke's squad at Urbana. Although O'Donnell's boilermakers have shown very little this season, they, on paper, seem to have a strong eleven, and when O'Donnell can mold them into an eleven they are likely to show some form.

Purdue has played three games to date and has won one. Their victory was of the hollow style, beating DePauw 7 to 6, only because the DePauw goal kicker failed to boot the ball between the cross-bars for the one point that would have given Buss's men a tie score.

Purdue failed to stop the green Chicago team last Saturday, but still O'Donnell has the material and will be at Urbana Saturday giving Zuppke's charges something to think about. Work this week has been most rigid and reports from the Lafayette camp would indicate the coach is well pleased with the result he has been getting. Huffing is expected back in the game Saturday and his line plunging ability may cause the Urbana contingent some trouble.

Has a Strong Eleven.
Coach Zuppke has a strong eleven and is expecting the Purdue game to give the Illini a good workout for bigger games—the Chicago contest Nov. 3. Zuppke, however, does not want to show his net plays in the Purdue game, as Maroon scouts will be in evidence Saturday.

Two other games will be played in the Big Ten Saturday, but neither of them are expected to have any bearing on the title. Northwestern plays Chicago and Stagg's powerful green eleven is expected to snare a victory, although the runners-up for the conference title last season have been making rapid strides in perfecting their teamwork and may be able to throw a scare into the Maroon camp. Stagg is practically in the same predicament Zuppke is in. Illinois scouts will be at the Northwestern game and Stagg would be chagrined to have to open up his plays so that the Illinois scouts could perfect a defense for them. He will attempt to use straight football in beating Northwestern.

HUGGINS SIGNS TO LEAD THE YANKS

Quits Cardinals for Job as Manager of New York Americans.

New York, Oct. 26.—President Jacob Ruppert, of the New York American league team, has announced he had signed Miller Huggins, retiring manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, to manage the Yankees under a two year contract.

Huggins will succeed William Donovan, who has managed the Yankees for the last three seasons. Huggins conferred with Branch Rickey, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, last week and they were unable to reach terms. He then accepted the offer from New York.

Success With Cards.
Huggins has spent his entire major league career in the National league up to the present. He was purchased by Cincinnati from St. Paul in 1903 and played there until 1910, when he was traded to St. Louis. He was appointed manager of the St. Louis team in 1912, and retired as an active player last season. During his career as manager St. Louis finished third twice, the highest the club has been since 1876.

President Ruppert said Donovan will not be retained in any capacity, although

BY GILMORE DOBIE.

Famous Football Coach, Undefeated for Twelve Years, Now Coaching at the U. S. Naval Academy.

In this series play it is essential that the men move to their positions rapidly after the first part of the play has been completed. If the play is thoroughly learned it should prove very successful and may be used several times in a game without fear of detection.

The men take the regular positions for straight football, three men on each side of the center and the backs about four yards behind the line.

The first play is the straight buck by No. 3, a good gainer which should net some yardage.

As the ball is snapped Nos. 1, 4, 5 and 6 go to positions indicated by arrows in Fig. 1 and set for the second play. No. 2 after passing the ball to No. 3 for the buck takes his position quickly as indicated.

Left tackle and left guard open for No. 3. Other line men block their men, then all five men move quickly about two yards to the right.

After being tackled No. 3 gets up quickly and passes ball with a side pass to No. 2, who runs around end behind interference as indicated in Fig. 2. The two plays should be pulled off so quickly that the defense is taken off its guard.

Ruppert paid an eloquent tribute to the former manager, saying his release caused more grief than anything which has happened during his business career.

Huggins is Optimistic.
Huggins said he had no immediate plans for the team, although he thinks he has the nucleus of a strong squad, and expects to be well up in the race. He will bring with him Thomas Conery, former scout of the Cardinals.

In commenting on Huggins' engagement by the Yankees President John K. Tener, of the National league, said:

"The National league wishes Huggins every success in his new field. He always was a hard worker as a player and manager, and we trust he can make a success of his new position."

Huggins is the ninth manager engaged by the New York Americans since a club was placed in New York, the others being Griffith, Elberfeld, Stallings, Chase, Wolverton, Chance, Peckinpah and Donovan.

GERMANY IS REALIZING WE ARE IN THE WAR

Prussian Mud Batteries Are Turned on President, Army and Navy.

By MILTON BRONNER,
 Of Our Washington Bureau.
 Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—During the past two months the governing powers of Germany and the servile Prussian press have suddenly awakened to the fact that the United States is really preparing to make its voice felt in the world war. This, and the smashing indictment of the Hohenzollerns written by President Wilson in his reply to the pope's last peace proposal, have caused all Germany to talk more of America than of Russia or of peace. The empire has rung with a new hymn of hate, in which we have been the ones they want Gott to strafe. The hymn contains four sections:

- 1—Violent abuse of President Wilson.
- 2—Ridicule for our army and navy.
- 3—Anxious discussion of the indemnity they would like to exact from us.
- 4—Eagerness to get new territory from which they can menace us in the future.

Immediately after the president's note to the pope, all kinds of organizations passed resolutions denouncing Wilson. These formal declarations were sent to the inner circle of the empire.

For instance, the painters of Berlin sent such a telegram to Kaiser Wilhelm, and he replied thanking them for their loyal pledge regarding the "attempt to seduce the German people into a breach of faith against their Kaiser and the empire."

The crown prince proved himself an apt "Me-Too," by thinking the Hamburg chamber of commerce for "the refreshing candor with which the presumption of the American president was deservedly declined."

Ond General Hindenburg—Marshal Backwards—was the busy boy. He did more fighting with his pen than with his sword. He gave out a message assuring Germans that they had placed themselves firmly behind the Kaiser as an answer to the "presumptuous words" of Wilson. A few days later he wired to the Cologne chamber of commerce:

"By his attempt to create disunity President Wilson has succeeded in uniting the German people. I don't doubt that Wilson will receive a clear answer by the seventh war loan. May he in the future continue to be a part of the force which ever intends evil and does good."

Three weeks later he sent a similar message to the Catholic People's Union of Essen, where the Krupp cannon are made.

Count Hertling, prime minister of Bavaria, in an address to the Bavarian diet, attacked Wilson, saying: "What makes his note insufferable and must challenge the shameless protests and his vilification and insults heaped upon the imperial government, as well as the transparent effort to sow dissension between the government and the German people."

The town council of Potsdam, where is located the main residence of the Kaiser, passed resolutions which said: "Filled with contempt, our citizens turn aside from the shameless hypocrite (Wilson) who seeks to hide behind high-sounding idealism his anxiety about the blood-money which he has advanced to his English colleagues." The president is referred to as the "crafty hypocrite who with the simple impudence of an uneducated parvenu has the insolence to interfere in our domestic affairs."

The Rheinische Westphalische Zeitung, munition makers' organ, says the president's note exhibits colossal arrogance and insolence. It continues:

"German self-respect is aroused by these words which act like strokes of a whip. The red flame of fury must rise in the cheeks of every honest German when he reads such production of American bumpkinism. Let submarine warfare go on a little longer and the enemy will learn the character of the German government at the peace conference table, and will then have to accept it as it is."

The Kolische Zeitung, the Frankfurter Zeitung, the Deutsche Tageszeitung and the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, to mention just a few, all parrot-like proclaim that Wilson is insolent and that the German people love their Kaiser.

The solitary exception is Rudolf Kommer, formerly American correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung. He warns his countrymen that the president has the majority of the people behind him and admits American preparations look menacing for Germany.

Next to abuse of the president comes ridicule of our army and navy. Admiral von Tirpitz, chief advocate of submarine frightfulness, in an interview in Budapest, characterized America's military help in the war as a "phantom."

The Leipziger Neueste Nachrichten said "the American regulars resembled Falstaff's guards."

The Weser Zeitung ridicules the statement that 50,000 American troops have already arrived in France and that later a million are coming. It claims America can never find the shipping to transport them and their supplies.

Captain Persius, well-known naval critic in Berliner Tageblatt, tells his readers the American navy cannot do what the allied fleets failed to accomplish.

Admiral Tirpitz recently said submarine warfare was Germany's legal right and that Belgium had received her just deserts. He further declared peace without a heavy war indemnity meant Germany's defeat.

With an eye to future attacks upon America, Emil Zimmerman, in the Vossische Zeitung, demands a great colonial empire in Central Africa, which would be the natural ally of the Latin South and Central American states.

Professor Hans Meyer in Deutsche Politik, wants Germany to grab all of Portugal's African colonies and her islands in the Atlantic as links to the Panama canal and America.

Why Colds Are Dangerous.

It is not only the serious diseases that so often start with a cold that make a cold the most dangerous of the minor ailments, but the fact that when a child has a cold he is much more likely to contract germ diseases such as scarlet fever and diphtheria. TELEPHONE GIRLS.

At Huntington Push Sale of Liberty Bonds.

Huntington, Ind., Oct. 24.—Every person using the telephone here today was greeted with these words, spoken with the sweetness that only a telephone operator can put into her voice: "Buy a Liberty bond—number please." From 7 o'clock this morning until 6 o'clock was the order for the continuance of the practice, and before 8 o'clock nearly everybody in town had learned that Alfred L. Greenman, manager of the company, and every operator in his employ were boosting Uncle Sam's bond sale. It meant much more work for the operators, and the company's kitchen came into use. Hot coffee, sandwiches and apples were served from the kitchen all day to the operators at the expense of the management.

Mr. Greenman thought of the plan last night when he went to his home and was reading the evening paper, telling of the bond sales. He talked it over with his wife, and Mrs. Greenman said she believed in the interest of the government and the boys at the front the public ought not to complain, and the operators would be glad to do their bit.

The public took the new order gracefully, and the girls remained sweet all day in spite of the extra work. As far as known here it is the first time any telephone company has tried such a scheme of advertising Liberty bonds.

RECIPE FOR "WAR BUTTER."

One Pound Made to Produce Two and One-Fourth Pound.

Huntington, Ind., Oct. 24.—J. W. Caswell, principal owner of the Caswell-Rumyan company, a president of the Commercial association, is setting an example for Huntington county people by using "war butter." The butter is made from creamery butter and it yields two and one-fourth pounds for every pound of butter used. Following is the recipe:

"To each pound of butter use one pint of rich milk; one tablespoon of gelatin, one tablespoon of salt. Cream the butter as for cake (squeezing it through the hands). Dissolve the gelatin in a little milk. Heat the rest of the milk to the boiling point, then pour over gelatin (as for pudding) and stir until thoroughly mixed. When about lukewarm warm as new milk pour slowly over the creamed butter (to which has been added the salt) and beat with an egg beater until well mixed smooth and thick. Take a spoon and ladle on a plate, and as you do this each spoonful will set, piling up into firm butter." The butter is used on the Caswell table and for every other purpose except frying.

HERE'S A PATRIOT.

Hartford City, Ind., Oct. 24.—There is said to be a farmer not far from Hartford City who has not sold his wheat for three years. There may be others over the country. Sooner or later the local councils of defense will have these men all spotted. This Blackford county man did not have to go to war. He has bought no Liberty Bond. As a citizen this man may be considered by Uncle Sam as a liability and not an asset. He certainly has shown no patriotism. Do you know of others? If you do now is the time to report the names to the council of defense. This is no time for holding up wheat or anything else. Prices are high enough and there is no excuse for holding large quantities of farm products. It is the poor man who is the hardest pinched.

MRS. MCLEARY DEAD.

Warsaw, Ind., Oct. 24.—Mrs. Reuben McCleary, 65 years of age, died at her home near Leesburg, Wednesday evening, about 8 o'clock, after suffering for three months with Bright's disease. Surviving her are her husband, three children, Fody, Frank and Jesse Cornany, all of near Leesburg; three sisters, Mrs. J. H. White, of Warsaw; Mrs. J. F. Burnett, of Kansas City, and Mrs. D. C. Cox, of Seattle, Wash.; three brothers, Will Fetters, of Strongsville, Neb.; George Fetters, of Noble county, and Fremont Fetters, of South Whitley.

CLARK H. CRONINGER DEAD.

Hartford City, Ind., Oct. 24.—Clark H. Croninger, well known and highly respected resident of this city, died at his home, 519 East Franklin street, at 3:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. Croninger had been in failing health for several years and had been confined to his home since last April, afflicted with locomotor ataxia and other complications. He has been in a critical condition since last Thursday. Mr. Croninger was 63 years old.

WOMAN, 95, HOLDS BOND.

Hartford City, Ind., Oct. 24.—Probably the oldest Liberty Loan bondholder in Hartford City or Blackford county is Mrs. Sarah Allen, age ninety-five, mother of Dr. Ella Hollis, who in addition to knitting for the Red Cross and other wise aiding in war work, has shown her patriotism and good business judgment by investing in Liberty bonds.

NO COAL AT BLUFFTON.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 24.—There is no coal in Bluffton except a very small amount that has been sold and has not yet been delivered. Four yards were interviewed this morning and all of them make the same report. One firm has a small amount of hard coal yet to deliver, but it is all sold.

DEATH AT MONROE.

Monroe, Ind., Oct. 24.—Ephraim C. Bollinger, aged 62, died at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, at his home here. Death was due to Bright's disease and dropsy, from which Mr. Bollinger had been declining for a period of two years.

WARSAW PIONEER DEAD.

Warsaw, Ind., Oct. 24.—Daniel Hirschman, age eighty-two, one of the pioneer residents of Warsaw, and Mrs. Mary Ann Huff, of Mentone, were married here Wednesday evening.

PRESIDENT URGES VOTES FOR WOMEN

Washington, Oct. 24.—Speaking as a party leader and as an individual, President Wilson today urged the woman suffrage issue upon the votes of all states. He told a delegation of 100 members of the New York state women suffrage party that he hoped their campaign would be successful, and urged men of all parties in New York particularly to vote for suffrage.

The war, said the president, has quickened community expressions and made the present a good time for states to express their sentiments at the polls on the suffrage question. He said he would welcome these expressions especially at this time since in the prosecution of the war social foundations must be sound. One basic principle contributing to this condition, he declared, is complete democracy for women.

One of the special curiosities of the fantastic grouping of stars in constellations is the fact that the second-magnitude star Beta Tauri, or El Nath, is also Gamma Aurigae; i. e., it is in two constellations. The last number of L'Astronomie reproduces charts of Taurus and Auriga from Bayer's atlas of 1603, in which Greek letters were first applied to the stars, and here we find the curious feature above mentioned, the bright star in the upper horn of the Bull is one drawing is identical with that in the left heel of Auriga in the other. Nowadays it is more usual to assign this star to Taurus, and leave to Auriga without a Gamma. Scientific American.

APELLA—on a Jolly Hallowe'en

Apella is like a breath of Hallowe'en. Its aroma is that of ripened apples, and its sparkle like the frost in the morning sun. It is snappy and refreshing as the crisp October air.

The unfermented juice of selected apples, Apella is the King of Autumn beverages. It is clarified to a crystal-like transparency, and made to bubble and sparkle. Do not confuse Apella with cider. Compare it instead with champagne, the great aristocrat of drinks, for Apella has a champagne sparkle and a champagne flavor.

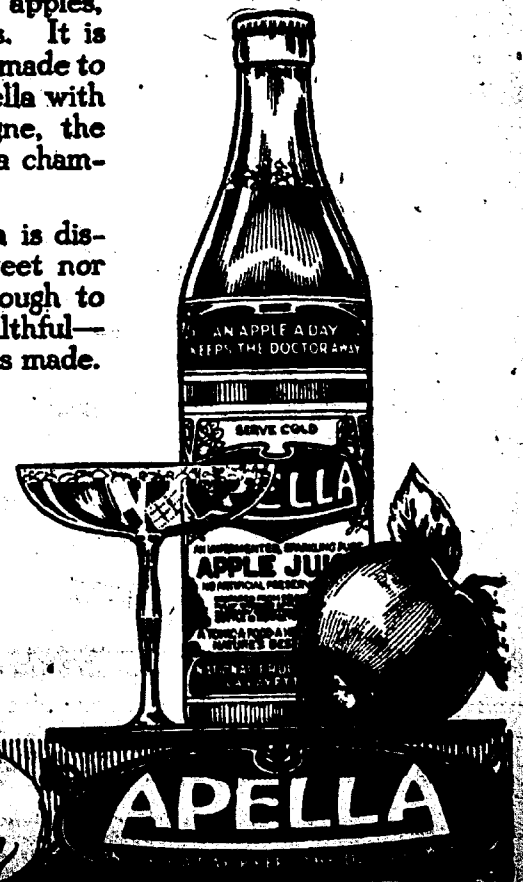

One sip will convince you that Apella is distinctly a new drink. It is neither too sweet nor too tart, but just sweet enough and tart enough to be delightful and fascinating. Apella is healthful—as healthful as the fine fruit from which it is made.

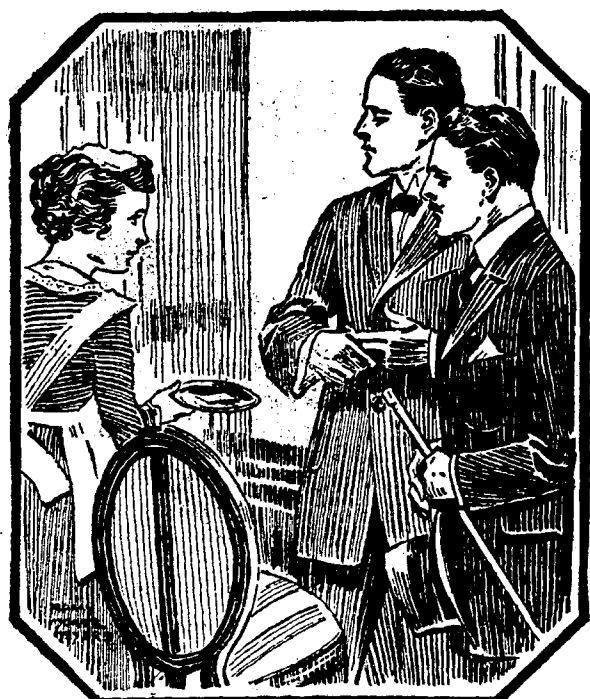

Apella adds to the charm of the mystic Hallowe'en. It is a sparkling, bubbling drink, which promotes good fellowship and laughter.

Get in tune with the season by serving Apella at your Hallowe'en party.

Since the discovery that mercolized wax possesses remarkable absorbent powers when applied to the skin, the more youthful complexion renewer has been tremendous. Druggists in every section report sales as far exceeding those of anything similar they have ever had on their shelves.

Ordinary mercolized wax gently peels off the dehydrated cuticle, in minute particles, so that the user gradually loses her old worn-out complexion, the more youthful under-skin taking its place. Cutaneous eruptions, blotches, moth patches, liver spots and freckles are of course removed at the same time. As the wax is entirely harmless, and easy to use, women all over the country are purchasing it in original packages and using it to quickly rejuvenate their complexions. The wax is applied the same as cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, then washed off with warm water.—Advertisement.

A Unique Parade to Sell Liberty Bonds

Lincoln, Ill., Oct. 24.—Lincoln is a city of 10,000. In ancestry Logan county, in which it is located, is figured as 60 per cent German.

But in this town of 10,000 a mass of 20,000 people march the streets to watch 8,000 people march in a celebration that put Logan county first in Illinois in percentage of liberty loan subscriptions.

How and why? The answer is D. S. Hollenga, secretary of the Lincoln Commercial club and captain of the Home Guards.

He is a Hollander, naturalized only ten years ago. Hollenga gave the day's celebration the slogan, "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself."

He says, and Lincoln agrees, there is no problem of war or peace that the love thy neighbor as thyself slogan will not solve.

FATIGUE NEARLY OVERCOMES WOMAN

"Bringing up several children in the right way and cares of home brought me to the verge of nervous prostration," says a well known woman. "Fearing that I might become ill and have to give up housework and the care of my little ones, created a nightmare that was ever before me. I happened to mention my affliction to one of my neighbors and she advised me to procure some Phosphated Iron. A day or two later when I was feeling unusually miserable I sent my daughter to the drug store for a box of the capsules and after ten days' treatment I felt like a different person altogether. I sleep well at night, something I hadn't done in months before; my appetite is good and in fact what formerly seemed like mountains of work in my home is now more like play. An aunt of mine living over east has been taking Phosphated Iron with equally gratifying results."

Phosphated Iron is put up in capsules only. In this locality it can be obtained at Meyer Bros. four stores, also D. & N. Pharmacy.—Advertisement.

Final Drive for Liberty Loan to be Greatest

TO MAKE SATURDAY CLIMAX OF MIGHTY QUEST OF BILLIONS

Every Federal Reserve District Prepares to Close Campaign With Resounding Smash.

FIVE BILLIONS NOW SEEM A CERTAINTY

Washington, Oct. 26.—With the $3,000,000,000 minimum of the Liberty Loan exceeded by subscriptions treasury officials announced today that the tremendous drive would be continued throughout the country today and tomorrow in an effort to bring the total up to $5,000,000,000.

"From every federal reserve district," it was announced, "come reports showing that plans contemplate making Saturday the final day of the drive the biggest one of all.

"Its returns may even outstrip Liberty Day when all records for a single day's sales were smashed. Some of the largest subscribers have been holding off until the last day and they and an army of wage earners who will draw their pay tomorrow are expected to come forward and take bonds.

"Every possible agency for facilitating the taking of last minute subscriptions will be available." Banks in most cities will remain open not only during Saturday afternoon but also at night.

ITALIAN DEVICE FOR BAFFLING THE HILLS

Wire Cable Carriers Have Been Developed in a Marvelous Way.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Development of the telegraph or wire cable system of transportation of heavy weights over otherwise impassable mountain chasms has been carried to an amazing degree of perfection by the Italian engineers under the pressure of the war and the demands of the army for quick transportation of munitions, supplies and even large pieces of artillery as an incident in the campaign in the Julian Alps.

Reports from the battlefields received here today describe one such system spanning a valley two-thirds of a mile deep, the cable swinging in one stretch from peak to peak, a length of four kilometers, or considerably over two miles, and capable of carrying twelve ton loads, while another cable, five kilometers long, or about two and two-thirds miles, and suspended over a gulf nine hundred yards deep, is able to transport loads as large as fourteen tons which would easily include heavy siege guns with the barrel separated from the carriage. The Italian engineers have become so expert that they constructed some of these aerial systems in twenty-four hours and they have already built more than two thousand kilometers of them.

VICTORY OF FRENCH VAST

Pétain's Big Drive Pushes Crown Prince's Army Far Back.

Evidences of the German Demoralization Found on Prisoners.

With French Armies, Thursday, Oct. 25.—(By The Associated Press.) The French have reached the Aisne canal and Laon, eight miles away, in sight. Following up the victory of Tuesday, the French today took Montigny mountain, east of Vauxaillon, the village of Pinon and the forest of the same name as well as the village of Pargny-Filain.

Certain demoralization in the German command is shown by contradictory orders found on prisoners. The question is asked whether another retreat is intended. Crossing the battlefield in the vicinity of Vauxaillon and Saint Guillaime, the correspondent obtained ample evidence of the extent of the splendid French victory.

Hundreds of prisoners in large groups were making their way to the rear, marching without escort. Damaged machine guns lay everywhere, while scattered around were heaps of munition, cannons and immense quantities of military material.

French Fire Terrible.
Many Germans were captured in the enormous cavern of Fruity. The approaches were battered severely and large holes had been torn in the roof, demonstrating the power and accuracy of the French artillery. Not an inch of ground hereabouts had been left unchanged. The caverns were about one kilometer in length with many exits, most of which had been damaged greatly by the French guns. When the French infantry dashed forward in the darkness they approached the entrances and found them full of Germans, waiting for the moment of attack. Hand grenades and smoke-bombs soon brought them out with their hands raised in token of surrender.

Tanks Do Great Work.
Meanwhile the tanks had advanced with the infantrymen until the second German position was reached, destroying on the way any nest of machine guns staying the progress of the French troops. The tanks advanced several kilometers during which they met and demolished many machine gun nests. One tank was opposed by a determined German officer with a large body of men, who poured bullets upon the armored sides of the machine without effect. Finally the French officer in command descended from the tank and with his revolver forced the whole group to surrender.

Another tank found a battery of field guns facing it. As soon as the tank opened fire half of the artillerymen threw up their hands, while the remainder bolted only to fall beneath a hail of machine gun bullets from the monster.

French Are Business-Like.
Today the French advance proceeded rapidly and the units reached the various objects with regularity. After taking the village of Pignon the patrols went forward and entered the forest of the same name. They found many German cannon abandoned but with the breach blocks gone. Dead horses killed by the German gunners lay beside the cannon.

The Germans had found it impossible to get the weapons upon the marshes adjoining the Aisne canal, over which the bridges had been de-

BALDWIN WORKS BREAKS RECORD IN LOCOMOTIVES

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 26.—Under the pressure of government business in turning out locomotives for use in France, the Baldwin Locomotive works has established a record in output which far exceeds anything ever attempted in the history of the company. Last week the Baldwin works turned out seventy-two locomotives. This is at the rate of more than 2,500 a year compared with 1,989 for last year and 2,656 in 1906, which was the previous record year. The company is employing an army of 20,000 men.

URGES WOMEN TO DO PART

President of General Federation of Clubs in an Appeal.

SPEAKS IN BEHALF OF CAMP RECREATION

Mrs. Cowles Anxious That Clubs Do Not Default in This Duty.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Johia Evans Cowles, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, today made public a letter which she has sent to all federated women's clubs throughout the country, urging support for the war camp community recreation fund.

"I am particularly anxious," writes Mrs. Cowles, "that the federated clubs play an important and effective part in this important service. Experience at camps already established has shown the necessity of wholesome environment. The novelty of camp life quickly wears off, the routine drill and instruction soon pall, if the nearby community does not afford adequate means of relaxation. The cities, big and little, near the camps will do their best to improve existing conditions in that respect, but without the aid of a national fund it will be impossible to supply the equipment and the trained personal service necessary to make a recreation system a success.

"The task with which I would charge you is that of urging prompt action upon and giving active aid to our local commercial or civic body which has been asked to assume responsibility for the quota of the national fund. If no public effort is inaugurated within the next few days to raise the quota for your city will you not, as a club, assume responsibility for the campaign?"

The national campaign for funds for the war camp community recreation service will reach its height in the week of November 4 to 10.

GOVERNMENT OF ITALY LOSES ON THE TEST VOTE

Rome, Thursday, Oct. 25.—The government was defeated in the chamber of deputies today when a vote of confidence failed by 314 to 96.

The Italian parliament reopened its sessions less than two weeks ago. A dispatch from Turin on October 17, said that the position of the government was endangered because of the serious riots in Turin during the latter part of August and because of the general food crisis throughout Italy. The food controller, Giuseppe Cuneppe, resigned, owing to the food situation. The dispatch said that the government would be called upon by parliament to justify its action.

The Rome correspondent of the Petit Parisien reported political crisis in Italy were convinced that Minister of the Interior Orlando shortly would be called upon to form a national ministry.

When the Salandra ministry resigned in July, 1916, it was succeeded by the present Bozelli cabinet, which was reconstituted June 7, 1917.

AMERICANS ARE IN A GLOW OVER FRENCH SUCCESS

American Training Camp in France, Oct. 25.—(Thursday.)—(By The Associated Press.)—Major General Sibt, returning from around Soissons, where he witnessed part of the French offensive of the Aisne front, said that the French losses had been extremely small, because of the effectiveness of the artillery preparations. He and the other American officers were enthusiastic over the importance of the French victory, especially as to the amount of material and number of prisoners taken. The American officers were impressed greatly with the preponderance of the French artillery over the German.

CONVENTION COMES TO END

Mrs. John Edward Moore, of Kokomo, to Head State Federation.

PRAYERS URGED FOR SOLDIERS AT FRONT

Mrs. Fred McCulloch is Elected General Federation Secretary.

The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Indiana Federation of Clubs closed a three days' session at noon Friday. Mrs. E. C. Rumpier, of Indianapolis, first vice president and re-elected to the office again, presided over the final session. As soon as the report of the election board was made by the chairman, Mrs. C. S. Ridenour, of Fort Wayne, Mrs. Rumpier introduced the newly elected officers, who are:

President—Mrs. John Edward Moore, of Kokomo.
First Vice President—Mrs. E. C. Rumpier, of Indianapolis.
Second Vice President—Mrs. William W. Reed, Warsaw.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Blanche Sawyer Boruff, of Bedford.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Emogene Taft Lesh, of Muncie.
Treasurer—Mrs. William A. Morris, of Frankfort.

Auditor—Mrs. A. W. Roach, of Richmond.
General Federation Secretary—Mrs. Frederick H. McCulloch, Fort Wayne. Trustee for Three Years' Term—Mrs. A. T. Cox, of East Chicago.

The morning was taken up in listening to reports from each of the thirteen districts of the state regarding work done by the clubs. These reports were limited to three minutes and were read by the chairmen of their representatives. The South Bend Woman's club led in accomplishment for the short period of its organization, five months. Crown Point and the Tenth district received the gavel, a reward of merit for bringing in the most new clubs into the federation. An introduction in the program was allowed by the convention permitting a ten minutes' report from the Liberty bond movement among the clubs and was enthusiastically received. Mrs. McCulloch was one of the speakers.

Memorials were read for Mrs. Charles M. Walker, Mrs. Julia Fried Walker, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Hawley, of Huntington. When the newly elected officers were introduced they were warmly received individually and gave expression to brief thanks to their supporters and voiced their loyalty to the federation. Mrs. Moore received beautiful floral tributes from her district.

The Indiana slogan was sung and the federation adjourned with a general expression of having attended sessions of remarkable interest and entertainment.

Text of Resolutions.
The text of the resolutions which were read to the convention by Mrs. Charles P. Drummond, of South Bend, chairman of the resolutions committee, on Thursday, were adopted Friday morning without discussion. SUPREME COURT OF STATE KILLS SUFFRAGE LAW

High Tribunal Declares Partial Ballot Law Passed by Last Session Is Unconstitutional.

A PAINFUL BLOW TO WOMEN OF STATE

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 26.—The Indiana woman suffrage law was held to be unconstitutional by the Indiana supreme court today. As a result of this thousands of women who expected to vote at the municipal elections to be held next month will not be permitted to do so.

Justice Harvey dissented from the decision of the other three justices of the court. Justice Spencer wrote the decision, it being concurred in by Justices Meyers and Lairy.

The supreme court held that under the present Indiana constitution which defines voters as "male citizens," the legislature did not have the authority to confer the right of franchise on women as it attempted to do when in session in 1917. The court held the question before it to be constitutional only and did not take up the contentions of the interests attacking the law that to permit women to vote would cause great additional expense and much confusion.

Suffrage Not Inherent Right.
In its decision the court said the right of suffrage was not a natural or inherent right but purely a political privilege and was a matter for the people to decide in their capacity as creators of the constitution or organic law. Discussing the argument of the lawyers for the women that the legislature could give women the privilege of voting regardless of the provision of the constitution that electors must be

HONORABLE OLD CUSTOM PASSES INTO DESUETUDE

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The time honored custom of giving free beer and whisky to policemen has been abandoned by breweries and saloons of Chicago, it was announced today by the liquor dealers' association.

Beginning Nov. 1, the policeman on the beat must pay for his drinks the same as other customers. The dealers say the high cost of beer and whisky and increased taxes have caused them to take the action.

Summary of the Day's War News

(By the Associated Press.)

From the heights of the Aisne the German crown prince is being driven back relentlessly toward the fortress of Laon and perhaps to a general retreat along a line from St. Quentin to the Champagne.

His strongholds were wrenched from him, 12,000 troops made prisoner, many thousands slain and wounded and 120 big guns lost. The predicament of the crown prince is most serious.

Gen. Pétain's great smash of Tuesday opened the way for further advances and the Germans were forced back to the Oise-Aisne canal, evacuating valuable positions in their retreat. More than 2,000 additional prisoners and many big guns fell into French hands.

Laon, the fortress at the southern end of the Hindenburg line, is now but eight miles from the French lines, and Pétain's big guns can smash it at will. East of Chavignon, the center of the French advance, stretches the Ailette river, on the southern bank of which the Germans have been fighting desperately to hold back the French for several months. From the newly captured positions the French can sweep the German defenses with torrents of artillery fire.

Every foot gained by Gen. Pétain in the Chavignon salient weakens the line northward through La Fere to St. Quentin. The French already are on three sides of La Fere and St. Quentin has all but fallen into allied hands several times since the German retreat of last spring.

A retirement from La Fere to a line running north from Laon would endanger the entire German positions on the western front as far north as Ypres.

Probably the two most important salients on the western front from the sea to Verdun are those east of Ypres and

VETERAN ENGINEER
HOLDS WORLD'S RECORDJohn Francis Mitchell Has Traveled Total of $3,000,- 000 Miles.

JOHN FRANCIS MITCHELL

Newark railroad, now the Lake Erie division of the B. & O. For six years he doubled this division every day except Sunday, giving him his first start of 300,000 miles on rail.

Becomes Fireman.
At the age of eighteen years Mitchell, owing to his sterling qualities and extreme modesty and politeness had become a great favorite with the trainmen, was given a position as fireman with the B. & O., which had acquired the old S. M. & N. railroad, calling it the Lake Erie division. Mitchell only fired a short time on freight until he was given a place as a passenger fireman. Soon after the B. & O. drove the line into Chicago, in 1875, Mr. Mitchell was promoted to engineer and transferred to the Chicago division, where he has remained ever since.

Forty Years on Passenger.
In 1877, the year of the first great railroad strike, Mitchell was given a passenger engine, which place he holds today, pulling fast express trains Nos. 12 and 14 between Garrett and Chicago Junction. Coupled with his long years of service at the throttle this veteran engineer has to his credit a long list of very exceptionally fast runs, and all the officers of the road, from the president down, are pleased when they are informed that Mitchell is to pull their special.

Accidents Also.
Mr. Mitchell has by no means been free from accidents (the accounts of which he is loath to speak of), having had three firemen killed while on duty with him. Mr. Mitchell told The Sentinel that the strict accountability that is placed on firemen both by the various states and railroad companies, and the excellent braking power now in use, has reduced accidents in a very large measure.

Free From Censure.
While he has a long list of accidents to his credit, he is justly proud of the fact that he has not been counted as the guilty party, but owing to his eagerness to bring his trains in on time and the lack of that protection which he should have had can be accounted for all, or nearly so, the accidents which he is compelled to father.

Right here let it be said that John Mitchell always made his fast runs and pulled off his wrecks out on the road, and not on the streets, cigar stores, or boarding houses. In Garrett, his home town, he is seldom seen away from home except going out or coming in from his runs. He was among the first railroad men at Garrett to purchase an automobile, and takes great pleasure in running the same. His home was for years adjacent to the city where he owned a small farm, but the city has now surrounded him, and the rise in value of land has induced him to dispose of nearly all his land. Mr. Mitchell has always been very temperate in his habits and very rarely misses making his regular runs, and in years gone by made many extra which has helped to put him in the fair field at Chicago in 1893 Mr. Mitchell doubled the division between Garrett and Chicago a great portion of the time on account of the heavy travel and a lack of engineers.

Five Years Ahead.
Owing to the rules of his road Mr. Mitchell has five years yet to serve, and if no accident befalls him in that time will be permitted to add about 300,000 to his credit. This sketch would not be complete were we to omit the fact that the man for whom he fired a long time on passenger and who helped to school him is still living at Garrett, Reuben Lantz, now past the seventy mark and on the retired list, but who looks on "Johnnie" as of his production of which he is justly proud.

HUNTERS GOING TO MAINE.

The exodus of Hoosier hunters on account of the opening of the game season in Maine has commenced and is going to be greater than ever. Agents W. N. Burger, of the Wabash, has just arranged for carrying twenty-five hunters from this territory to Greenville Junction, Me., leaving for Wayne tomorrow. The greater portion of the party will come from Portland, Decatur and Geneva, but there will be five or six from this city.

INJURES HIS FOOT.

S. J. Jackson, blacksmith at the Pennsylvania, injured his foot by dropping a heavy piece of iron on the member. Mr. Jackson's injuries will lay him up for some time.

Shippers Should Pack
Their Freight.

How shippers of the Pennsylvania railroad can aid in avoiding the waste and destruction of more than $2,000,000 worth of freight every year is shown in loss and damage bulletin No. 7 which has just been issued by the company. The purpose of the bulletin is to urge shippers to pack their goods properly and to use containers that are strong enough to stand transportation.

The value of freight injured in transit on the Pennsylvania railroad has doubled since the war. This is due, in a very considerable extent, to efforts on the part of shippers to economize in the use of packing materials, and to the use of weak or second hand containers.

The bulletin is illustrated with a series of photographs showing actual examples of improper packing and the collapse of weak containers. One picture shows a shipment of axes, which have broken through paper boxes never intended to carry such hardware. Another illustrates a damaged shipment of macaroni which had been packed in light paper boxes. Other pictures illustrate similar conditions encountered in shipment of denim, cotton yarn, cotton piece goods and sheeting.

The bulletin says in part: "You are not responsible for all of this. We do some of it. That is the reason we want to co-operate with you to stop it. We are doing our best to handle your goods properly, but it is hard to do when containers are so light they won't hold together."

"You can help by using stronger containers. Boxes should be strong enough to carry the commodity safely. By packing your goods properly, by crating your furniture better and by marking your goods plainly and removing all old marks."

"We appreciate your desire for economy in packing your goods in these days of high prices for wood, nails, paper, etc., but as we said before, we believe if packages are prepared better it will save money for both of us."

G. E. COMPANY MEN

LEAD IN SUBSCRIPTIONS

Are Closely Followed by Pennsylvania Western Division in Contest

Ever since the inauguration of the liberty bond campaign, there has been a friendly, but intense rivalry between the General Electric employees and the employees of the Western division of the Pennsylvania, in the effort to make the greatest showing in the way of amount of subscriptions. At noon today the General Electric was in the lead, $8,000, but as the campaign is practically over at that big plant and still in progress on the railroad, the tables may be turned before the end of the week. At noon today the subscriptions at the General Electric works had reached $102,000 and on the Western division of the Pennsylvania they had reached $186,100, there being 2,382 subscribers represented in the latter figures. Enough territory remains to be heard from to carry this total ahead several thousand dollars and strenuous efforts are being made to accomplish it, the committees assert. The Pennsylvania shops raised $83,100 of the $186,000 credited to the entire division, leaving $102,900 to the credit of the other departments of the division. All of the other industries of the city made a creditable showing, but none came anywhere near the amount of the contributions of the G. E. and the Pennsylvania, though the percentage in proportion to the number of employees was equal in some cases to that of the two companies named. Last June the General Electric employees subscribed $151,751 dollars for bonds, and with the sum just subscribed, the total sales among the employees of the company is $342,751. The exact amount of the subscriptions by the Pennsylvania employees last June was not available to the reporter this morning, but the proportion of the present and the past sales last June are about the same as the General Electric works.

system are making," said one of the men engaged in canvassing work. "The work is not complete and we cannot give accurate statements concerning the result," he continued, "but we are assured that the amount will be much greater than was the sales last June. We have no shops or terminals on this division to help out, and must confine ourselves to the maintenance of way and transportation departments. These are doing nobly," he said. Engaged in the sale of bonds on the G. R. & I. are Division Engineer R. G. Jones, Trainmaster T. S. Fox, Division operator J. F. Betta, Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lophshire, Assistant Division Engineer W. S. Renz, Master Carpenter H. M. Large and Chief Clerk C. H. Tompkins. There are in the neighborhood of 900 employees on the division, but a number are working in terminals and the greater portion of these get in the lists of bond subscribers of the lines which handle the terminal work of the G. R. & I.

RESIGNATIONS DECREASING.

Bad Weather Has a Salutary Effect
Upon Shopmen.

Employment Agent W. F. Melching, of the General Electric works, says that the bad cold weather of the past week is having its good effects on the pay rolls of that big factory. There are fewer resignations than there were some weeks ago, when the weather was warm and pleasant, and consequently not so many vacancies occur to be filled by new men and women. "We are still hiring men and women, however," Mr. Melching said, "but applicants are not as numerous as they were."

STORY WAS EXAGGERATED.

The story that a coal famine actually existed at the Wabash coal docks and shops which was so widely circulated this morning seems to have been exaggerated. "We have plenty of coal at the docks for locomotive purposes and five car loads are on the tracks available for shop purposes whenever needed," said one of the local officials. "There have been times when the supply of fuel at the docks and the shops was exceedingly low, but the conditions have improved," he continued.

ONLY FOUR DAYS TO WORK.

Three of the employees of the Pennsylvania shops have only four more days to work for the company. They are seventy years old and must retire to the "honor roll" next Wednesday, the last of the month. P. J. Scheid, foreman of the car machine shop, began work in 1889; William Conrad, a passenger truck repairman, began work at the shops in 1889, and William Schoepke, a shop hand, began work in 1893.

EYES FILLED WITH DUST.

Yesterday, while at work in the Pennsylvania store room, A. Axien had the misfortune to get his eyes filled with dust. He washed the foreign substance from the optics as well as possible and continued at work. This morning, however, he had to knock off work and seek the aid of Dr. S. H. Havice, the company's oculist.

GO TO CAMP TAYLOR.

P. J. Plummann, foreman of the Pennsylvania cabinet maker gang, and R. H. Lauman, of the same shop, have left for Camp Taylor. The former visits his brother-in-law and the latter his son.

Harry Cashdollar, timekeeper in the dynamo assembling department of the General Electric works, is sick and failed to show up for work this morning.

D. E. Guy, division storekeeper of the Wabash, is in his office again after being out on the road several days looking after the affairs of the department at various points.

A. R. Phillips, traveling passenger agent for the New York Central, was a business caller in the city yesterday. Mr. Phillips was formerly ticket agent in Fort Wayne of the company.

D. J. Trall, of the Union Pacific; A. V. Bower, of the Northwestern; J. C. Pond, of the Soo, and E. H. Montgomery, of the Interstate Dispatch, traveling agents, were in the city yesterday.

Walter Fulton has been transferred from the maintenance department of the General Electric works, Foreman Henry Stahlhut to the assembling department of the induction motor room, to act as a crane operator.

A steam derrick from Elkhart was here yesterday unloading structural steel for the Osgood street subway under the N. Y. C. line. The installation of the bridge will be made at once.

Albert Blume, of the transportation department of the General Electric, had a finger crushed Wednesday when a heavy casting he was handling, fell upon the digit. He will be off duty several days as a result of the accident.

WEATHER PROVES
A FACTOR IN CORN

Moisture and High Temperature Sends Price to Higher Level.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 26.—Sharp new advances in the value of corn resulted today from widespread moisture and warmth which if continued might result in serious damage to millions of bushels. Opening quotations which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1 1/4c higher with December $1.20 to $1.20 1/4 and May $1.14 to $1.14 1/4, were followed by slight set-backs and then a material upturn all around. The close was heavy 1/4c to 1 1/4c net lower with December $1.19 and May $1.13 1/4 to $1.13 1/2.

Liberal selling in which one of the largest elevator concerns was conspicuous virtually offset the corn price. Continued jumps in land prices at Liverpool hoisted the provision market here.

The school children gave several musical selections, which were followed by the hanging of a beautiful photograph of Mr. Study. The ceremony was closed by a duet by Principal Leverton and Miss Dochterman.

Here, Writes Interesting Letter.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kleinknight, of Bluffton, is in receipt of the following letter from their son, Chalmer, who enlisted last week at the Fort Wayne recruiting station; and is now at Fort Thomas, Ky.:
"Dear Mother and all:
"As I finally reached my destination I will write you a few lines. I got in Indianapolis about 7:30 Saturday evening. There was a man at the station to meet us. He took us down to the office and examined us and all passed. There were four of us. Then he took us down to the restaurant and got our supper. We had bread and butter, coffee, fried potatoes, fish baked beans and I could have said more if I wanted it. We had to report up again at the office at ten the evening. He then took us to Cincinnati. The train was due at 10:30 but it was several hours late so they sent us to Richmond. We got there at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. We had to wait until about four and then we got on a train and got at Cincinnati at seven this morning. We then took a street car across the Ohio river, over into Kentucky and got here about eight o'clock. They took our measure for our uniforms and this is as far as have gotten. They have not examined us yet. This is a fine place but it is so hilly. There are some high hills everywhere and the sun seems to come up in the south to me. This morning I am sitting in the Y. M. C. A. building. There is a preacher talking and they are playing the piano and singing. "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," just like they sang at the tabernacle at Ossian. They are now singing "Thy Church in the Wilderness." They have good singing. It makes me think of Emmaus. I couldn't eat all of my lunch so I gave it to my fellow men. am feeling fine and am anxious to go to work and do what I can. I have seen some fine sights but I did not do the traveling after night. Well I must close. Love to all, from your son Chalmer."

Buy Sherman's Clothes And Make Your Dollars Ring

Over The 100% Mark In Value

In real clothes value—buying your clothes at Sherman's is no speculation, is not taking a chance, for every garment in the store must measure up to our one set standard of quality—a value that goes far above the 100 per cent mark, a more than dollar-for-dollar clothes proposition for you to consider before you do your buying.

Our Quality is Your Protection

We are not dreamers, if it was possible to retain price and give our same quality as always, we certainly, as operators of a large chain of stores throughout the country, would be more in a better position than the one-man merchant.

We know the buying public are not having nightmares as to the conditions of the country today. You read in the magazines and newspapers every day about every article that enters into the making of clothes has advanced from 50% to 100%, making it impossible for any merchant to sell today the same quality at the same price, as a year ago, and we want to assure you this, that if you buy at old prices you buy a cheapened quality.

Here Are Facts

Take for instance your white collars, they have raised in price twice in the last year—why—to maintain quality, because like Sherman's Clothes they are sold the nation over, and alike would not consider jeopardizing reputation by lowering quality—no clothing merchant, if he wants to tell the truth, and be honest with the public about the clothes he is selling, he cannot make any other statement than we have made.

Our patrons we consider our greatest assets—we want to feel that the men that buy Sherman's Clothes are receiving the greatest value there is in the world for their money.

JUST ONE PRICE

NOMORE NO LESS

$12.50

We Guarantee You a Saving of $5 to $8

There is not a garment in our store that is not a real $18 to $20 suit or overcoat—our factory direct to you plan eliminates for you the ordinary retailer's profit of $5 to $8. Clothes even selling for $25 and $30 are not superior in style or appearance.

EVERY KNOWN PATTERN AND STYLE—you will find in this great assortment of the newest, most up-to-date suits—topcoats and overcoats at our factory price $12.50. Much larger assortment than the regular clothing stores have with their entire various prices and you won't be asked "to pay just a little more" at Sherman's to find the kind of garment you want.

For you have your unrestricted choice of any suit, topcoat or overcoat in the store at our one and only factory price $12.50, guaranteed to give you absolute satisfaction in every detail or your money back.

PRESIDENT EXEMPTS SOUTH WHITLEY MAN

First Case in Which the District Board Has Been Reversed.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 26.—Ellis Miller, son of Mrs. Mary Miller, residing south of South Whitley, whose claim for exemption on agricultural grounds was denied by the district board at Fort Wayne recently, was exempted on appeal to the president.

who reversed the decision of the district board. Miller is the first man to have applied to the president receiving exemption. Other cases have been brought up from Whitley county, but have either been turned down or not yet heard from.

Columbia City Brief Items.
Floyd Estlick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Estlick, of Troy township, and Miss Alice Adair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Adair, of Noble county, were motored to Centerville, Mich., Tuesday and married there. They will reside at the home of the groom's parents.

The Boy Scouts continued to hustle with the sale of Liberty bonds Thursday, their last day of the campaign. Up to Thursday evening they had sold $55.30 worth, including a $1,000 subscription by the Eagles order and $150 by the Marquette club, of this city. The Boy Scouts in Columbia City have proven very effective in their work, and the fact that they have raised over one-eighth of the county's quota of $437,000, attests to their activities. They were directed in their work by Scoutmaster John T. Clapham.

Mrs. Arthur Stouff and babe, of Mt. Kisco, N. Y., arrived here Friday to visit the former's mother, Mrs. Edward Sell. Mrs. Stouff is making her first visit here since she was married four years ago, her husband now being engaged in the auto business at Mt. Kisco.

The sale of Big Type Poland hogs Wednesday afternoon on the George Klester farm, northwest of Elma, was one of the biggest and most successfully conducted this year. The total amount was $2,420. A male hog, Buster Prince, sold for $110; a brood sow with six pigs, brought $110; and another with seven pigs, $127.50. Gifts and bear pigs brought from $25 to $75.

Leo Guy, a relative of Jacob Pletcher, deputy postmaster of this city, who was terribly mangled in the gears of machinery in the Cincinnati and Northern coal docks, at Hudson, Mich., several months ago, and who obtained a $35,000 verdict against the railroad company, which appealed to the supreme court, has again won out, the higher court sustaining the decision of the lower court. As a result of his injuries Guy had to have amputation of his left arm and right arm at the wrist. His face was badly mutilated and part of the jaw-bone was removed. Despite his almost helpless condition, Guy is able to feed himself and gets about quite actively.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carter left Wednesday for Springfield, Ill., to attend the wedding of their son, Arthur B. Carter, of Chicago, to Miss Ruth Wright, the ceremony occurring Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents in Springfield. Following their marriage the young couple will reside in Chicago.

Pennies are becoming scarce in Columbus City and it is hard to obtain them from clearing houses in Chicago. The new war taxes have created a sudden demand for the coppers and pennies now figure in almost every cash transaction.

Walter, four year old son of Charles Pontzius, northwest of the city, fell from a carpenter's trestle Thursday and broke both bones of the left forearm. Dr. D. S. Linvill was called to set the injury.

Mrs. Will Oberkiser, accompanied by her father, Samuel Raber, left Thursday for Louisville, Ky., to remain until Friday with her husband, who was transferred Friday from Camp Taylor to Camp Shelby. Hattiesburg, Miss.

The American Defense society, of which Mrs. Hugo Logan, of this city, is local representative, will put on a movie play, "The Man Without a Country," next Tuesday evening at the Yuccum theater.

Undertaker Joseph F. Huff, formerly of this city, is spending a few days here and next Wednesday moves his family from here to Logansport, where he is now engaged in business.

Mrs. Fred Yontz went to Warsaw Friday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Weick.

W. F. Rossman, well known hardware dealer of this city, has been recommended as county coal administrator to State Coal Dictator Evans Woolen, at Indianapolis. Mr. Rossman will name several assistants on a committee and Mr. Rossman will gladly give his time to the arduous task before him. The situation as regards coal in Columbia City has been looked after, as a result of the coal census Wednesday and subsequent report to the state coal dictator. There is also a shortage of coal in the rural districts and rural customers are being treated the same as city customers. No hoarding is being permitted and all are being curtailed in amount received.

GIVING ITS MAN REVERSE BOOST.

If the wanton and reckless mendacity of his organ afford any true criterion of the status of Mr. Cutshall's mayoralty campaign his candidacy has proceeded into rather desperate straits.

Last evening's contribution to the general mass of falsehood has among other details this:

We note in the Nizer organs a decided tendency to back water. It is now stated that Fort Wayne's disloyal element is "small." Yet only two days ago and Fort Wayne was a hot-bed of treason simply overrun with disloyalists. Apparently Cousin Nizer has begun to hear things that are not pleasant.

No line or word, no expression whatsoever, that has appeared in this newspaper has either stated or implied what is charged in that brief paragraph. Persistently this newspaper has said that Mr. Cutshall and his managers have been playing to catch the "handful" of disloyalists in Fort Wayne. That much we repeat, taking occasion now to add to what long has been patent in the design and effort of Mr. Cutshall, his steering committee and his newspaper to secure his election by an insidious appeal to the German-American element in this city upon a suppositions likelihood that its sentiments could be incited against the democratic party and candidates upon the ground of the war. That has been the steadfast and palpable course of Mr. Cutshall's organ since last April.

There is neither great merit nor essential profit in proving that a liar does lie, but it may interest some to have a singular exhibition of it. On Thursday, the 18th inst., The Sentinel printed an editorial of which this is the opening paragraph:

In an affidavit Anselm Fuebler denies that at the Harman school Cutshall meeting Monday night he used the language imputed to him in respect of the war. "IN AFFIDAVITS FOUR OF THE MEN PRESENT ON THAT OCCASION—TWO OF THEM CANDIDATES ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET AND ANOTHER A REPUBLICAN OFFICER—AFFIRM THAT MR. FUEBLER DID NOT EMPLOY THE WORDS AScribed TO HIM. Last Saturday's issue of the Cutshall organ addressed itself to this newspaper after this manner:

"The paper with a conscience" displays the quality of this conscience when it states that "Anselm Fuebler in an affidavit" denies the statement accredited to him by Galt Shober, of the Nizer campaign coteries. Instead of there being the single affidavit of Mr. Fuebler, there were several more by citizens of unimpeachable integrity. Yet the "paper with a conscience" makes no reference to this fact. It merely speaks of Mr. Fuebler's and then proceeds to cast all the odium of suspicion upon this that it is able to do. It knows, of course, that the malodorous Shober lied, and it knows it not only by Shober's bad character but by the affidavits of the respectable citizens who refute him. Yet it accepts the Shober declaration and proceeds to argue from this vicious premise. Hell is plastered with "consciences" of this kind.

Now that isn't merely untruth. It is senility—palpable, hoar, pernicious and, unhappily in this instance, premature. The thing we are abused as having omitted is there plain, unmistakable and inescapable. What the Cutshall organ says transcends conscious falsehood. It betrays infirmity—a diseased and perhaps no longer controllable mind responding to the reflexes of that impulse which was its normal dominant.

We began with a purpose to pillory a liar and are brought up at the end pitying a fool. And so, brethren, dismiss all that hereto precedes and bear in mind and cherish tenderly that—

"The greatest of these is Charity."

CANNOT BE TOO MUCH.

There still is danger that the subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan may not be enough. There is no possibility that the subscriptions can be too much. The heavier the total the better it will be with all of us. Don't halt, don't slacken, don't abate an effort so long as the subscriptions are open. Make the aggregate enough and more than enough to realize the highest hopes of the government and the strongest expectations of all militant patriots.

The great smash of the last two or three days has carried the total of subscriptions substantially beyond the minimum figures fixed, but the farther and greater goal is still a good way off. Confidence is expressed in the final attainment of the five billion-dollar subscription, but this confidence will turn out to have been misplaced unless the people throughout the country who are able to subscribe and ought to subscribe shall do so before tomorrow night. Those who have not made application for bonds should lose no more time. Those who have subscribed and are able to make additional subscription ought to do so. It is not unreasonable to ask well-to-do subscribers to subscribe again. They sacrifice nothing. They add to a gilt-edge investment. They put their money where it will work steadily and where it is perfectly safe.

We now are at a stage of the war where the tremendous success of this second Liberty Loan will count for a good deal more than the mere potentialities of money. The psychological and moral effects of a vast oversubscription are inestimable. Germany is in the throes of another political crisis. Her armies are being steadily hammered, beaten and driven back on the west front. The German demonstration in the Gulf of Riga appears to have been checked by the strength of the Russian resistance. General Cadorna is fairly holding his own against the mighty smash of the Austro-German combined attack on the Isonzo front, where the Teutons had made prodigious preparation for hurling back the Italians and inflicting a crushing defeat that would blast the way for putting Italy out of the war. Austria's spirit for the war is at a low ebb and she is ready to make any sort of a peace that Germany will permit. America can emphasize the value of the whole situation of the war by coming to the front right now with an overwhelming pledge of her purpose to continue on in the righteous course she has chosen without setting limits to the use of her illimitable resources. No one thing that the country is able at this time to do can so thoroughly demoralize the German spirit for strife as making this second Liberty Loan a five billion dollar tender from the people to the government. The German morale at the front no less than in the mass of the people is far down and still diminishing. Let us keep it going down.

And all we are asked to do is to lend the government our money—not to surrender our bodies as the heroic young men have done and are doing; not to endure hardship, or face death, as they must do; not to sacrifice our money or other substance, but merely to let the government have our cash in exchange for perfect security and at good interest. That is not difficult. It is not even unpleasant. It should be the pleasure and solace of every patriotic American to let go of the last dollar he can for a time do without in order that his government may make its strongest fight that his country may be safe, and that its dignity may be upheld, that its rights may be respected, that its flag may be kept stainless.

We shall be defaulters to our most sacred trust if we permit the second Liberty Loan to halt a dollar short of the goal set.

TAKE CARE OF IT.

The people of Fort Wayne, who are the owners as well as the beneficiaries of the million-dollar city lighting plant should be admonished that their property is always in danger.

The enemies and the enemy agents that from the beginning have sought its harm are no less determined, persistent and malignant in their designs against that great public utility than they were in the beginning. They are sustained by the hope that some day in an unguarded moment the city will place this splendid institution under the care and guardianship of the faithless and that then the long-awaited hour will be struck to start it to the scrap-heap.

The men and the interests that harbor hostile designs against the city lighting plant are the foes of Maurice C. Nizer. They are supporting W. S. Cutshall.

There is no need to ask why this is. The reasons are clear enough and they ought to be impressive enough. The people of Fort Wayne, who want their great lighting enterprise to continue, to expand, to render better service and to grant lower rates will not be wanting in the common sense to understand on which side their interest lies in this campaign. Nor will they be wanting in vigilance to look out for their own.

The lighting plant is always menaced by its enemies. It never has immunity from danger. Make sure of its safety.

The election of Maurice C. Nizer means an honest fight and a persistent fight for 6-cent electricity. The city can grant this rate the moment the state utilities board will sanction the reduction. Do you want it? We thought so. Vote for it.

And twilight's color, when the day is gone
Brings back your eyes to me.

Blooms sudden—springlike—in the coming year,
And blossoms like a flower.

Little Willie lives in that section of Fort Wayne that still requires the soothing juice of hops to help it through the evening meal.

Being an observing child Willie noticed how red papa's nose was becoming, and ventured an inquiry.

"What makes your nose so red, daddy?" asked the youth.

"The wind, son, the wind," replied papa. "Don't ask such foolish questions. And pass me the beer."

It was then that mamma spoke up gently.

DeQuincey is reported to have said, "None but a man of extraordinary talent can write first-rate nonsense." And he might have added, "none but a man of extraordinary taste can appreciate first-rate nonsense." Edw. Lear, who has been styled the parent of modern nonsense writers, was a talented author and artist. Kennysen was his warm friend and admirer, and John Ruskin placed his name at the head of his list of the hundred best authors. William Pitt once remarked, "Don't tell me of a man's being able to talk sense; every one can talk sense. Can he talk nonsense?" Lewis Carroll's "Jabberwocky" appeals to the nonsense lover as a work of pure genius. The coined words are absolutely without meaning, but the rhythm is perfect, and the poetic quality decidedly rare. Bayard Taylor was charmed with the poem. Shakespeare's "With a hey, and a ho, and a hey nonino" is a favorite diversion of many otherwise serious poets. W. S. Gilbert's "Bab Ballads" have given him undying fame. Even staid old Dr. Johnson had a propensity for writing nonsense verses. Kipling, with one or two exceptions, is innocent of perpetrating nonsense stories in rhyme—but his humor is spontaneous and everywhere apparent. I believe it to be true that we take ourselves too seriously much of the time. We need to cultivate the lighter vein in our reading, writing, and conversation. Sketches from Life :: By Temple

BY NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS, D. D.

This war began in 1892, in a meeting in the palace at Potsdam. The Kaiser at that time placed in the hands of his advisers a document marked, "secret and confidential." The first line held these words: "The Pan-German empire." The second line read: "From Hamburg and the North sea to the Persian gulf." The third line was: "Our immediate goal by 1915 is the conquest of 250,000,000 of people." The fourth line read: "Our ultimate goal is the Germanization of all the nations."

On the second page there was an extract from the Kaiser's speech: "From my childhood I have been under the influence of five men—Alexander, Julius Caesar, Theodor the Second, Frederick the Great and Napoleon. These five men dreamed their dreams of a world empire—they failed. I, too, have a dream of a world empire—I shall succeed."

Two maps prepared by the Kaiser for his associates, set forth clearly the ultimate goal to be won by his military machine. The first map was called "The Roman Empire—Causar Augustus, emperor." Then are spread out the countries conquered: Carthage, subdued and her capital a county-seat town reporting to Rome; Egypt and Palestine conquered, while Alexandria and Jerusalem report to the emperor. Ephesus and Athens are conquered and the county-seat towns under the emperor's heel.

Having used the Roman empire as his standard, the Kaiser publishes the world map for 1920. At the top of the map were these words: "The Pan-German empire." Beneath you read: "Kaiser Wilhelm II, Emperor." Across the state of France are the words, "Germania." For Paris is a county-seat town. Upon Great Britain is written, "Germania" for London is a county-seat town.

Seven years after this was published, the German admiral told the hero of Manila Bay just what was to happen concerning the war. He bade Admiral Dewey remember the Kaiser was preparing to conquer France, with the real purpose of destroying England, and then proposed to seize Canada and the United States. "Germany will after that dispose of South America and the Monroe doctrine as she thinks best." These facts throw a flood of light upon the Kaiser's statement to Ambassador Gerard, "When this war is finished I will not stand any nonsense from the United States."

Now that three years of war have been completed, we see the Kaiser missed his goal by only a hair's breadth. 1917 is here and lo, the Kaiser controls 200,000,000 instead of 250,000,000 he hoped to have conquered. By three years' war he has increased the German population from 70,000,000 to 220,000,000. He controls directly or indirectly, Belgium, North France, Poland, Roumania, Hungary, Austria, Bulgaria, Servia, Turkey and a part of Armenia. Having prepared for the war by a vast web of cunning, intrigue and treachery, through hired agents distributing bribes in every capital of the globe, he is now preparing for peace and proposes a trade and compromise, that will give up Belgium and North France and count the incident closed. This means—he will give back about one-fifth of the conquered territory and people, thus retaining 140,000,000 which, with his 70,000,000 Germans leaves the Pan-German empire with over 200,000,000 of people and extending from the North Sea to within four hundred miles of the Persian Gulf. Today, the Kaiser is spending millions through his agents, influencing and bribing members of the press, of the judiciary, of legislatures. As Germany has not been invaded, peace without victory means that while the rest of the world recovers from its billions of losses, Germany will strengthen her military machine and then complete the Germanization of the whole world.

The roots of this war go back to 1860. At that time, Bismarck was the outstanding figure in Berlin. Germany was then an agricultural nation, having little manufacturing life. She had 40,000,000 of people, $50,000,000 of property, and a second-rate position in Europe. In 1860 England led Germany in the production of pig-iron, steel, cotton goods, woolen goods, the building of ships. Germany lacked good cooking coal and hematite iron ore that are necessary to good steel, and without steel there was no industrial future for Germany.

Two courses were open to Bismarck, one was to accept an inferior sphere of influence for the little German States, and the other was to foment two wars and wrest away, by military force, coal treasures from Austria and later the iron mines of France found in Alsace and Lorraine. Spreading out his plan before the Prussian king, Bismarck organized Germany into a standing army, told the officers that for the time being "Germany's chief national industry must be war."

No one ever accused Bismarck, the statesman and diplomat, of having a muddy mind. He made the advantages of war to be seen, lying out in the sunshine. His argument ran thus: Farming pays six per cent, manufacturing eight per cent, banking ten per cent, but, viewed as an investment, war should pay a thousand per cent. The war with Bismarck made possible the Kiel canal and access to the North sea, and it paid far more than Bismarck's thousand per cent. The war in 1866 with Austria paid five thousand per cent, through conquered coal resources.

Then Bismarck planned his great move—to steal the iron mines of France. He tells us in his memoirs that he forged one sentence in the French emperor's telegram, and thus threw the burden of the declaration of war upon France; and, returning from his victorious campaign, he brought back to Berlin a billion dollars in gold, and also, what was far richer, the title-deeds to Alsace and Lorraine. In that hour, it became possible for Germany to produce the high-grade steel out of the newly-conquered coal and iron. Great steel plants were established, plates were rolled for the North German Lloyd and Hamburg American lines and for the 42-centimeter guns. Within 20 years, Germany passed England, first in the production of pig-iron, second, in steel, third, in chemical industries, fourth, in toys and fifth, in industrial efficiency. Plainly, the Franco-Prussian war paid Germany ten thousand per cent on her investment!

Germany's military success went, like wood alcohol, to the head of her people. The German officer became the hero of men and women. The army took control of the fatherland. In the social world, the officer was the leader. At a banquet, who took precedence and walked at the head of the company to the seat of honor at the guest table? Not the statesman, not the university professor, not the artist or author, not the banker or manufacturer, but the soldier. I have myself, in Cologne, seen a banquet held up for an hour because the colonel had not arrived. Finally a private was found to represent the army and walk in with the chairman, to the guests' table.

Obsessed with the notion of military superiority, Germany became one vast military camp. The motto became: "Let Belgium produce wealth, we will grab it." "Let France paint pictures, carve marbles, weave silks, and produce jewels, Germany can steal them." "Let England pile up treasures, we will hoist a black flag on the submarine and spoil her of her goods." "Anything that Germany does is right." At last, all the weapons were ready and Germany's soldiers stood like a burglar, with his pistol, his bomb-shell and his fire-brand, before the treasure-house of Europe, ready to prove that "war is Germany's chief national industry."

NEW FRENCH BALLOON.

(Tid-Bits.)

Among the latest triumphs of the French aerial service is a new observation balloon, known as Le Capot. In shape it resembles a great tadpole. Whereas other types are inconvenienced by a wind of from fifty to fifty-five feet a second, Le Capot can remain in the air unless the wind exceeds sixty-five to seventy-five feet per second.

It takes fifty experienced men to man-oeuvre it, for as soon as it leaves the shed great attention must be paid to the wind currents, so as to save the envelope from being torn. Attached to the balloon is a wicker car, in which the observer is installed with his maps, charts, arms, barometers, and telephone, the latter fixed over his ears so as to leave his hands free. He is also provided with glasses and a white silk parachute for an emergency.

When the balloon attains an altitude of from 2,000 feet to 3,000 feet, the winch to which the cable is fixed is drawn by horses or motor car at a moderate pace to a point near the enemy lines, where a refuge excavated in the soil has been prepared. This accomplished, the observer transmits his instructions by telephone.

Two anti-aircraft posts are established near by to keep off enemy aeroplanes. If the balloon is menaced the crew bring it down from 5,000 feet in seven to ten minutes.

Observers frequently pass from fifteen to eighteen hours in the restricted space of the balloon cars, communicating with the batteries by telephone, but even strong men are unable to pass more than three days at a time at this exhausting occupation, constantly exposed to the enemy's fire.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

October is giving us grand weather. Mrs. R. T. McDonald returned today from New York.

Actress Who Wins a Wealthy Broker

Miss Ashlyn was a member of the New York Winter Garden last season. It will be Mr. Ashlyn's second marriage, his first wife having divorced him.

SUTTON WRANGLE IS GIVEN AIRING

Wife Decides She Needs More Money—Judge Thinks Not.

The police court had one of the busiest sessions of the year Friday morning. The main attraction proved to be the Sutton-Roth case. Sutton is the man arrested while in the company of Nina Roth, on a warrant made by his wife. The case was easily disposed of, Sutton pleading guilty. The Roth woman failed to appear. Both were fined $15 and costs. Mrs. Sutton was puffed by the nature of the sentence and immediately entered a charge of wife desertion and non-support.

It was a rather difficult matter to obtain the facts of the case owing to Mrs. Sutton's fluent tongue. After a perfect volley of conversation was discharged, the court learned that the S. P. Bowser company had been sending Mrs. Sutton $10 a week for some time past and that in addition she had considerable real estate, whose rent should prove sufficient to support her. He therefore found the defendant not guilty.

Continued Indefinitely. The assault and battery case between George Stett and William Schlatter was continued indefinitely. Both men are employees of the Perfection Biscuit company. Stett claims that Schlatter struck him for telling him to leave his department at closing time, while Schlatter states that he merely pushed him aside in order to enter the room. Stett has paralysis of the legs and he was thrown to the floor. He was unable to show the marks of a blow, but claimed that he had a stiff neck.

The case of Helen Kelly, charged with disorderly conduct, was also continued indefinitely.

Schellenburger Back. Glen Schellenburger, the would-be children custodian of Lawton park, was in police court Friday morning, charged with loitering. He was arrested last summer on complaint that he was annoying little children playing in the park. He was arrested Thursday, a short time after he had left Clara Ankenbruck, who has been named to the Indiana school for a number of years. Schellenburger stated that he was endeavoring to place Clara in the Salvation Army in order to reform her, and that he then intended to marry her. Judge Kerr couldn't see it that way and gave him $5 bond costs.

Charles Gerber, an ordinary drunk, was discharged. Ed Degan, another drunk, was given $1 and costs. Howard Davis, a former soldier, was given $5 and costs. The man was found in a demonstrative condition in the Hope hospital. John Thlin had a tin ear Friday morning and his case was continued until Oct. 27 in hopes that he will be able to understand the meaning of a jail sentence by that time.

Sells Rented Gun. A master of finance was presented to the court in the form of C. Lyons Friday morning. The man rented a shot gun from the Dyer pawn shop, and then sold the weapon for $3. The Dyer concern objected to the transaction and Lyons accordingly graced prisoners' row.

You always get real millinery bargains at Malloy's. Attend Saturday sale. 1018 Calhoun street.

A special meeting of Keklonga division, No. 51, L. A. to O. R. C., has been called for Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Unity hall for the purpose of considering the purchase of liberty loan bonds.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts. There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments. People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation. Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.—Advertisement.

MILK PRODUCERS
Demand an Advance in Price After November 1.
The members of the Fort Wayne

Milk Producers association, at a meeting held Wednesday night at the Adams Center school, decided to demand six cents a quart or twenty-four cents a gallon for milk after November 1. They have been receiving a scale of prices for their milk varying from fourteen to twenty cents a gallon, with the average about sixteen cents. The reason for the shortage of milk as stated by the farmers is because of the number of cattle being sold for beef, as expenses, it is claimed, can hardly be made at the present selling price of milk.

Dr. Barnard Berates Slackers Who Waste

At the risk of war in the home some cooks should be told they are wasteful and should be compelled to adopt more economical methods. Dr. H. E. Barnard, Indiana, representative of the National Food Administration says, in a statement on the subject he declared:

"Who is the greatest slacker, the cook in the kitchen who wastes food because she never has learned the value of thrift or the mistress who will not take the trouble to teach her better methods of work? It is easy to shift responsibility and blame the cook for the ever-increasing grocery bills. It would be more patriotic to go into the kitchen and see that every waste is stopped. I am quite aware of the fact that trouble sometimes comes to women who, with the best of intent, try to change the working methods of their helpers. But the possibility of a conflict over the proper way to pare potatoes or utilize drippings should no longer deter any woman from taking action when action is necessary. It may be bringing war into the home to tell some cooks that they are wasteful, but the boys in the trenches over there are aided or injured by what we do here to save or waste food and if kitchen warfare is necessary to put a quick stop to extravagance, why let us have war.

A Pretty Hat for Restaurant Wear—The most naive little woman in the world is never so deliciously transparent as cynical man believes her, but this lovely bit of headgear is quite as transparent as it looks, and for evening wear is particularly charming. The trimming may be either gold or vividly colored cherries.

"I do not make the assertion that all cooks are wasteful and all heads of homes thrifty. Often the contrary is the case. But I do want to emphasize the fixed belief of many men that of their wives did the cooking as they did in the early days of their home making, the family table would cost less than it does now when club work, and socks for soldiers and all the other activities of the life of modern women leave little time even for the supervision of the buying and preparation of food.

"It is hard to purchase personal interest, with servants' wages. And that is why the best service many women may give their country is a renewed attention to the kitchen end of the home. There is no stirring appeal that makes the blood rush the quicker, in the making of cornmeal muffins, instead of biscuits. It may be more inspiring to roll Red Cross bandages than to follow the precepts of 'Hoover Thrift' cards; it surely is not more necessary and when the records are written the women who have helped in the war in their kitchens will share equal honors with those who have served closer to the battle line."

CHEAP CAKE, BUT TASTY.

Here is a recipe for a cheap and quickly made cake. One cup sugar, one cup raisins or dates cut small, one and one-half cups water, two cups flour, two teaspoonsful baking powder. Put all together. On top put tablespoonful softened lard and one-third teaspoonful each nutmeg, cloves and cinnamon. Stir briskly for three minutes and bake in layers. Nuts can be added if desired.

Frosting—One cup brown sugar and small lump butter and two tablespoonfuls milk. Boil until it forms soft ball in cold water. Remove from stove and add one-half teaspoonful vanilla. Beat until it begins to thicken and spread quickly over cake.

MEMORY CARD DISPENSER GAS WORRY FOR WOMAN

Being a business woman who keeps house I have often been alarmed upon arrival at the office or some time during the day by the fear that I had left my gas stove burning. I either had to telephone the janitress or make a trip back to my apartment. After much thought and trouble about the matter I have solved it in this way: Upon a card 3x4 inches I printed in large plain letters, "Have you turned the gas off?" I attached a cord to the two upper corners and hung this over the outside doorknob. Now upon going to the door each morning this confronts me before I leave and I have had no further trouble.—New York Sun.

The Invitations Put Hallowe'en Guests in Tune

By BIDDY BYE.

The Invitations to a Hallowe'en frolic are very important for they should put the guests in tune for the occasion.

A rhyme written on a pumpkin or a cat cut from colored paper and enclosed in a small envelope is good, or, if the invitations can be delivered by messenger, it is a clever idea to write them on clean white corn husk leaves, and to roll and tie them with a bit of orange ribbon. Original verses are best. Here are two suggestions that may be used—with the hostess' name and address written below:

If you wish to read your fate
Appear on Wednesday night at eight,
As ghost or witch you should be seen
To be in style on Hallowe'en.
ALICE HARPER,
40 Chestnut Street.

Hallowe'en is goblin night
Bring your Jack-o'-Lantern bright
And by the charms and tests of fate
Each maid or man may find a mate.
MARGARET ARNOLD,
737 Grove Park.

If you wish to give a flip of originality to your Hallowe'en party call it by a new name and use the following verse:

Come and celebrate with me
Jack-o'-Lantern Jubilee.
Bring a pumpkin, large or small
That cheerful fate may you befall.

When you find a cute little Jack-o'-Lantern invitation for the night of October 31 in your mail some morning, you experience a little thrill of pleasure when you meet that well-known second thought, "What shall I wear to the party?"

Costumes for Hallowe'en parties are so much more fun than even a brand-new party gown, for mostly they are disguises, and what is more fun than to be mysterious?

Under the disguise, whatever it may

WHEN GIRLS WEAR BLACK VELVET

When black velvet frocks are worn by young girls they must be extremely simple. Frequently a bright color touch is given by the use of wool embroidery, and white collar and cuffs are often used. Sometimes satin is employed and again neck and sleeves are finished with bands of flet lace.

One clever little frock recently noted, designed for a girl of 8 or 10 years, was made of black velvet and cut on straight princess lines, side-buttoned and trimmed with embroidery done in bright red and green silk.

BEDLAM ENTHRONED IN CITY BUILDING

Every Hall Resounds With Scamper of Children's Feet.

Bedlam reigned in the city building, Friday. Every hall echoed with the shouts and laughter of children and on every stairway there was the clatter of scampering feet.

Five hundred boys and girls visited the city hall, Friday morning, in order to be vaccinated. More than 300 of the children had been inoculated against smallpox before noon. The others were sent home with orders to return later in the day. The three physicians, who are working feverishly at scratching slender arms, expect to vaccinate more than 500 school children, Friday.

During the hours from 8 o'clock, Friday morning, until 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, the third floor hallway was completely blocked by the crowd of children. A few mothers were present to see their boys and girls through the ordeal of vaccination. Two small children fainted after their arms had been scratched.

Few school pupils are going to their family physicians for the vaccination. The health men inoculated 250 children on Thursday afternoon.

Classes were resumed in a part of the grade schools, Friday. In every grade there are a number of pupils who have already been vaccinated and in no case will it be necessary to keep a room closed after Monday morning.

New cases of smallpox reported Friday are: Marie Schenkel, 1745 Franklin, and Helen Lieberman, 1019 Maumee avenue.

Lemon Juice a Beautifier

How to prepare a beauty cream at little cost. Says lemon juice alone is too highly acid. Try this on face, neck, arms and hands!

Many women use just the juice of lemons to bleach or whiten the skin and to bring out the hidden beauty of the roses, but pure lemon juice is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white. At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful full lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier. Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy or toilet counter and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to bring back to any skin the whiteness, the sweet freshness and flexibility of which it has been robbed by carelessness or trying atmospheric conditions.—Advertisement.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY TO BE MADE STANDARD

BY BASIL M. MANLY, Of the Daily Sentinel's Washington Bureau.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—President Wilson, it is stated by a very reliable source, has under consideration an executive order making the eight-hour day obligatory in all basic industries, regardless of whether they are directly employed on government contracts.

The motive for this revolutionary step will not be concession to the demands of organized or unorganized labor, but the speeding up of the great American war machine to the highest productive efficiency. The government will simply take advantage of the results of experience both here and abroad, which demonstrates conclusively that over long periods of time men can do more work on eight-hour shifts than if employed 9, 10, 11 or 12 hours.

Ample provision, it is explained, will be made in the order for overtime on rush work and all kinds of war emergencies; but proper means will be provided for discouraging overtime except in cases of real necessity.

The initiative in the eight-hour-day movement was taken by Samuel Gompers, but he was soon joined by a number of influential business men who saw the practical necessity of standardizing the American working day so that the industrial energy of the country would not be sapped by overwork during the very beginning of what may prove to be a long and arduous struggle.

The movement was also endorsed by the experienced students of industrial questions sent to America by England, who testified to the great mistake England made in permitting her workers' energy to be drained by unlimited overtime work during the first year of the war.

A practical war condition makes it imperative for America to exercise exceptional care to conserve her industrial energy. Before the war the supply of fresh unskilled labor by immigration was so great it was possible to work men 12 hours a day until they were ready for the human scrap-heap. A sturdy immigrant was always waiting to take the place of every worn-out man.

But today the laborer enfeebled or overstrained by excessive hours simply cannot be replaced. Not only is there no new supply coming in, but through Secretaries Baker and Daniels are understood to have endorsed the standardized working-day, and it now awaits only the approval of President Wilson, who is believed to be entirely favorable.

ITALIANS ARE PUSHED BACK

Tremendous Weight of Men Hurlled Against Them on Isonzo Front.

Berlin Says Fighting Has Been Pressed Upon Italian Soil.

Italy's armies have met with a serious reverse in the Isonzo battle losing thirty thousand men in prisoners and three hundred guns to the Austrians and Germans in their concentrated attack according to the German claim.

Admittedly the Italians have been forced back to their border along one sector of the Isonzo front, from Montebelluna to the west of Auzza, compelling the evacuation of the Bainsizza plateau.

Thus General Cadorna has through a single hostile stroke lost much of the fruits of his long months of campaigning against the Austrians.

Apparently the Italian forces which so brilliantly fought their way across the Isonzo below Tolmino last summer and pushed far to the east had to make a hurried retreat from the Bainsizza plateau and back across the river because of the break in the line to the north, suffered heavily in the loss of men and guns, as they fell back.

THIRTY THOUSAND TAKEN.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—The Austro-Germans in their offensive on the Isonzo front, have captured more than 30,000 Italians, the German war office announced today. More than 300 guns also were taken.

At many places the Germans are now fighting on Italian territory, the announcement says.

The statement says the northern wing of the second Italian army has been defeated and is retreating. German divisions are advancing beyond Karfreit and Reonanza.

HAIG STRIKES TWO BLOWS.

British Front in Belgium, Oct. 26.—(By The Associated Press.)—Field Marshal Haig's forces this morning made two separate attacks on the German positions north and east of Ypres. The first was from a point near Saint-Janshoek, westward through the southern fringe of the Southwest ridge to the region to Nieuwemolen. The other assault was on both sides of the Ypres-Menin highway along the Ghelvelde ridge in the direction of the town of that name.

WAR SCRIBES NEAR DEATH

Were Watching Stupendous Drama on Isonzo Front With Italians.

Then a Big Bertha Tossed a Two-Ton Shell Into Their Midst.

Army Headquarters in Northern Italy, Wednesday, Oct. 24.—(By The Associated Press.)—Under the escort of an officer from headquarters, the correspondent was given an opportunity today to see Gorizia under a rain of shells from nearby Austrian batteries and to look out from a castle dominating the city on the vast scene of military operations of which Gorizia is the strategic center. The visit was made at an opportune moment just as the Austrians and Germans were inaugurating their heavy offensive from the north in the effort to redeem their recent heavy losses. A heavy artillery bombardment had indicated the movement with the Italian batteries responding along a front of twenty miles running across the Bainsizza plateau towards Tolmino. As the correspondent passed along the road from headquarters shells were falling freely three miles outside Gorizia and there was a steady roar of guns of all calibers from the big fifteen to the rattling quick-firers. Such an offensive had been anticipated for several days as information reaching headquarters showed that the enemy was preparing for the supreme movement of the year. Austrian forces in the north, where they were no longer required against the inactive Russian armies had been sent to this front. At the same time the German general staff had awakened to the possibilities of the Italian front and for the first time Brandenburg troops were identified along this nearby front and shells from large caliber German guns were falling for the first time from the enemy position on Monte San Gabriele and around Monte Rosso.

After Big Plateau. This, with the fury of the German fire, made it evident that the enemy would seek to regain the vast Bainsizza plateau, which the Italians recently took, with 30,000 prisoners, as the Italian strip on the plateau opened the way for them to sweep over the Carso range back of Trieste and thus threaten the Austrian defense of Trieste.

It was therefore to protect Trieste and force back the Italians to the old line on the Isonzo river that the enemy forces were tripled, picked Brandenburgers, Saxons, Bavarians and others were added to the Austrian forces and the opening stages of the offensive were developed today.

The city of Gorizia was entered over a bridge which Italian engineers had thrown across the Isonzo. The massive old stone bridge was out of service with one of its stately arches blown to pieces. The iron railroad bridge further along had been entirely destroyed by artillery fire. The big paper mills along the river front were a mass of ruins and lines of jagged walls, with gaping windows extended for miles along the river.

Scene of Desolation.

Entering Gorizia the city presented an aspect of ruin and desolation, with the crash of falling walls every now and then adding to the area of destruction. Within five minutes the correspondent counted five large churches, including the imposing Cathedral, which had been reduced to a mass of ruins. The roof of the Cathedral had fallen in from a succession of shell holes and the high altar could be seen above the tumbling sidewalks. The chief hotel of the city had been blotted out of existence by two large caliber shells which leveled the entire structure. What is left of one of the principal buildings is now used for an emergency fire department to prevent further destruction.

View of the Field.

Going to the top of the castle dominating the city, the correspondent had a splendid view of the vast field of the present operations. Immediately in front was Monte San Michel, held by the Italians, and to the left was Monte San Gabriele where the Austrians still clung to the top on the other side. The dividing lines between the two forces were clearly discernible from the terrific crashing of guns on both fronts. The artillery action could be seen dimly, extending over the coveted plateau of Bainsizza, and northward to Monte Rosso, where it was later learned heavy infantry actions followed the artillery preparations. Observations from the top of the castle were brought to a sudden halt in the midst of the explanations of the officer conducting the party. He had just led his companions past an observation post to a stone rampart fronting the castle wall. As he spoke there was a deafening roar of a heavy gun, followed by the whirr of a big missile headed straight for the rampart.

Fine Sport.

Instinctively every one recoiled, but it was too late. The big projectile struck not fifteen feet away, tearing through the stone walls and wrecking the observation post which the party had just left. All went over like a row of bricks and lay stunned under mountains of mortar, dirt and stone. The projectile had hurled a mass of small stones like bullets and one of these made a slight gash in the face of a member of the party. After the members of the party had clambered over tons of debris thrown up by the shot, army surgeons dressed the face wound of the injured man and pronounced it merely superficial.

Thus observation of the first stage of the Austro-German offensive was brought to a sudden termination which narrowly bordered on tragedy for several well known British and Italian writers. The visit had shown, however, the desperate character of this initial artillery fire and the momentous nature of the culminating movement in which Germany comes to aid Austria in overcoming Italy's decisive success of the year.

On returning to headquarters tonight all the impressions gathered from the observation were confirmed as information reaching the high command shows this the opening of the greatest offensive the Austrians and Germans have attempted against Italy.

SELLS INTEREST IN REALTY CORPORATION

W. E. Doud No Longer a Part of City and Suburban Company.

W. E. Doud disposed of his interest in the City and Suburban Realty company on Friday. His stock in the corporation was taken over by W. H. Scheimann, Perry J. Archer and Ralph L. Magee, who have been connected with Mr. Doud for several years in promoting the interests of the company.

The well known real estate man will devote his future time to conducting the retail department of the W. E. Doud realty agency, which was organized twenty-five years ago by Mr. Doud. He will be able to give much of his personal attention to sale of properties listed with his exchange or which he now owns.

The new Kensington park addition in Lakewood is being opened up under direction of W. E. Doud, and he will continue the improvement of the tract and sale of lots. He will also retain all rights to sale of lots in the Pontiac and Calhoun Place additions, which were opened up by him.

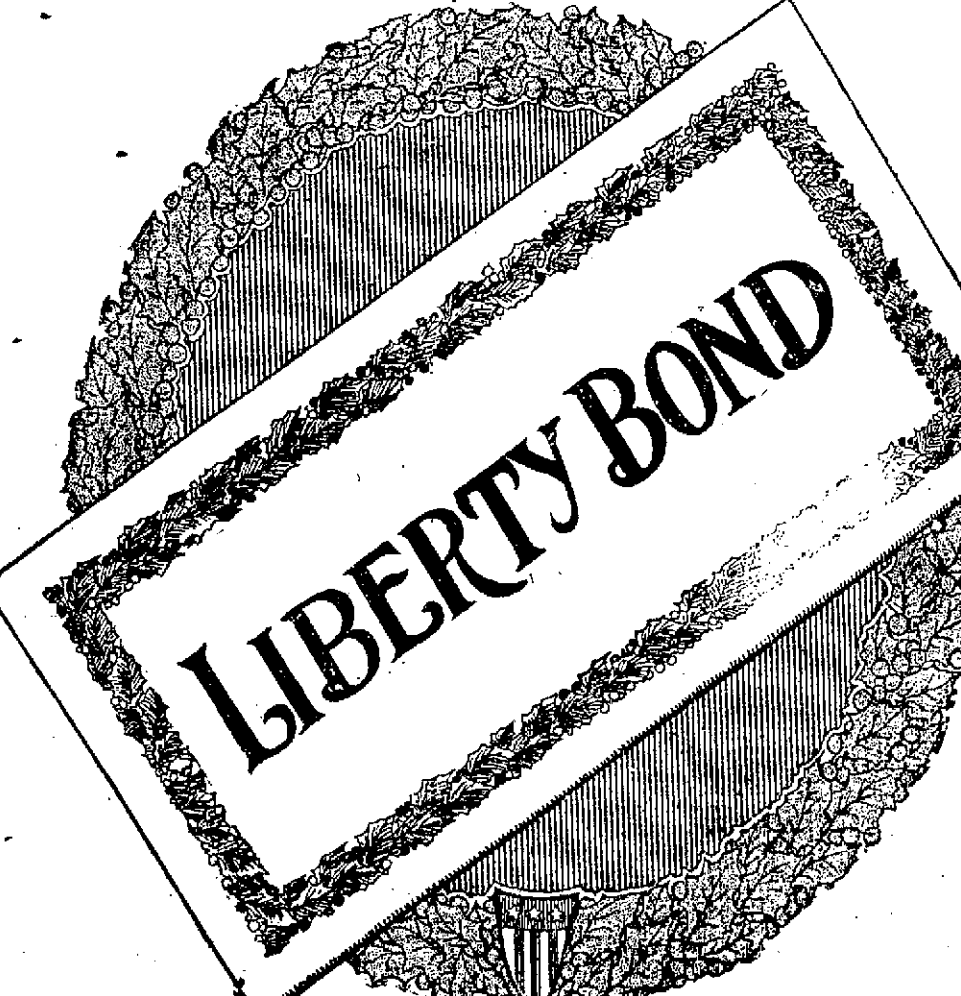

W. E. Doud has been an energetic part of the growth of the City and Suburban Building company, which he organized, and in which he has acted as principal sales manager for several years. The corporation is capitalized at about $160,000 at the present time.

The City and Suburban office in the Utility building, East Wayne street, will be operated absolutely separate from the W. E. Doud agency in the future, it is announced.

TOO MUCH LIQUOR.

The sheriff's office was called Thursday afternoon to go about six miles out on the Sandpoint road and get a demented man who was creating considerable excitement. The man was making a fluent political speech to the trees and cornstalks in that vicinity. He was brought to the city and placed in the jail. It is evident that he is suffering from a severe case of delirium tremens. He gave his name as Edward McKelvey, but was unable to state where he hailed from.

But Determined to Keep Up Suffrage Fight Until Victory is Won.

NOTHING TO DO NOW BUT SMILE

Dr. Carrie Banning Says Supreme Judges Should Be Appointed.

While Fort Wayne suffrage leaders were keenly disappointed in the decision of the Indiana supreme court in declaring woman's suffrage measure unconstitutional, they do not believe that their efforts have been in vain and are more determined than ever before to keep up the fight until victory has been won.

Statements relative to the decision were secured from a number of local suffrage leaders as follows:

Dr. Carrie Banning: The decision is a great disappointment to me. I have been a suffrage worker for a great many years. However, I feel that our work is not lost for never again can it be said that the women take no interest in politics and affairs of government. That was proven by the last registration here when there were as many women registered as men. It seems to me there is a tremendous waste of time and money in sending representatives to the legislature to pass measures only to have those measures declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. It is a pity that our supreme court judges are not appointed for a long term of years and not elected, so that they would be entirely free from political influence.

Mrs. Carolyn Fairbank, ex-president of the Indiana Federation of Clubs: The decision is a great disappointment to the women of Indiana, but they never will stop until victory has been won.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sighler: The women of the country are giving up their sons, are working in every department of the government and are doing everything they can to help win the war. It seems to me to be no more than fair that the men should gladly give women suffrage. I think the men would feel honor bound to give women the right to vote.

Mrs. A. J. Deizer: I have nothing to say about the circumstances. There is plenty of work; but nothing to say just now.

Mrs. C. C. Warrington: We will not let the fight drop by any means.

FUEL BOSS ORDERS

COAL UP THIS WAY

Said to Be Not Unlikely in the State.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—Coal on a war ration basis is a possibility in this state it was said here today by persons familiar with the number and nature of the appeals for fuel being received hourly by the office of the state fuel administrator. No official statement indicating that such a step is contemplated has as yet been published, but some such plan has been suggested as a future possibility, it is said. The step can be taken, it becomes necessary to make a complete survey of fuel within the state and also the organization of county coal administrators.

Daily reports indicate the conditions to be grave. It is reported that less than one-fourth the number of persons who have had their fuel in by this time of year are now supplied. Dealers in many places are out of coal.

One suggestion is to appeal to wealthy persons in communities where coal is stored to buy it as a patriotic duty and permit the lower price Indians coal to be purchased by persons with less money and in more need.

The administrator's office continues to order shipments to coal to various cities. Among places where shipments were considered are Anderson and Port Wayne.

DR. RODEBAUGH WILL BE BURIED SATURDAY

Funeral Services Will Be Held at the Methodist Protestant Church

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., Oct. 26.—Dr. Frank L. Rodebaugh, city health officer, who was hacked to death with a hatchet, Wednesday, by an itinerant negro named Dixon in the boarding house of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Dewart, colored, on North Guilford street, where he had gone to investigate sanitary conditions, will be buried Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The negro, who was afterward shot to death or else shot himself, was buried in the Potter's field.

The funeral services will be held in the Methodist Protestant church in Altona, Rev. C. C. Farmer officiating.
 The Apollo Commandery of the Knights Templar, of Kendallville, of which the deceased was a member, will have charge. Interment in Union cemetery.

 yesterday through fear of being molosted following the dastardly murder of Dr. Rodebaugh, thirty-five more negroes were brought in the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company, many of them being of the most undesirable kind.

Makes Wrinkles Go
 "As If By Magic"

Want to banish every wrinkle—from face, neck, hands—easily, quickly, completely? Try the famous axolote formula.
 Nothing else so nearly meets every requirement. Why? Because it is correct in principle and really, truly assists Nature. Possessing remarkable astringent and tonic properties, it both tightens the skin—thus naturally smoothing out the lines—and improves capillary circulation and nerve tone—tending to strengthen loose tissue and bring about a healthy condition. Yet, powerful as the axolote lotion is, it won't harm your skin in the least. And it's so easy to get the inexpensive ingredients at your druggist's, and so easy to mix them.

Just dissolve one ounce powdered saxolite in one-half pint witch hazel—that's all. Bathe your face in this—immediately every wrinkle and crease are affected, even the deepest. You are perfectly astonished, and delighted, with the result. You look like you've lost years from your age.—Advertisement.

CAUSE OF CANCER IS STILL DARK MYSTERY

Clinical Congress Held in Chicago Hears Subject Discussed.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The cause of cancer is yet unknown to medical science, according to a statement made before the 3,000 surgeons who for the last week have been in Chicago attending the eighth annual convention of the clinical congress of surgeons which yesterday merged with the American College of Surgeons, and is now known as the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons. Dr.
 William T. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., president-elect of the new body, in discussing the advances made in the treatment of cancer, asserted that while physicians cannot ascribe exactly the cause of that disease, it is known that the cause of cancer is in the stomach and in the food taken into the stomach often result in cancerous growths in that organ.

Clean food coupled with food at normal temperatures might go a long way in removing one of the first causes of cancer, Dr. Mayo said, and subsequent speakers agreed in this.

Sir Berkeley Moynihan, of Leeds, England, member of the British army staff, who has made daily addresses to the physicians, declared that in no one line of surgery had such strides been made as in lung and pleura surgery. He advised surgeons contemplating war lung surgery resolutely and without misgivings as to severity. He said that the lung could be cleansed of slivers of shells just as one would cleanse a new sponge.

The visiting surgeons will conclude their clinics today, the general program of addresses having been concluded last night.

A Drop On a Touchy Corn

Instant relief! Then corn on callus lifts off with fingers.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without one twinge of pain. A Cincinnati man discovered this other compound and named it Freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of Freezone for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off. Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the skin. Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. No soreness or smarting. Women should keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.

For two years Wisconsin has been fighting forest fires by airplane instead of from watchtower. It is said that at a height of 1,500 feet an aviator can detect a forest fire sixty miles distant.

An Englishman has invented a safety suit for aviators which is covered with parachute-like pockets, by means of which the entire suit can be inflated so that the force of the aviator's fall may be broken.

Nice Comfy Swing If Enemy Don't See Him

This isn't so bad as it might have been, for the tree might have been higher and the balloonist's parachute seat farther from the branches. As it was the British observer just swung over to the nearby branches and then climbed down, as easily as any small American boy could have done it. The parachute was caught in the tree top preventing a landing on terra firma.

IT OFTEN HAPPENS

IN HIGH ART REALMS

Success of High School Work Depends Upon a Touch of Type.

What was the delicate touch which gave the soulful expression to the "Mona Lisa," that matchless work of art? Masters of the brush have pondered long over this question. Through all the years they have never found its answer.

Finished artists know that a last faint tracery may make or unmake a painting. It may be only a touch of color or a short lived line which brings success or failure to the work. In every branch of art it is the meaning of the little touches, intangible tricks of the highest trade, which fascinates and holds those who understand. Often times the craftsman himself differs upon the probable effect of a flick of pigment in bringing out the soul of an artistic production. Something of this sort of professional differing seems to hold the members of the staff of The Caldron, the Fort Wayne high school publication.

Should the numbering of the pages be inclosed in parentheses or brackets? While the page numerals appear, in true modest and artistic fashion, at the bottom of the printed leaf, yet there is the understanding that every part of the publication must aid in expressing the exacting impressions portrayed in the body of the book. Howard Shambaugh, editor-in-chief of The Caldron, holds for brackets as lending the finest shade of meaning to the numerals. Willard Moellering, business manager of the publication, feels certain that parentheses would best bring out the dainty suggestion desired.

When the heads of the two departments could not agree, after hours of discussion, a meeting of the senior class was called to decide the matter, Thursday. The vital question of the parentheses and brackets was placed squarely before the class.

The drawn out debate, in which every angle and curve of the figure lines was carefully considered, finally resolved itself into a misunderstanding as to whether the editor-in-chief, who governs the literary success of the magazine, or the business manager, who holds the financial prosperity of the work, should have the supreme power.

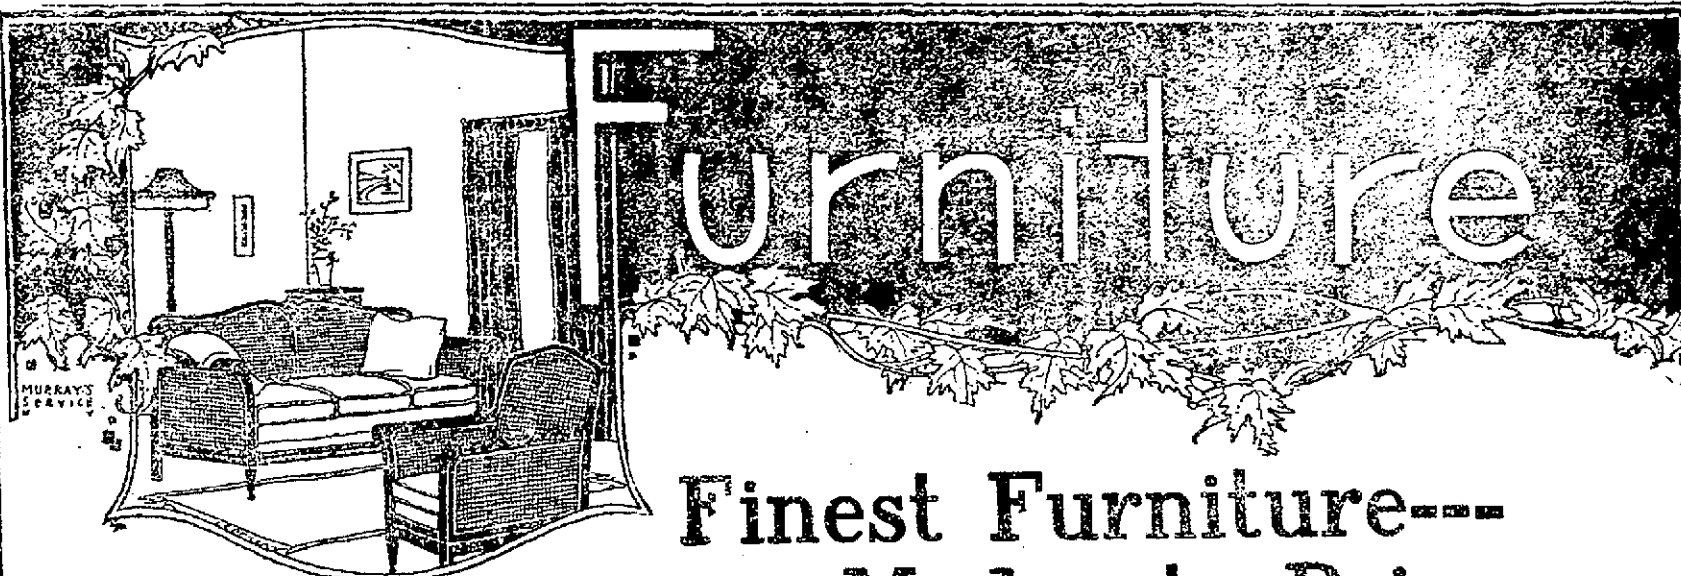

There was a touch of bitterness in a few of the remarks which followed. A committee of five seniors was finally appointed to fathom this question. A report of the findings is expected in a few days. Meantime the senior class leaders are not giving all their attention to prosaic and unclassie assignments in dry history and language books.

HIGH OFFICE FOR TARNOWSKI.

Copenhagen, Oct. 26.—The Warsaw newspaper Dziennik states that the German authorities have approved the candidacy of Count Adam Tarnowski von Tarnow, former Austro-Hungarian ambassador to the United States, for the post of prime minister of Poland. The Germans hitherto have objected to the appointment of Count Tarnowski von Tarnow as constituting too great an extension of Austrian influence in Poland at the expense of Germany.

PREPARING FOR FOOD CONSERVATION DRIVE

Frank Hilgeman Urges Action in Matter of Seining Fish.

"Fort Wayne has just begun to know that America must conserve the food which will win the war," states Frank Hilgeman, head of the Allen county food relief organization. "We expect the folks of this county to hear little else in the next few weeks."

Final arrangements are being made Friday for the distribution of thousands of "waste not" pledge cards. Plans for large "save food" signs in the market archway, on the courthouse and the postoffice building are to be carried out.

Hilgeman is making an effort to induce Fish Commissioner George Lindemuth and Prosecutor Frank Emrick to start the effort of taking fish from the St. Mary's river for food use. Fact that the sugar beet factory, at Decatur, has started operations makes the work seem a necessity at once, Hilgeman states.

Preliminary arrangements for the purchase of nets for seining the fish have been made by Hilgeman. Several men have volunteered to aid in taking the fish from the river. When Commissioner Lindemuth returns to Fort Wayne it is thought that the work will be started.

GREEK SHINER SHOT BY TAXICAB DRIVER

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 26.—Peter Mataxas, 36, proprietor of a Greek shoe shining parlor, is dying in a local hospital from the effects of four bullet wounds, the shots fired by Clyde Horne, a taxi driver. The near tragedy occurred on a bridge that spans the Wildcat creek, four miles northeast of this city, at 2 o'clock this morning. Horne had been engaged to drive Mataxas, Helen Fasig and Florence Bryant to Frankfort and they were returning to this city. The two men got out of the car and had some words. Horne alleges Mataxas stabbed him twice with a dirk when he pulled a revolver and shot five times, four of the bullets hitting the mark. The dying man says Horne demanded $10 taxi fare and this was the cause of the trouble. Horne is being held without bail and the two women were put under bond as material witnesses.

SOLDIERS BREAK HEADS QUELLING RIOTS IN MADRID'S MODEL PRISON

stroyed, making a retreat of artillery impracticable. Hundreds of machine guns were captured by the French and many of them were turned on the fleeing Germans, who had left plenty of ammunition behind. It is reported that 150 cannon have fallen into French hands, but the number is uncertain, owing to the condition of the battle field and its width. The same uncertainty applies to the number of prisoners, hundreds of Germans being uncounted on all parts of the field, marching wearily back to the French lines.

Sight of Goal Spurs French.

The sight of the tower of the Cathedral of Laon on the horizon a few miles away, spurred the French soldiers to wonderful efforts of endurance and swiftness of movement. They went on determinedly in pursuit of the Germans, leaving parties behind to clear out cellars and caverns, which disgorged hundreds of demoralized prisoners, who seemed astounded at the vastness of their defeat.

With all this severe fighting on a battlefield where the Germans held strong positions and where they accepted the challenge of the French army to a stand-up combat, the French casualties were remarkably low. The French troops of all branches are jubilant over the victory. The artillery, infantry and airmen mutually praise each others work. One colonel, commanding a regiment which participated in the battle at the hardest point, declared that the fighting had turned into a war of movements.

Difficult Line of Retreat.

Where the Germans will make a stand cannot yet be foreseen. What is known now is that the line of their retreat is over a difficult and hilly terrain, where the movement of guns is possible only with great precaution. The correspondent spoke to several prisoners, none of whom could realize the extent of the disaster to the army of the German crown prince, who had made such elaborate preparations to meet the French attack. All the wounded Germans seemed delighted with the swiftness and skill with which they were treated by the French surgeons.

government in this hour of its great peril and need. Be it Resolved, That we subscribe to the liberty loan as we are able; that we conserve food and that we work unflinchingly with the Red Cross for the comfort and welfare of our soldiers and sailors.

We further pledge ourselves to aid in effecting the restoration of the countries of Europe that have been so terribly devastated by this war, and to do our full part in caring for the fatherless children and widows of Belgium and France.

Whereas, The women of the allied countries have borne the unspeakable misery and suffering of the last three years with indomitable courage, let us pledge ourselves to endure any suffering and privation that may come to us through this frightful war in the same high spirit of loyalty and bravery. Let us pray daily and hourly that the splendid youth and manhood of this country now in active service may be kept from death or from disaster worse than death and be restored to us in honor and glory when this way is over and right has conquered might.

Resolved, That we deprecate the publication by Indiana newspapers of any article which reflects intentionally or otherwise on the character or integrity of the Indiana Federation of Clubs or any of the individual members.

Resolved, That the Indiana Federation of Clubs, in convention assembled, urges the women of Indiana cordially to support the plans of the food administration and we hereby pledge ourselves to co-operate in the movement for food conservation.

Mrs. E. C. Rumpel, of Indianapolis, first vice president of the federation and who presided during the evening session, introduced Dr. William Lowe Bryan, president of Indiana university, the principal speaker of the occasion.

"We are proud of our Indiana men and women who have gone out over the world and who have made great names for themselves," said Mrs. Rumpel. "We are more proud of our Hoosier bred folk who have remained in their home state and who have caused the eyes of the world to turn this way. Such a person is Dr. Bryan, who I am proud to present this evening."

"Democracy or Tyranny—Which?" was the forceful subject of the address by Dr. Bryan. His every remark was given undivided attention. His ringing statements were greeted by applause.

"Democracy means that all people shall share alike in the labor, suffering, advantages, sorrows, benefits and joys of society," Dr. Bryan explained. "Tyranny means that there shall be two separate groups in government. One band will labor and suffer while the other enjoys the advantages and opportunities."

"It was a battle against the tyranny of Persia which caused Sparta to send her bravest to the pass of Thermopylae. The world will never tire of hearing the grand story of how those three hundred Spartans gave their lives to check the advance of oriental autocracy. The thrill of that day is with us yet."

"Democracy is not a word, written in a constitution or on a marble slab. It is a glorious principle of co-operation. It is worth dying for." Dr. Bryan traced the growth of democratic law from the time it was first given voice in ancient days. Among the notable dates he placed 1213, the framers of the magna carta; 1650, Cromwell's triumph; 1776, "when a new democracy was carried to the shores of a new land"; 1848, when the German revolution failed, but its leaders left for freer lands and in 1917 when Russia threw off the monstrous autocracy of 800 years.

Russia Will Triumph. "The Russian democracy will not fail. It will triumph over the scheming of present day militarism," proclaimed Dr. Bryan, amid applause. "I am for America's cause in the present war because I am afraid if the middle European powers, stretching from Prussia to Turkey, should win their hellish philosophy and military power 'over here.'"

"I am sure that the United States and her allies will win this war because I know that the spirit of peace and equality have never been crushed." The tyrant Napoleon marched his armies in triumph to Vienna, to Italy, to the pyramids, to Moscow. For twenty years he named the peace terms as a conqueror. But in the end his false power fell and he was banished to St. Helena—and to St. Helena is where all kaisers should go.

"America must sacrifice as her part in this war. She must give her boys and money. "We have not begun to pay as Europe has paid and as we must pay if we loose. I am with the man who said: 'Millions for defense but not a cent for tribute.'"

"This is not a moment for racial favoritism."

"If you are against our sons who have gone to the front, you are as much our enemy as if you shot at them from German trenches. "Out of this awful conflagration America must bring her faith unshaken. Our only hope now is in our religion. All other powers seem to have failed."

"I believe in the great God who is above all creeds; who has created the great world, always working the miracle of escaping from the lower to the higher conditions of life. I believe with all my soul that God will find His way and the way for us through all our labors and sacrifices and sufferings, to have a world in which righteousness will be married to peace."

The closing evening session of the convention was marked by a fine attendance and interest with some delightful music furnished by Mrs. Louis A. Holthhouse, Decatur; Mrs. Tass Clifford Love, Worthington; and Mrs. Elka A. Silverstein, Terre Haute.

Afternoon Notes. "War Problems of the Public Health Nurse" was the subject presented with much force by Miss Helen K. Stewart, Ohio state supervising nurse, during the Thursday afternoon session. "The need of public health nurses, of training schools for such nurses and of the right kind of young women to take the training, were a few points Miss Stewart's talk made clear."

Many women of parent-teacher clubs in this city, as well as visitors, listened to Mrs. Frederick Schaaf, of Philadelphia.

"We can save the lives of 200,000 babies in this country every year if we educate the mothers in their proper care," said Mrs. Schaaf, president of the National Congress of Mothers. "This is the only country in the world that undertakes to educate mothers and fathers in the proper care of their children. The Parent-Teachers' association," she said, "were the very best means for carrying on this work."

Dr. Hurty's Remarks.

Although not a long talk, Dr. Hurty's remarks before the convention on Thursday afternoon were of much interest and contained information that was regarded valuable because it came first hand and from unquestioned authority. Dr. Hurty talked of health conditions in army camps and among other things, said:

"I have the keenest joy and pleasure in being able to announce the complete conquest of typhoid fever and para-typhoid fever in your Uncle Samuel's army camps. I spent last week in Washington conferring with experts in sanitation and disease prevention. This fact was disseminated upon and it was agreed that it was a great victory. The way it has been done is thorough cleanliness and vaccination. If you will enter one of the camps of your Uncle Sam at the present time, and make thorough inspection, you will find it exceedingly clean, cleaner, indeed, than any of the cities or towns in Indiana or Ohio, or any of the states. There are no bad odors in the camps such as are found in cities and towns of our state. The beds are clean, the bedding is thoroughly aired each morning. The only fault to be found is with the diet. At the beginning the diet was not what it should be, due more particularly to the confusion in these camps at the beginning, and the mess sergeants had to learn how to select food. At present the diet is well balanced and the only disorders have come from the soldiers being permitted to buy and eat so much between meals. "The diseases that prevail at the army camps now will surprise you—measles, mumps, meningitis and pneumonia, and the surgeons say they would rather handle smallpox than measles."

Continuing Dr. Hurty said: "The proposition is to remove from the zones of the camps the temptations through which social diseases are spread. There must be a ceaseless unending fight against the double standard of morals. That must go on, and it will only go on through the women. Men will not take up that fight. You will have plenty of men to help you, but it is woman's problem to solve. Women who claim to be respectable come to the camp in cabs, and so they manage to see the young men. All of those people are more or less feeble-minded; they do not have moral force. Here is our scheme: the law gives to the state board of health the power to announce and declare what are infectious contagious diseases and shall be in quarantine and isolated. The power has not yet been used for social diseases, but the time has come when it should be done. Then those diseases will be quarantined, and men who have them will be immediately quarantined and cared for and punished. We hope to have this plan in operation by another week, and hope to get results from it. There is no substitute for righteousness. No sanitary or social problem can be solved by caring for its victims. Prevention is the thing. The great problem of this world is not to keep men out of hell—the great problem is to keep hell out of men."

"male" citizens 21 years old or more the court said if the contention was correct the legislature could pass a law permitting persons less than 21 years old to vote.

The right of franchise is a political privilege only which originates from the people in their organic law, or through legislative action taken after the people have authorized such action, the decision said.

Oltes the Constitution. The two things which governed the case before the court and which made the law invalid, the court said were Article 2, Section 2 of the constitution, which defines the electorate which may participate in all elections and second, that the general assembly has not the authority to extend the right of franchise to persons not included in the definition set forth in Article 2, Section 2 of the constitution.

The suit was filed several months ago in a Marion county court by W. W. Knight, a local business man. The lower court held the law to be unconstitutional and issued an injunction against the election officials of Indianapolis forbidding them to permit women to vote.

Got Injunction. The lower court said that Knight was entitled to an injunction to prevent women from registering, but as the matter was one which would be presented to the supreme court and the time was so short that a decision probably could not be given before the time for registration had expired, no injunction against that part of the preparation for the election was issued. Thousands of women registered here. As the case stood until the decision by the supreme court today, only women in Indianapolis were enjoined from voting. The decision, holding the law invalid, is of state-wide effect and although the only injunction as yet issued is against the women of Indianapolis, in no municipality probably will they be permitted to vote. The court held women are not entitled to vote for school commissioners.

Regarding Gas. Mr. Niezer devoted much time in both of his addresses Thursday evening to the gas rate question. He spoke in part as follows:

One important question which will come up during the first year of the democratic administration, will be the adjustment of the rate for gas. The present franchise with the gas company which is now receiving 35 cents per thousand cubic feet for gas will expire in April, 1918. If I am elected mayor, I will see to it that the lowest possible rate is obtained for the people. If we cannot get a satisfactory rate, I will do what I can to establish a municipal gas plant in Port Wayne. This is a matter of great concern. The gas company has filed a petition with the public service commission to adjust 33 1-3 per cent to the present charges and if that goes through, you will not only pay 35 cents, but $1.12. Port Wayne got its municipal light plant because the privately owned concern was charging more for current than the people thought they ought to pay. The rate now is 7 cents per kilowatt, and the only reason it is not down to 6 cents is because the city's competitor has filed a protest against the 6 cent rate. If that protest with the public service commission was lifted, Port Wayne would get its light for six cents.

If I am elected mayor I will use my best efforts to protect the electric light plant, the water works plant, and, if necessary, establish a municipal gas plant in Port Wayne. Mr. Niezer was unable to talk long because of a severe cold. He left the Jefferson school as soon as he had concluded his speech and went to the Smart school where he found a large crowd waiting to hear him.

Republican Meetings. Mr. Cutshall spoke at the South Wayne and the Clay schools last evening. Charles R. Lane also spoke at the South Wayne school. Other speakers at the Clay school were Ed Meyers, E. M. Buchanan, candidate for councilman; Robert Dreiblehiss, David Vesey and Judge Frank E. Mungovan.

The day's sale will close only when the last man who desires a bond has bought it. "Positive evidence that more than $2,000,000 already has been subscribed, is at hand. The difference between that figure and the total hoped for is great, but the determination to achieve the maximum quota is greater."

Rush for the Bonds. "Totals for the Liberty Day sales still are incomplete. In Boston and Cleveland districts, particularly, they are piling up with great rapidity. As an instance of the movement in Boston, within a few hours last night the districts reported total advanced as $25,000,000. Individual purchases are swamping Cleveland and every town in the district appears to be set on not only reaching but surpassing its maximum quota."

"Boston already has subscribed for the city itself $112,000,000 and Worcester, Hartford, Pittsfield, Portland, Norwood, Bath, Gardiner, Saco, Stonington and Litchfield all have passed their maximum quotas."

"The Kansas City district, which probably has reached its minimum of $120,000,000, gave a partial report by states today, which indicated great activity in the southwest."

Incomplete Returns. "Incomplete returns show subscription as follows: Nebraska, $20,000,000; Kansas, $17,000,000; Missouri, $18,000,000; Colorado, $11,000,000; Oklahoma, $11,000,000; Wyoming, $3,000,000, and New Mexico, $1,000,000."

"Oregon and Arizona have reached their minimum. California is going strong, but reports from there are incomplete, as they also are for Utah and Idaho. New York having passed the $1,000,000,000 mark yesterday is driving hard today for its maximum quota of $1,500,000,000, with high hopes of success."

southwest of Laon. Field Marshal Haig is hammering at the one and Gen. Petain is smashing through the other. A German retreat all along the line might result in surprising eventualities and there are reports from Germany that such action is not without the realm of possibilities.

Italy's armies are fighting against the massed attacks of the Austro-Germans along the Isonzo north of Gorizia. Gen. Cadorna apparently has checked the Teuton efforts on the Bainsizza plateau at the southern end of the line. Near Flitsch, at the northern end, and south of Tolmino, in the center, the Austro-Germans made gains. South of Tolmino, the Italians were clinging to the eastern bank of the Isonzo and the Teuton thrust forced them to cross to the western bank. Berlin claims the capture of 10,000 prisoners and much material.

The fighting on this front is all on Austrian territory and the terrain is very difficult, which should be helpful to Gen. Cadorna, who has proved himself a master of mountain warfare. Behind the Italians are many high mountains and the country here is more sparsely settled than that farther south around Gorizia.

Lack of confidence has been voted in the Italian cabinet by the chamber of deputies. The troubles of the Bozelli ministry arise apparently from its handling of the food question and not from any lack of faith in its ability to carry on the war on the fighting front. Signor Orlando, a member of the Bozelli cabinet, is mentioned as the probable new leader of the Italian government.

The Brazilian parliament votes today on whether to declare that a state of war exists with Germany. President Brazao has asked for the passage of measures for carrying on hostilities. The torpedoing of the Brazilian steamer Macau brought matters to a head. Brazil revoked her attitude of neutrality several months ago.

While the Germans on the Alsne front were still smarting from the heavy blow Gen. Petain had administered to them, leaving him uninterupted in organizing the captured ground, they were called upon to face today a resumption of the entente offensive in Flanders.

Both Field Marshal Haig and the Paris war office report the launching of the new attack, which is declared to be developing satisfactorily, although under most adverse weather conditions.

Mace Austrians Use To Murder Wounded

With a cruel, outlasting even that of the P. Austrian soldiers, whenever they gain a momentary superiority, rush over the battlefield killing the enemy wounded with this mace. It is a handle with a spring of steel and a pear-shaped head of solid steel, and a loop to go about the wrist. It is more effective than the old type of mace with a rigid handle, and when swung against the head of a wounded soldier will fracture the skull despite the protecting steel helmet.

Censored and Passed by Committee on Public Information

The yarn about this picture is that it is a picture about yarn and its uses in modern warfare. Evidently these wayfarers of warfare are faring so well with the fact they will have to say farewell. The boys of Governor's Island have with them today the girls of the "Oh, Boy!" company, and oh, boy! how those officers did like to learn to knit! As the title shows, the picture was "censored and passed by the committee on public information," despite its frank revelation of the latest barbed yarn entanglements which General Cupid has set to snare those unaware.

FREE SAFETY DEPOSIT FOR LIBERTY'S BONDS

BY MILTON BRONNER,
Of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, Oct. 26.—If the United States treasury liberty loan department can bring it about, there will be a bank in every town in the country where liberty bond purchasers can deposit them free and thus keep them burglar-proof, loss-proof and fire-proof.

One of the drawbacks in the campaign to sell millions of bonds to people of small means has been this very thing of safety for the precious papers. Most people keep no box in a safety vault and can't afford to. They keep no bank account and know little about banking business.

The thrifty do know they can put their money in a savings bank and withdraw their savings as needed. They also know all about building and loan associations.

The treasury department realizes it would be a big talking point if it could be shown that in every town where committees were actively at work, the purchasers of bonds could deposit them free of charge in bank safety vaults.

France is one of the greatest bond purchasing countries in the world in ordinary times. Many American industrial state and municipal securities are held by the French peasants. And one of the reasons why is said to be that many of the banks which offer these stocks for sale also give the purchaser free storage of papers in vaults.

An elaborate index system is carried on, and in case a man or woman loses the receipt, identity can easily be established and access obtained to one's belongings.

Men, we specialize in suits and overcoats for the man who thinks he is hard to fit. We have models and styles for every figure.

OLD FOLKS NEED

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, Calomel, Pills Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bilious, Sick, Headachy and Constipated.

Get a 10-cent box now. Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles. So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.—Advertisement.

The Danish government has ordered another reduction in the size of the standing army. The step is taken, it is stated, "mainly for financial reasons, but also because discipline in the army has been weakened and its quality deteriorated under protracted service." At the beginning of the European war, Denmark called up 45,000 men in addition to the 12,500 who are always under training. This force was gradually reduced to 25,000, and a further reduction of about 25 per cent has now been decided upon.

GOVERNMENT CONTROLS

NEW MERCHANT MARINE

Uncle Sam Himself is Now Running All Ships That Fly His Flag.

BY GILSON GARDNER,
Of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—All ships flying the American flag are now operated by the United States government. They were commandeered Oct. 15. The private owner no longer has anything to say about what his vessel—where it goes, what it carries and what it charges.

The ships taken over aggregate two million tons and number 450.

I dropped into the shipping board to see the effect of this operation. I found Bainbridge Colby, one of the newly appointed members, with an office full of people waiting and a string of telegraph messengers going and coming.

"It has been an almost continuous flow of telegrams for four days," Colby explained. "I have had an expert at my elbow and have worked every night until after midnight so that every telegraphic question might be immediately answered. We were very anxious to have no interruption in the traffic. Things are going very nicely."

The government is paying from $5.75 to $7 a dead weight ton for vessels it takes over. This insures the owners a comfortable profit, though less than the previous war ocean rates. The owners get paid for his vessel used or not, and it is up to the government to use it to the best advantage of war and industry.

The army and navy have first call. After that industries important to the war. In some cases the ships are turned back to the private owners to be operated for government account.

"All this," Colby explained, will steady freight rates and expedite war supplies. The element of competition being removed, the vessels will be assigned where they are most needed and can do the best service. We have adopted the method England came to after experimenting with other plans."

Colby says the shipping board will succeed soon in taking over the Dutch ships now tied up in American ports. "There are," said he, "complicated questions involved, but these vessels cannot be permitted to lie idle when the world needs them."

Commissioner Raymond Stevens, of the shipping board, is at work to speed up the construction of vessels. It has been decided to pay over-time rates for extra work, and if the labor can be had, to work two or three shifts of eight hours each a day. By this means it will be possible to add to the estimate of one million tons to be turned out in American shipyards by March 1, 1918.

Suffered Terribly From a Burning Sensation in His Stomach.

"Last summer I had a bad spell of indigestion that lasted about ten days. There was a terrible burning sensation and a good deal of gas in my stomach. I suffered terribly at times, being unable to get relief. I took a friend's advice and began using Chamberlain's Tablets. The relief from the first was very apparent, and by taking only half a bottle of them I was cured," writes G. F. Parkhurst, Cicero, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Medicines That Aid Nature Most Effectual.

As a general rule the medicines that aid nature are most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. When you have need of such a medicine give it a trial. You will never regret it.—Advertisement.

Furniture You May Be Justly Proud Of

In buying furniture more care should be used in your selection than in purchasing anything else. You buy furniture only once in many years and frequently only once in a lifetime. It is different from purchasing wearing apparel that you will cast off with the next season. You make your selection today and if you err in your choice it spoils your home for years and years. Here at Hadley's we take this into consideration whenever we sell a customer. Perhaps you have noticed how frequently we advertise "Every sale must advertise this store." That's our policy. We know that if you are a satisfied customer you will do more to increase our business than almost any amount of newspaper space. We know to make you satisfied you must not only be sold furniture of the highest quality, but you must be sold furniture of the proper style and character. Only when you are really proud of your furniture are you really satisfied. Consequently, we can assure you that at Hadley's we shall do our utmost to provide you with furniture that you will always welcome exhibiting in your home.

All the Latest Columbia Records

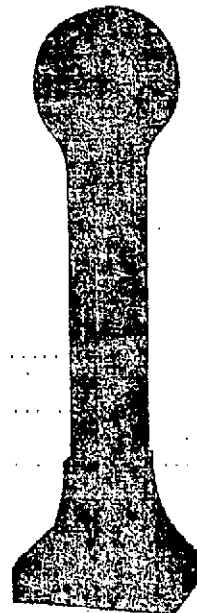

Notice Columbia Tone

There's nothing like Columbia Tone when you hear Columbia records played on the Columbia Grafonola. Come to Hadley's where you will find all the popular pieces of the day ready for your selection. Hear them the next time you come down to shop.

Grafonolas $18.00 to $350

Columbia Grafonolas may be had at any price you feel like paying, from $18.00 to $350.00. At Hadley's you may make your selection and have it delivered to your home for a small cash payment, while the balance can be paid as your purse permits.

Thermometer Clocks $1.98

These clocks come in two different designs. The first is like the one illustrated. The second is fashioned like a cross. You also have your choice of mahogany, walnut or oak finishes in either style. Both clocks are equipped with a standard thermometer. They are not only useful but ornamental. Get yours early before the supply is exhausted. Regular price $3.50.

Golden Oak Library Table $12.75

A Striking Design

Here's a Library Table that will always be in good taste and good style. It is a design that is different from so many of the common tables one sees nowadays and still it is in no way a freakish pattern. It is handsomely finished in Golden Oak and represents a value that cannot be duplicated elsewhere at anywhere near this price.

Big, Strong and Massive

The construction of this Library Table is every bit as good as its appearance. It is not one of the cheap flimsy styles that you frequently see advertised. It is built entirely of solid oak and is so strong and substantial that it should last for a lifetime. Come and see it and you'll marvel at the price we ask for it.

Massive Bed $34.50 Davenport

Golden or Fumed Oak or Mahogany

This davenport will match your furniture, no matter what its finish. The frames are massive and as a consequence, extraordinarily durable. The upholstery is just as long wearing, for it is a leather substitute that cannot peel or crack as leather frequently does.

The First Law Hospitality

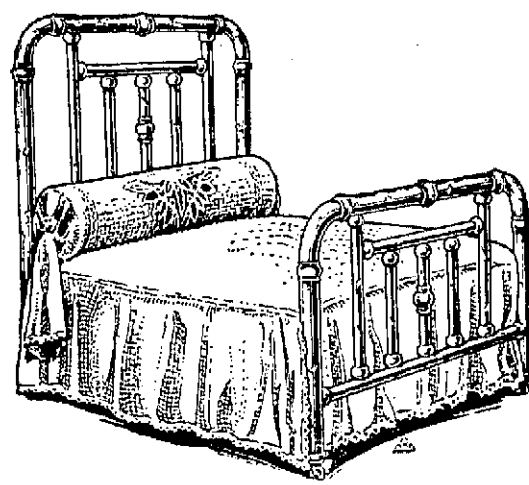

—is to be always prepared with just such an "emergency bed." It is by day, a very desirable, useful and ornamental addition to the living room. In fact, a living room is not complete without such a piece of furniture. And by night, it gives the visitor good rest and sound sleep.

Howard Heater $15.85

Considering the amount of coal it consumes, this Howard Heater, beyond a doubt, gives more heat than any other base burner manufactured. There are hundreds of these Howard Base Burners in use in Fort Wayne and every one who has ever used one, feels that he cannot be too strong in their praise. It is economical in fuel, holds fire as long as you would want it to, and throws its heat in every direction.

A Bargain In Brass Beds $27.50

2-Inch Posts and 2-Inch Fillers

Several Designs to Select from

In addition to the brass bed shown in the above illustration we are offering several other styles at this price for this week. Each design is a beauty. They are all among the most popular styles of the day, and any one of them will prove attractive in the bedroom in which it is used.

They Appear Worth Double

These beds are strong and massive construction are of the best and the sive. The material and construction is warranted not to tarnish or wear off. You could not duplicate these beds anywhere else at $10.00 more than the price we are asking, for it is only an unusual purchase that permits us to sell them in this way.

In spite of the best care one takes of oneself, any part of the human machine is liable to become out of order. The most important organs are the stomach, heart and kidneys.

The kidneys are the scavengers and they work day and night in separating the poisons from the blood. It is only reasonable to believe that they are liable to derangement. Their signals of distress, however, are easily recognized and include such symptoms as backache, depression, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic twinges, dropsy, gout.

"The very best way to restore the kidneys to their normal state of health," says Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "is to drink plenty of pure water and obtain from your favorite pharmacy a small amount of Anuric (double strength), which is dispensed by most every druggist. Anuric is inexpensive and should be taken before meals. You will find Anuric more potent than lithia, dissolving uric acid almost as water does sugar."

NEWS OF SOUTH BEND.

South Bend, Ind.—"When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription I was suffering from stomach trouble, constipation, and woman's weakness. The 'Golden Medical Discovery' had been a favorite remedy for coughs with my mother. I used the two remedies off and on for nearly a year. I was relieved of the womanly trouble, and the stomach trouble improved under this treatment. The 'Pleasant Pellets' have also been used with the greatest benefit."—Mrs. John Saxenay, 613 E. MAKING THE OCEAN SAFE FOR SOLDIERS

What Uncle Sam is Doing to Protect Troops Crossing Sea.

BY BASIL M. MANLY
Of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—Despite the Kaiser's lurking U-boats, American troops are crossing the Atlantic in unprecedented numbers with remarkably few casualties.

The fact that only one troop-ship has been sunk, although there have been transports on the ocean every day since mid-June, serves to bring the government's precautions into bold relief.

For four months German U-boats never ceased their efforts to sink an American transport, although the July 4 announcement of the attack on a convoyed fleet was the only one made public. This is by no means the only attack that has taken place.

There is every reason to believe U-boats have been taken from the British sealanes to patrol the French lanes over which American transports steam. This may account for the falling off in sinkings of British merchant ships.

Although the U. S. transport Antilles sank in five minutes, 167 of the 237 on board were saved, and there is reason to believe a large number of those who died were killed by the explosion and not by drowning. If in peace times a liner had sunk in five minutes, hardly a person would have been saved.

What these precautions are cannot be told in too great detail, but the main reliance are life-saving jackets, life-boats and life-saving rafts.

The life-saving jacket, which has supplanted the old life-preserver, is a part of the regular equipment of the troops and sailors while on board. As soon as the submarine zone is entered every man aboard puts on his life jacket and keeps it on until he is safe ashore. The life-saving rafts are the last great reliance if a ship is torpedoed. They do not have to be lowered alongside, but lie on the decks and can be cut loose even when the ship is sinking.

To avoid every possibility of disorder in case the ship is struck, there are constant boat drills—before breakfast, in the morning, afternoon and at night.

And best of all, over the whole submarine area there is always an allied destroyer or patrol within a few minutes' steaming distance, ready to answer the first signal of an attacked ship. In times of peace shipwrecked passengers might be afloat for hours or even days without sighting a vessel, but now the patrol of the danger zone is so thorough that speedy rescue is assured.

"I can recommend Chamberlain's Tablets at the best laxative and cure for constipation that I know of," writes Frank Strause, Fruitland, Iowa.—Advertisement.

MANY IMPROVEMENT RESOLUTIONS PASS

on Hugh Street.

Not a dissenting vote was cast against the many improvement resolutions passed by the board of works Thursday night. Building resolutions were confirmed for the construction of the following cement sidewalks: On the south side of Hugh street, from Francis to Harnar; east side of Arlington avenue, from Barrett avenue to Rudisill boulevard; south side of Pierce avenue, from South Wayne avenue to 150 feet east, west side of St. Mary's avenue, from Hugh to Third; east side of St. Mary's avenue, from Burgess to High.

Assessment rolls were confirmed for the paving of Wayne street, from Grand to Glasgow; for building sidewalks on both sides of Zollars avenue, from Nelson to Thompson avenue, and on both sides of Woodview avenue, from Hanna to the alley east of Gay street.

The board also confirmed a resolution asking for the condemning of a right of way for a sewer along the west side of Spy Run avenue, from the St. Mary's river to Lawton park, and for vacating one foot of ground between lots 69 and 70 in the Driving Park addition.

A petition submitted by residents of the neighborhood asking for the construction of a sewer in the alley west of Beaver avenue, from Nuttman avenue to the first alley north was referred to the city engineer with instructions to prepare plans and specifications.

Typhoon of Fire Is Driving the Wedge

Slowly but surely the British are driving the wedge home through the German line beyond Ypres. They have called to their aid what is now described as a "typhoon of fire." Other plunges forward followed "drums of fire," and "hurricanes of fire." That's making it "hotter" for the German trenches right along. This wedge will permit attacks upon the German flanks if driven deep enough, and may cut the German lines. Flank attacks are less costly in men than are frontal attacks, and usually are better ground gainers.

Major Miller also told of the children's home at Tiffin, Ohio, which is one of the largest institutions in the country of its kind. C. W. Smith, of

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 28

EZRA RETURNING FROM BABYLON.

LESSON TEXT—Ezra 8:15-36. GOLDEN TEXT—The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek him.—Ezra 8:22.

An interval of some fifty years intervenes between the dedication of the temple and the journey of Ezra to Palestine. Some stirring events in the world occurred in this time which greatly helped the Jews. It was during this time that the episode of Esther's being made queen and the elevation of Mordecai occurred, which favorably disposed the Persian government toward the Jews. The time was auspicious for Ezra to make his request unto Artaxerxes. The supreme aim of Ezra was the restoration of the true worship of Jehovah, for it is evident that the work done by Zerubbabel had largely failed of its aim. In order that Ezra might be an efficient instrument in the hands of God for the accomplishment of this purpose, he "prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord and to do it, and to teach in Israel the statutes and judgments" (7:10). There are three stages in the experience of every true teacher. First: to seek the law of the Lord. Second: to do it. Third: to teach it to others. The last is impossible without the first two.

The royal commission granted to Ezra embraced—

(1) The return of all whose free will prompted them to do so (7:13).

(2) Ezra's being given magisterial authority over the district "beyond the river" (7:25, 26).

(3) Exemption from taxation to the Levites (7:24).

(4) Conveyance of offerings from the king and his officers (7:15, 16).

I. Register of Ezra's Companions (1:14). Doubtless this is a representative list of those who joined Ezra. There is clear implication that the twelve tribes are represented among those who returned. (See 2:70; 8:16, 17).

II. Ezra Sends to Iddo for Ministers for the Temple Service (vv. 15-20). Before the journey to Palestine was actually begun, Ezra gathered about him his companions who were to accompany him, to see whether they were representative. In this review he discovered that none of the sons of Levi were in the company. So he sent chief men to Iddo, who was doubtless the president of the school of the Levites, for ministers for God's house. In response to this appeal, 38 Levites and 220 Nehemiah's joined him.

III. Ezra Seeking the Guidance of the Lord (vv. 21-23). The journey was full of deadly perils. It lay through a region infested with Bedouin marauders. Ezra, fully conscious of these, assumed to ask help of the king, but claimed a fast, in which in deep meditation they sought the guidance and protection of God. This is a fine illustration of the independence, and yet dependence, of the men who fully trust God. His chief concern was for the honor of God's name. He had so confidently and repeatedly spoken to the king of the divine sufficiency that now to have asked for a guard of soldiers would cause him to blush with shame. In this critical hour they committed themselves to the care of Him who keepeth Israel. We should begin every journey, every undertaking, every new piece of work, every new day by seeking the direction of God. No friendship or business interest ever reaches its best unless God's hand be in it and upon it. We should not go anywhere, engage in any business or have any friendship upon which we may not ask God's blessing and aid. They sought this for themselves, for their children, and all their substance. God knew that as soon as they made God first his blessing would be upon them, and as soon as they forsook him his power would be withdrawn and his wrath would be upon them.

IV. The Treasure Committed to Twelve Priests (vv. 24-30). Combined with their faith in God, we find practical business sense. Honest, trustworthy, good men were selected (v. 28). To such only should be intrusted the Lord's money—gifts offered freely to the Lord by his people. Again, the money was carefully counted and weighed, and the amount set down. The men were held accountable at the end of the journey for everything intrusted to them. Men ought to be held to strict account for everything intrusted to them, to the very last cent. The men to whom this was intrusted were holy; the gifts were God's; they did not belong to any man; they were charged with the obligation to deliver these gifts before the chief priests.

V. The Safe Arrival at Jerusalem (vv. 31-36). The journey lasted four months. They carried with them millions of dollars' worth of treasure, through a region infested with marauding Bedouins, yet God delivered them from their hands. At the end of the journey they testified to the faithfulness of God in bringing them safely on (v. 31). The safe arrival at the end of each day's journey is due to the good hand of our God upon us. After resting three days, the treasure was brought into the temple and burnt offerings were made before the Lord Jehovah.

EXPECT RECORD CROWD OF THE SEASON SUNDAY

With Pitcairn Quakers—
Visitors to Arrive Early

The Pitcairn Quakers, claimants of two states championships, are looming up stronger each day and one of the best games of the season may be expected. The Pittsburgh team is composed mostly of college stars who are employed by the Pennsylvania company, and it has the backing of most of the capitalists of the Smoky city. A number of the fans usually accompany the team on its trips. So strong is the team that at one of the games in Virginia a fan placed a wager of $5,000 that the Pitcairn outfit would win the game. By their defeat of Youngstown a few weeks ago the team proved the game they are capable of playing.

The work of the officials in last Sunday's game was so satisfactory that they have been engaged for this game so the fans may be sure of absolutely fair decisions on all plays. A preliminary game, starting at 1:30, will be arranged and the big battle will begin at 2:30. The seat sale has been very large, a number of delegations coming from neighboring towns, but there still are a number of good seats which may be reserved. Advance seat sale at Shuman & Dennis cigar store.

PURDUE IS OUT TO MAKE GOOD SHOWING

linois Team at Urbana
Saturday.

Football interest in Indiana for Saturday will be centered on Purdue's effort against Zuppke's squad at Urbana. Although O'Donnell's boilermakers have shown very little this season, they, on paper, seem to have a strong eleven, and when O'Donnell can mold them into an eleven they are likely to show some form.

Purdue has played three games to date and has won one. Their victory was of the hollow style, beating DePauw 7 to 6, only because the DePauw goal kicker failed to boot the ball between the cross-bars for the one point that would have given Russ's men a tie score.

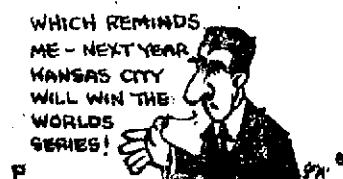

Purdue failed to stop the green Chicago team last Saturday, but still O'Donnell has the material and will be at Urbana Saturday giving Zuppke's charges something to think about. Work this week has been most rigid and reports from the Lafayette camp would indicate the coach is well pleased with the result he has been getting. Huffine is expected back in the game Saturday and his line plunging ability may cause the Urbana contingent some trouble.

Has a Strong Eleven.
Coach Zuppke has a strong eleven and is expecting the Purdue game to give the Illinois a good workout for bigger game—the Chicago contest Nov. 3. Zuppke, however, does not want to show his pet plays in the Purdue game, as Maroon scouts will be in evidence Saturday.

Two other games will be played in the Big Ten Saturday, but neither of them are expected to have any bearing on the title. Northwestern plays Chicago and Stagg's powerful green eleven is expected to snag a victory, although the runners-up for the conference title last season have been making rapid strides in perfecting their teamwork and may be able to throw a scare into the Maroon camp. Stagg is practically in the same predicament Zuppke is in. Illinois scouts will be at the Northwestern game and Stagg would be chagrined to have to open up his plays so that the Illinois scouts could perfect a defense for them. He will attempt to use straight football in beating Northwestern.

HUGGINS SIGNS TO

Quits Cardinals for Job as

Manager of New York

Americans.

New York, Oct. 26.—President Jacob

Ruppert, of the New York American league team, has announced he had signed

Miller Huggins, retiring manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, to manage the Yankees under a two year contract.

Huggins will succeed William Donovan, who has managed the Yankees for the last three seasons. Huggins conferred with

Branch Rickey, president of the St. Louis

Cardinals, last week, and they were unable to reach terms. He then accepted the offer from New York.

Success With Cards.

Huggins has spent his entire major league career in the National league up to the present. He was purchased by Cincinnati from St. Paul in 1903 and played there until 1910, when he was traded to St. Louis. He was appointed manager of the St. Louis team in 1912, and retired as an active player last season. During his career as manager St. Louis finished third twice, the highest the club has been since 1876.

President Ruppert said Donovan will not be retained in any capacity, although

BY GILMOUR DOBIE.

Famous Football Coach, Undefeated for Twelve Years, Now Coaching at the U. S. Naval Academy.

In this series play it is essential that the men move to their positions rapidly after the first part of the play has been completed. If the play is thoroughly learned it should prove very successful and may be used several times in a game without fear of detection.

The men take the regular positions for straight football, three men on each side of the center and the backs about four yards behind the line.

The first play is the straight buck by No. 3, a good gainer which should net some yardage.

As the ball is snapped Nos. 1, 4, 5 and 6 go to positions indicated by arrows in Fig. 1 and set for the second play. No. 2 after passing the ball to No. 3 for the buck takes his position quickly as indicated.

Left tackle and left guard open for No. 3. Other line men block their men, then all five men move quickly about two yards to the right.

After being tackled No. 3 gets up quickly and passes ball with a side pass to No. 2, who runs around and behind interference as indicated in Fig. 2. The two plays should be pulled off so quickly that the defense is taken off its guard.

Ruppert paid an eloquent tribute to the former manager, saying his release caused more grief than anything which has happened during his business career.

Huggins is Optimistic.

Huggins said he had no immediate plans for the team, although he thinks he has the nucleus of a strong squad, and expects to be well up in the race. He will bring with him Thomas Conery, former scout of the Cardinals.

In commenting on Huggins' engagement by the Yankees President John K. Tener, of the National league, said:

Huggins is the fifth manager engaged by the New York Americans since a club was placed in New York, the others being Griffith, Elberfeld, Stallings, Chase, Donovan, Chance, Peckinpaugh and Donovan.

GERMANY IS REALIZING WE ARE IN THE WAR

Prussian Mud Batteries Are Turned on President, Army and Navy.

By MILTON BRONNER, Of Our Washington Bureau.
 Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—During the past two months the governing powers of Germany and the servile Prussian press have suddenly awakened to the fact that the United States is really preparing to make its force felt in the world war. This, and the smashing indictment of the Hohenzollerns written by President Wilson in his reply to the paper's last peace proposal, have caused all Germany to talk more of America than of Russia or of peace. The empire has rung with a new hymn of hate, in which we have been the ones they want to strafe. The hymn contains four sections:

- 1—Violent abuse of President Wilson.
- 2—Ridicule for our army and navy.
- 3—Anxious discussion of the indemnity they would like to exact from us.
- 4—Eagerness to get new territory from which they can menace us in the future.

Immediately after the president's note to the pope, all kinds of organizations passed resolutions denouncing Wilson. These formal declarations were sent to the inner circle of the empire.

For instance, the painters of Berlin sent such a telegram to Kaiser Wilhelm, and he replied thanking them for their loyal pledge regarding the "attempt to seduce the German people into a breach of faith against their kaiser and the empire."

The crown prince proved himself an apt "Me-Too," by thinking the Hamburg chamber of commerce for "the refreshing candor with which the presumption of the American president was deservedly declined."

One General Hindenburg—Marshal Backwards—was the busy boy. He did more lighting with his pen than with his sword. He gave out a message assuring Germans that they had placed themselves firmly behind the kaiser as an answer to the "presumptuous words" of Wilson. A few days later he wired to the Cologne chamber of commerce:

"By his attempt to create disunity President Wilson has succeeded in uniting the German people. I don't doubt that Wilson will receive a clear answer by the seventh war loan. May he in the future continue to be a part of the force which ever intends evil and does good."

Three weeks later he sent a similar message to the Catholic People's Union of Essen, where the Krupp cannon are made.

Count Hertling, prime minister of Bavaria, in an address to the Bavarian diet, attacked Wilson, saying: "What makes his note insufferable and must challenge the sharpest protests upon the imperial government, as well as the transparent effort to sow dissatisfaction between the government and the German people."

The town council of Potsdam, where is located the main residence of the kaiser, passed resolutions which said:

"Filled with contempt, our citizens turn aside from the shameless hypocrite (Wilson) who seeks to hide behind high-sounding idealism his anxiety about the blood-money which he has advanced to his English colleague." The president is referred to as the "crafty hypocrite who with the simple impudence of an uneducated parvenu has the insolence to interfere in our domestic affairs."

The Rheinische Westfälische Zeitung, a militant makers' organ, says the president's note exhibits colossal arrogance and insolence. It continues:

"German self-respect is aroused by these words which are like strokes of a whip. The red flame of fury must rise in the cheeks of every honest German when he reads such production of American humbuggousness. Let submarine warfare go on a little longer and the enemy will learn the character of the German government at the peace conference table, and will then have to accept it as it is."

The Volkszeitung, the Frankfurter Zeitung, the Deutsche Tageszeitung and the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, to mention just a few, all parrot-like proclaim that Wilson is insolent and that the German people love their kaiser.

The solitary exception is Rudolf Kommer, formerly American correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung. He warns his countrymen that the president has the majority of the people behind him and admits American preparations look menacing for Germany.

Next to abuse of the president comes ridicule of our army and navy. Admiral von Tirpitz, chief advocate of submarine frightfulness, in an interview in Budapest, characterized America's military help in the war as a "phantom."

The Leipziger Neueste Nachrichten said "the American regulars resembled Falstaff's guards."

The Weser Zeitung ridicules the statement that 50,000 American troops have already arrived in France and that later a million are coming. It claims America can never find the shipping to transport them and their supplies.

Captain Persius, well-known naval critic in Berliner Tageblatt, tells his readers the American navy cannot do what the allied fleets failed to accomplish.

Admiral Tirpitz recently said submarine warfare was Germany's legal right and that Belgium had received her just deserts. He further declared peace without a heavy war indemnity meant Germany's defeat.

With an eye to future attacks upon America, Emil Zimmerman, in the Vossische Zeitung, demands a great colonial empire in Central Africa, which would be the natural ally of the Latin South and Central American states.

Professor Hans Meyer in Deutsche Politik, wants Germany to grab all of Portugal's African colonies and her islands in the Atlantic as links to the Panama canal and America.

Why Colds Are Dangerous.
 It is not only the serious diseases that so often start with a cold that make a cold the most dangerous of the minor ailments, but the fact that when a child has a cold he is much more likely to contract germ diseases such as scarlet fever and diphtheria. For this reason every cold should be gotten rid of as quickly as possible. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained a wide reputation for its quick cures of bad colds. You will look a long time before you find a better preparation for that disease. Advertisment.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Speaking as a party leader and as an individual, President Wilson today urged the woman suffrage issue upon the votes of all states. TELEPHONE GIRLS.

At Huntington Push Sale of Liberty Bonds.

Huntington, Ind., Oct. 26.—Every person using the telephone here today was greeted with these words, spoken with the sweetness that only a telephone operator can put into her voice: "Buy a Liberty bond—number please."

From 7 o'clock this morning until 6 o'clock this afternoon for the continuance of the practice, and before 8 o'clock nearly everybody in town had learned that Alfred L. Greenman, manager of the company, and every operator in his employ were boosting Uncle Sam's bond sale. It meant much more work for the operators, and the company's kitchen came into use. Hot coffee, sandwiches and apples were served from the kitchen all day to the operators at the expense of the management.

Mr. Greenman thought of the plan last night when he went to his home and was reading the evening paper, telling of the bond sales. He talked it over with his wife, and Mrs. Greenman said she believed in the interest of the government and the boys at the front the public ought not to complain, and the operators would be glad to do their bit.

The public took the new order gracefully, and the girls remained sweet all day in spite of the extra work. As far as known here it is the first time any telephone company has tried such a scheme of advertising Liberty bonds.

RECIPE FOR "WAR BUTTER."

One Pound Made to Produce Two and One-Fourth Pound.

Huntington, Ind., Oct. 26.—J. W. Caswell, principal owner of the Caswell-Rumay company, and president of the Commercial association, is setting an example for Huntington county people by using "war butter." The butter is made from creamery butter and it yields two and one-fourth pounds for every pound of butter used. Following is the recipe:

"To each pound of butter use one pint of rich milk; one tablespoon of gelatine, one tablespoon of salt. Cream the butter as for cake (squeezing it through the hands). Dissolve the gelatine in a little milk. Heat the rest of the milk to the boiling point, then pour over gelatine (as for pudding) and stir until thoroughly mixed. When about lukewarm—warm as new milk—pour slowly over the creamed butter (to which has been added the salt) and beat with an egg beater until well mixed smooth and thick. Take a spoon and ladle on a plate, and as you do this each spoonful will set, piling up into firm butter."

The butter is used on the Caswell table and for every other purpose except frying.

HERE'S A PATRIOT.

Hartford City, Ind., Oct. 26.—There is said to be a farmer not far from Hartford City who has not sold his wheat for three years. There may be others over the country. Sooner or later the local councils of defense will have these men all spotted. This Blackfoot county man did not have to go to war. He has bought no Liberty Bond. As a citizen this man may be considered by Uncle Sam as a liability and not an asset. He certainly has shown no patriotism. Do you know of others? If you do now is the time to report the names to the council of defense. This is no time for holding up wheat or anything else. Prices are high enough and there is no excuse for holding large quantities of farm products. It is the poor man who is the hardest pinched.

One of the special curiosities of the fantastic grouping of stars in constellation is the fact that the second-magnitude star Beta Tauri, or El Nath, is also Gamma Aurigae; i. e., it is in two constellations. The last number of L'Astronomie reproduces charts of Taurus and Auriga from Bayer's atlas of 1603, in which Greek letters were first applied to the stars, and here we find the curious feature above mentioned, the bright star in the upper horn of the Bull is one drawing is identical with that in the left heel of Auriga in the other. Nowadays it is more usual to assign this star to Taurus, and leave to Auriga without a Gamma. Scientific American.

Jolly Hallowe'en

Apella is like a breath of Hallowe'en. Its aroma is that of ripened apples, and its sparkle like the frost in the morning sun. It is snappy and refreshing as the crisp October air.

The unfermented juice of selected apples, Apella is the King of Autumn beverages. It is clarified to a crystal-like transparency, and made to bubble and sparkle. Do not confuse Apella with cider. Compare it instead with champagne, the great aristocrat of drinks, for Apella has a champagne sparkle and a champagne flavor.

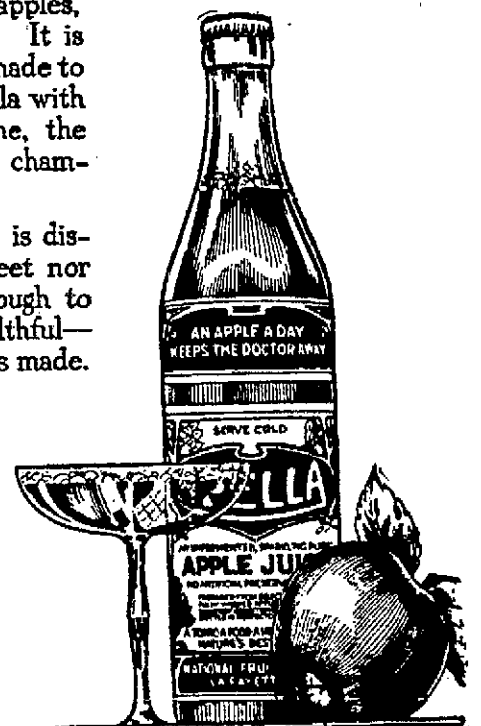

One sip will convince you that Apella is distinctly a new drink. It is neither too sweet nor too tart, but just sweet enough and tart enough to be delightful and fascinating. Apella is healthful—as healthful as the fine fruit from which it is made.

Apella adds to the charm of the mystic Hallowe'en. It is a sparkling, bubbling drink, which promotes good fellowship and laughter.

Makes Wrinkles Go "As If By Magic"

Since the discovery that merciolized wax possesses remarkable absorbent powers when applied to the skin, the demand for it as a complexion renewer has been tremendous. Druggists in every section report sales far exceeding those of anything similar they have ever had on their shelves.

Ordinary merciolized wax gently peels off the dehydrated cuticle, in minute particles, so that the user gradually loses her old worn-out complexion, the more youthful under-skin taking its place. Cutaneous eruptions, blotches, mole patches, liver spots and freckles are of course removed at the same time. As the wax is entirely harmless, and easy to use, women all over the country are purchasing it in original packages and using it to quickly rejuvenate their complexions. The wax is applied the same as cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, then washed off with warm water.—Advertisement.

A Unique Parade to Sell Liberty Bonds

Lincoln, Ill., Oct. 24.—Lincoln is a city of 10,000. In ancestry Logan county, in which it is located, is figured as 60 per cent German.

But in this town of 10,000 a mass of 20,000 people jammed the streets to watch 8,000 people march in a celebration that put Logan county first in Illinois in percentage of liberty loan subscriptions.

How and why? The answer is D. S. Hollenga, secretary of the Lincoln Commercial club and captain of the Home Guards.

Hollenga gave the day's celebration the slogan, "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself."

He says, and Lincoln agrees, there is no problem of war or peace that the love thy neighbor as thyself slogan will not solve.

FATIGUE NEARLY OVERCOMES WOMAN

"Bringing up several children in the right way and cares of home brought me to the verge of nervous prostration," says a well-known woman.

"Fearing that I might become ill and have to give up housework and the care of my little ones, created a nightmare that was ever before me. I happened to mention my affliction to one of my neighbors and she advised me to procure some Phosphated Iron. A day or two later when I was feeling unusually miserable I sent my daughter to the drug store for a box of the capsules and after ten days' treatment I felt like a different person altogether. I sleep well at night, something I hadn't done in months before; my appetite is good and in fact what formerly seemed like mountains of work in my home is now more like play. An aunt of mine living over east has been taking Phosphated Iron with equally gratifying results."

Phosphated Iron is put up in capsules only. In this locality it can be obtained at Meyer Bros. four stores, also D. & N. Pharmacy.—Advertisement.

LUTHERANS GROW

Increasing Most Rapidly of all Protestant Bodies.

THE FIGHTING MUHLENBERGS

Monument to the Lutheran Patriarch. His Son Peter Left the Pulpit for the Battle Line—Lutheran Bodies in Unification Movements.

When Christopher Columbus discovered America a miner's son in Germany was singing for bread that he might pursue his education, which was to fit him for developing the seeds of liberty which were destined to find root and largest growth in the Western Hemisphere, a love of liberty which promises today to prove the dominating force to liberalize the governments of the world and insure world freedom and world peace.

Lutherans very early had their representatives in America. In point of fact a Lutheran minister and a company of Danish Lutheran sailors came to America the year before the Pilgrim Fathers landed on Plymouth Rock.

First Settlers.

Holland Lutherans were among the first settlers in what is now Greater New York, while Swedish Lutherans were on the Delaware to greet and shake the hand of William Penn when he arrived to establish Pennsylvania. German Lutherans, too, came quite early in the history of the country. They were here in large numbers before the Revolution and furnished some of the stalwart troops who fought the battles for American liberty. Most notable among these were the Muhlenbergs, whose father, the Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, organized the first Lutheran synod in America as early as 1748.

The Lutheran Patriarch, a monument to whom as the founder of Lutheranism in America is to be unveiled on the grounds of the Philadelphia Seminary at Mount Airy in October, had three sons whose careers illustrate the spirit of the early Lutherans in helping to make America. Peter was the famous General who threw off his preacher's robe, stepped down from the pulpit, enrolled nearly all his men members of the colonial army and became one of Washington's chief aids. His brother Frederick was the first speaker of the House of Representatives, while the third brother, also a Lutheran clergyman, was the most eminent botanist in America in his day.

Growth.

From these humble beginnings, auspicious because of the typical Americanism of the leaders in Colonial Lutheranism, there has been a constant growth, at first slow, but gradually increasing until for a generation past Lutherans have been the most rapidly growing Protestant body in America.

The latest available statistics give them 65 synods, 8,831 ministers, 15,000 congregations, 3,774,774 baptized members. Their church property in this country is worth in round numbers $125,000,000.

Typically American.

Lutherans in America today are typically American in this that they count their adherents as America does her citizens, from many lands and of many tongues, preaching at the present time to citizens of this country in no less than seventeen different tongues.

This fact discounts the notion that some have that Lutherans are a German or a Scandinavian church. They are truly American in constituency and in spirit.

In faith Lutherans are ONE. In organization, which to the Lutheran is secondary, they have been separated, but through the Joint Celebration of the blessings of 400 years of Protestantism they have drawn very close together, with the result that several of the most important bodies now have under consideration a constitution for the proposed United Lutheran Church of America. This will mean when fully consummated that the church which stands unitedly and unequivocally for the Christ as the God-Man, the Saviour of the world, and for the inspiration of the entire Bible and for its great confessions, unaltered and subscribed to by about half of the Protestant world, will, as the third Protestant body in point of numbers in America, be one of the dominating religious forces for the making of the religious spirit and the development of the Christian consciousness of America.

LUTHERANS HAVE DONE

WONDERFUL WORK HERE

For That Reason Reformation Ought to Be Celebrated on a Large Scale.

(Contributed.)

The reformation of the church, which was begun four hundred years ago, has covered Fort Wayne and Allen county more abundantly than many other sections of our country with its rich blessings, and if anywhere the four hundredth anniversary of the Reformation ought to be celebrated on a large scale, it is right here in Fort Wayne. Our country and our city have a very large Lutheran population. When Fort Wayne was only a little village and Allen county was only beginning to be put under cultivation, Lutheran immigrants and settlers formed the majority of those early builders of our city and of the first tillers of the soil in this vicinity, and in the course of the years and decades the Lutheran population of Fort Wayne and surrounding territory has so increased that to this day it consists largely of Lutherans. To show the prosperity of Lutheranism in this locality one might point to the large number of well organized Lutheran congregations in cities and villages and in the rural districts round about; to the stately churches and well equipped parochial schools; Concordia college, a Lutheran institution enjoying a national-wide reputation for the thorough scholarship of its faculty and the splendid success of its graduates in various professions; the Lutheran hospital, one of the leading hospitals in the state. One might point to the large number of Lutheran workmen in the large manufacturing establishments and shops of our city, the great number of Lutherans working successfully in the various trades and in professional and commercial pursuits; the thousands of Lutheran farmers in Allen county—one can point to all this to show that ours is a strongly Lutheran community. In Fort Wayne and Allen county there are twenty-eight (28) organized Lutheran congregations with the following synodical affiliations: General council, 1; general synod, 6; Ohio synod, 3; Missouri synod, 18.

Totals up to 10,508 communicants. The eighteen church of the Missouri synod have parochial schools attended by 1,900 children, instructed by 40 teachers. The three congregations belonging to the Ohio synod number 1,433 communicants and they have 189 children in parochial schools with four teachers. It is understood that such a Lutheran population will celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of the Reformation in a fitting manner. The celebration next Wednesday, October 31, 1917, will ring in the great jubilee. Preparations for the celebration have been going on for months. The arrangements for the festival are in charge of a committee composed of the following well known men: Rev. Ph. Wambaganes, chairman; Prof. H. G. Nuoffer, secretary; Rev. George Doege, Mr. C. Schouman, Mr. A. Stahlhut, Prof. F. Klein, Rev. J. Bauer, Mr. C. Dickmeyer and Prof. K. Floering. This executive committee was assisted by a festival committee of which Dir. Luecke was chairman, and also by a special finance committee, Rev. J. W. Miller being chairman of this committee, and a publicity committee, Rev. G. Doege, chairman; Dr. H. Duemling, Prof. W. Wolf. The chief celebration, which will take place next Wednesday, will be preceded by a preliminary celebration on Sunday in all the Lutheran churches in the city. The Sunday services in the various churches will be as follows:

Redeemer—Children's service 7:45 p. m.
Emmanuel's church—Rev. W. Moll will have regular reformation services at 10:00 and 11:15 a. m.
Immanuel church—English service at 7:45 p. m.; confessional service at 7:15 p. m.
